DIAL-LOG

By SUSAN

No apologies for missing the last night's paper; we simply didn't come in to time to make it. Anyway it was the boss' fault—we were listening to the hair-raising tales of his Eastern odyssey. . . and it was practically as exciting as a good Bulldog Drummond tale, minus the murder. The story of the search for a steak was in the Captain's best manner; hence we forgot to write the column. However, here it is, Friday again, with Double or Nothing at 8:30. This week it should be good, too, since all contestants will be disabled veterans of this war. It's a welterweight ten-round bout between Harold Green and Frankie Terry on the Cavalcade of Sports at 8, and at 9:30 there's an especially interesting salute on Freedom of Opportunity. They will dramatize the career of Major Gregory "Pappy" Boyington, the missing marine ace. This is one the boys will especially enjoy, so why not let them stay up a bit longer to night if their bedtime comes before the 9:30 broadcast time?

We know you don't need to be urged to listen to all of the news, since the rumor mill started grinding again at full speed this morning. Once again, we're watching the teletype like hawks and jumping at the sound of the bell. So, if you'll just keep tuned to 1490, you won't miss a thing that's going on in the world.

"When the friends of Jesus meet, be among them."

"That Grass is our Living, Son!"

WHAT THIS RANCHER SAYS to his son is very true. Grass does provide their living . . . and a good part of the living for all of us here in America. More than half a billion acres of the United States—roughly 50% of all our farm and ranch lands—is in grass. "Should its harvest fail for a single year," said John James Ingalls, "famine would depopulate the world."

Grass is the preserver of much of our agricultural wealth and the basic raw material of many of our necessities. It is a major crop. And more than that, it's nature's way of transferring health-building materials . . . vitamins, minerals, and other essential elements . . . from the soil into the foods that nourish the nation. Grass must pass through livestock to be converted into products useful to man.

So let's give our pastures, meadows and range lands the care they deserve. Grass on your steeper slopes should never be broken. In the long run, it is your most profitable crop on hillsides because it controls erosion by tying down your top soil and reduces evaporation of essential moisture. Your State Agricultural Experiment Station will tell you of new and improved varieties of grass you might try to your profit, and they will also advise you about reseeding, lime, and fertilizer. And never overlook this important rule of grass care—don't overgraze!

We at Swift & Company are marketing the products of your grass, and so we say with you, "Grass is our living, too!"

in almost every band. But he's not as bad as his reputation paints him. Permanently dyed black by nature, his fleece cannot be bleached. The uses for black wool are limited so care must be exercised to keep it properly sorted in the wool clip. However, manufacturers do weave it into broadcloth. And—believe it or not—the wool from the black sheep in the flock becomes clothing for the clergy.

Meet Bill Reneker, Swift's Head Hog Buyer

If you have marketed hogs since 1907, chances are that Bill Reneker bought some of them for he has bought more than 30 million for Swift's . . . some of them in Western Canada where he was buyer from 1916 to 1923, and the rest in the U. S. A. He became head hog buyer for Swift & Company in 1932.

When not buying hogs, Bill Reneker likes to judge them in the show ring. Right now he's booked until next September to judge at several shows and hog meetings.

An interest in hogs comes to Bill naturally. His father was a livestock salesman and his grandfather conducted a commission business in Pittsburgh as far back as 1866. His hobby is sharing his vast knowledge of hogs with farm boys and girls.

If you should see this big, friendly man in a show ring, don't hesitate to get acquainted with him.
