On the left sleeve of the uniform worn by passenger conductors, brakemen and flagmen are the insignia indicating length of service; a star for twenty-five years, a bar for each five years.

The proud possessors of "stars and bars" help to form the solid foundation of a railroad's personnel. Because of their intimate knowledge of operating rules, equipment and facilities... the many situations and problems they have met and solved... they are of tremendous assistance to younger men.

Among the 65,000 Union Pacific employes there are approximately 7,000 "old timers"— representing all departments—with twenty or more years of service. These experienced employes have, in a large measure, been responsible for the enviable record maintained by Union Pacific in the face of wartime conditions.

The transportation of many thousand trainloads of troops and materials over the Strategic Middle Route, uniting the East with the West Coast, calls for the wisdom and cool judgment of maturity coupled with the ambition and tireless energy of younger employes.

Union Pacific is proud of all its employes, regardless of length of service, for the job they are doing to help speed the hour of victory.
