H. W. Pemberton In Radio Service Of Famed Flyers

WITH THE 15TH AAF IN ITALY—A radio mechanic responsible for the proper functioning of the communications apparatus on P-51 Mustangs of the top scoring 31st fighter group's 309th squadron, Horace W. Pemberton, 25, of 430 Stephens street, Roseburg, Ore., has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant.

A graduate of Roseburg High school, Pemberton was a student at the University of Oregon for one year. Before entering the AAF he was employed by the Standard Stations, Inc., of Portland, Ore., as a salesman. His mother, Mrs. Lucy F. Pemberton, lives at the Roseburg address.

Sgt. Pemberton has more than three years continuous overseas service, having joined the 31st fighter group before it left the states for foreign duty. First AAF fighter group to shoot down a nazi fighter on the continent in the action over Dieppe on Aug. 19, 1942, the 31st, at the close of hostilities in Europe held the top position in its theater with 570 aerial victories. After duty in England the Spitfire equipped 31st played an important part in the successful allied invasions and campaigns in Africa, Sicily and Italy. Over a year ago the 31st became part of the 15th air force, flying long range escort and ground strafing missions over Europe with the versatile P-51 Mustang. It participated in the famous Ploesti attacks, the Russia shuttle, and more recently the 600-mile first assault of Berlin by the 15th, where the 31st bagged five of its seven jet propelled ME 262's.
