Doubts Voiced by Former Owner of One-Man Town

SHERWOOD, Ore., July 10.—(AP)—Bachelor Billy Rahn, 73, has sold his one man town of Millican and doubts the new owners will equal his record of being the first to report for the 1940 census.

"They got one more to count," he observed.

His town got national publicity early in the war when it was learned Chief Air Raid Warden Rahn could blackout his city in two seconds flat. A radio program paid his way to New York. Of his trip, Billy says, "I had a bathtub as big as a fish pond and my bedroom had eight electric light bulbs."

Cyclones?

"Never heard of 'em," Mohler replied sharply.
