The nursery school room has been especially decorated and the most modern equipment has been installed including slides, swings, sand boxes, blackboards and work-tables. A full set of nursery phonograph recordings has been installed and nursery assistants have been engaged to assist Mrs. Bean in the school.

POET'S CORNER

OH, FOR A LETTER
By Pvt. Ben Emrey and William Foster

In early years I never knew
How much a note could mean.
When one is sad and very blue
And the future can't be seen.

I never knew a few gay lines
Could bring you courage new—
Set up your hopes and dreams so fine
On such small hidden clues.

And then there are such days as now
When it seems they've all forgot
We sit around and take a bow
Till fate has cast her lot.

Our courage fails, our hopes all die—
Morale is slowly sapped
And then at last we give a sigh
It's here, caresses wrapped

Time out my boys to meditate
To scribble down our thoughts
To let them know before too late
What changes they have wrought.

We are always glad to get it
No matter, new or old
And as it comes through, bit by bit
It's cherished more than gold.
