Achiu, Wagner to Headline Weekly Mat Card Here

Walter Tinkit "Sneeze" Achiu, the most popular professional wrestler ever to show here, will headline next Saturday night's weekly mat show at the armory arena in a one-hour battle against George Wagner, the former world and coast light-heavy weight champion.

Reaching the finals of last week's $200 war-bond "battle royal," Kiser and the veteran Finnish matmaster battled on even terms, the match ending in a draw.

Wagner, who defeated Tony Morrell in the semi-final feature of the free-for-all last week, will be a definite threat to Achiu's great local record.

Owen is planning an all-star card, but will be unable to announce the other feature until later in the week.

4 Teams Bunched For Top Position In Coast League

San Diego's stirring Padres had a slim but unimpaired hold today on second place in the Pacific Coast league after a 5-1 victory over the long-leading Portland Beavers last night, their second straight of the series.

The four-way race for the top grew hotter than the proverbial "debat stove" as Portland's margin was pared to three and a half games, Oakland and Seattle, tied for third, are only a half game behind San Diego.

Eaves, league strikeout king, held the Beavers to four hits in registering his eighth win of the season against three defeats. He whiffed seven batters to boost his strikeout total to 63.

Seattle, which tumbled from second to fourth last week, kept pushing along the comeback trail with its second in a row over Sacramento, winning 8-3. The Solons were able to get only six hits off young Falica and his relief, Wexler Johnson.

San Francisco showed the tail-end Hollywood Stars deeper into the cellar with a 9-4 victory, giving the Seals a 2-0 series edge. Oakland lost its tenuous grip on second place in splitting a twin bill with Los Angeles, winning the opener 13-3 and dropping the extra-inning nip-tap 5-4.

Jane Clayton to Reign At School May Day Fete

Jane Clayton will be crowned Queen of the May 9th Friday morning in Roseburg Senior High gym. She will be attended by Princesses Nancy McClintock, Sally Bates, Joyce Quine, Betty Crocker, Jerry Merchant and Pat Crouch.

A program of waltzing, tumbling, marching and the winding of the May pole will follow. In the afternoon a girl's track meet, a girl's softball game and a boy's baseball game have been scheduled.

At 8 in the evening the all-school cast will present the play, "Miss Jimmy." Following the play there will be a semi-formal Queen's ball on the tennis court.

HOSPITAL MIRACLES

By Charles V. Stanton

National Hospital day will be observed, but not celebrated, this year. Falling on the date of Saturday, May 12, it will be observed by long hours of hard work on the part of every member of every hospital organization throughout the land.

In normal times, this holiday is celebrated by a sort of open house in which the general public is invited to visit the institutions and afforded the privilege of conducted tours in which they become acquainted with the facilities offered those in need of medical or surgical care.

But there will be no tours this year. Those who would normally serve as guides are devoting their every energy to the patients which crowd all hospitals throughout the land. There will be no staff members available to greet guests, nor smiling nurses to explain the routine of their departments.

Never in all our history has there been such a crying need for trained nurses and workers in our hospitals. No record is brighter than that of the army and navy nurses who have performed unsung feats of heroism as they worked hours measured only by human endurance to save lives of wounded men.

Our military hospitals are crying for help. Doctors and nurses are caring for many times more patients than is ordinarily expected of them. Our veterans hospitals are crowded to their greatest capacity. Civilian hospitals, working short-handed, are called upon for more service than ever before.

At the veterans facility, where new patients are arriving daily, the staff was greatly reduced by transfer of many of the officers and nurses into active military duty. Some are in combat areas and others are in great military hospitals in this country.

At Mercy hospital, crowded with civilian patients, the nurse problem has been acute, but by some means of magic the Sisters have managed to maintain efficient service. Today they are better staffed than at any time for many months, but still lack help to operate the laundry.

An efficient hospital was built at Myrtle Creek to meet the needs of that growing community and has been kept in successful operation. Douglas county is sadly in need of more hospital facilities. The number of rooms available for treatment purposes is far below generally accepted standards.

Yet, despite all of these handicaps, the work of saving life, of bringing relief to suffering, of giving personal attention to those in need of treatment and care goes on efficiently. The miracle wrought by the healing profession—doctors, nurses, hospitals—should not be overlooked when we write the record of America's team work in war and her combat-skill.

Spray Now For Walnut Blight, Growers Advised

It is now time to apply the first spray for the control of walnut blight, according to word just received at the county agent's office from Dr. P. W. Miller, plant pathologist of the United States department of agriculture in charge of walnut blight investigations in Oregon.

A Bordeaux spray 4-2-100 (4 pounds copper sulphate, 2 pounds quick lime or 2 1/2 pounds of hydrated lime, 100 gallons of water) is recommended. Addition of one pint of summer oil emulsion to each 100 gallons of spray will reduce severity of leaf burn in the event conditions favor its development.

Good results may also be secured from dusting but this method of control requires more applications than when liquid sprays are used. A minimum of four and as many as six dust applications in a very rainy season is required for satisfactory control.

Applications should not exceed 7-day intervals beginning in the early prebloom stage. A 20 per cent copper-lime-sulphur dust (composition: 20% monohydrated copper sulphate, 40% hydrated lime, 10% dusting sulfur, 19.75% talc, 10% diatomaceous earth, and 0.25% powdered spreader) is recommended.

Sheep Shearing Course Dated at Happy Valley

A school in sheep shearing will be conducted at the Happy Valley ranch, operated by Lyle Marsters, on May 14 and 15. It was announced today by Homer Grow, teacher of agriculture in Roseburg High school.

The course of instruction is sponsored by the state board of vocational education, which is holding similar schools in various parts of the state. It is planned to provide instruction for the farmer having a small herd of sheep to enable him to do his own shearing.

All planning to attend are requested to notify Mr. Grow at the Senior High school in Roseburg, either by telephone or postcard.

Neutrals Join In V-E Observance

LONDON, May 9. (AP)—Buoyant merry-makers in this British capital embarked today on their second V-E day celebration.

There was frolicking in the streets of Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam, Copenhagen and other cities to which peace had come after long tribulation. Street fighting between Danish troops and former nazt collaborators as well as Germans marred the celebration in Copenhagen.

The victory of the United Nations also was observed in some of Europe's neutral capitals. In Lisbon Portuguese Premier Salazar led the celebration with a toast "let's welcome victory." The Swiss were happy over the advent of peace, but President De Steiger cautioned his people "we cannot figure on normal times yet."

Allied flags—with the exception of Soviet Russia's—fluttered from buildings in Madrid, but there were no public demonstrations in the Spanish capital.
