Northbrae Community church, was the scene of the wedding, where the bride met her bridegroom at the altar, wearing a formal gown of white satin designed with classic simplicity. Gowned in harmonizing shades of pink, her three attendants were maid of honor, Tommie Angell, president of Casa Hispana sorority at the University of California, and bridesmaids, Dorothy Eames and Rosalie Miller. The latter two also were graduated the previous day from U. C. and are Zeta Tau Alpha sorority sisters of the bride. For flowers, the trio carried old-fashioned bouquets of gerberias and wore the same blossoms in their hair.
