a long go in Africa. They came in at Southampton and their homes are in Liverpool.
 They are half Americanized already—smoke American cigarettes, speak a passable version of American slang and are pleasantly impressed by the American way of life.
 You meet a surprising number of young Englishmen who have been to America in one way and another, living there long enough to get acquainted with INDIVIDUAL Americans. They like us, and like our ways. Several million young Americans who have been in England long enough to get to know INDIVIDUAL English people like and respect the English.

INTOLERANCE among peoples arises almost invariably out of thinking of nations AS A WHOLE and endowing them with supposedly typical national characteristics that are apt to be unpleasant.
 You can't know nations as a whole. You can only KNOW individuals.
 If we are ever to get rid of the intolerance that lies at the ROOT OF WAR, people are going to have to travel widely enough and leisurely enough to come to know INDIVIDUALS of other nations. If travel on such a scale can be made possible for ALL kinds of people, there is a bare chance that in time war may be less likely.

THE RAF flier has lost a leg. He has an artificial one that removes from him the pitiful and humiliating quality of looking different from other people. Artificial limbs are wonderful things. But they are intricate affairs. Expert use of them requires extensive physical re-education.
 He hasn't had time for that yet. He is starting a long journey alone, with a lot of luggage. People are surprisingly thoughtful and helpful—in unobtrusive ways that keep him from thinking of himself as handicapped. He senses what is happening, and is grateful for it.

We pause at a station around 4 P. M.—the tea hour. British railroads have an astonishing equipment of cups and plates. You get off the train, get your tea and sandwiches, or cakes, or what have you, at a tea stand on the platform and carry them back onto the train with you and leave the cup and plate under the seat when you are finished. Somehow they seem to get redistributed.

In the most casual manner imaginable, one of the young majors brings the handicapped RAF man a cup of tea and what goes with it, accepting from him without a word the thruppence that represents the cost. There is no suggestion of charity—just a pleasant little courtesy from one person to another.
 It's really amazing how many decent people there are in the world.

It breaks on you suddenly that in England, where the casualty RATE has been as high as anywhere, you see few legless and armless men, whereas in Germany you have been seeing them by the hundreds.
 Britain is among the VICTORS. Her life goes on in an orderly way, with the time and the facilities for dealing in a modern humane way with those who have paid the terrible price that war exacts from so many but not from all.
 Germany is a VANQUISHED nation, whose complete economy has been upset by DEFEAT.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST
 By Charles V. Stanton

Roseburg's Community Chest drive is scheduled to start Tuesday, Oct. 9. Roseburg residents will be asked to contribute $22,200 to support 18 national agencies, eight state welfare groups and six local organizations.
 It must be kept in mind that this is strictly a Roseburg affair. A war chest drive will be conducted throughout the balance of the county, but the Community Chest, in which all national, state and local agencies are combined, is organized for Roseburg alone.

The Community Chest will not include the American Red Cross, the Infantile Paralysis March of Dimes, nor the T-B Christmas seal sale. These organizations are set up on a nation-wide basis and do not lend themselves to a combined effort. Otherwise, it is proposed to include all organizations which would ordinarily solicit for funds, in order that contributors may lump their donations into one gift and be free from continued canvass.

Heading the list of national agencies to receive support is the USO. The important work of that organization is well known to everyone. Now that combat has ceased, the uninformed person might believe the USO, which is charged with entertainment of service men, would have a lighter load to carry. The exact reverse, however, is true. Without stimulation of combat, longing to return home, worn out by the humdrum of army life, the men still overseas awaiting transportation home or serving in occupied zones are more in need of "bucking up" than ever before. Continued support for the USO is a "must" for many months to come.

Other national agencies to be helped are the United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners' Aid, American Field Service, and a group of minor, but nevertheless important, agencies dealing with relief in war-torn countries, caring for refugees and homeless European children.
 State agencies to be aided through the Community Chest include the various organizations caring for children, the baby homes, state mental hygiene society, etc.
 Local financing is arranged for the Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Roseburg Recreation program, Christmas Cheer fund, Salvation Army and Cancer fund.

Approached by each of these organizations singly, most of us would make a liberal donation. We recognize their need and importance. But while our benevolence would cause us to give willing support, we tire of constant solicitation. Each campaign for funds, no matter how worthy, takes time of busy people. By combining all into one drive, a saving of many hours for many people results.
 This one thing, however, we must bear mind if our campaign is to be a success—we cannot give to the Community Chest as we would give to ONE of the participating agencies. Top many of us have formed a habit of tossing out a donation every time a solicitor comes along. Maybe it is $1, $5, $10 or larger sum, but usually it's the same amount no matter what the cause.

We must remember the Community Chest is a COMBINED effort; it is a group of 32 agencies rolled into one campaign. This means that our contribution must be as large as we would make if each organization conducted its separate campaign. The whole success of the Community Chest program depends upon our realization of that fact and our response to it.

Next week solicitors will be canvassing residents of Roseburg for their contributions to the Community Chest. It is to be hoped people who are willing to donate their time and effort to this important task will be received with every courtesy, will be thanked for their civic mindedness and will receive cooperation in the form of unhesitating and liberal contributions to the Community Chest fund.

There has been no time in the hours of downfall to provide the LATER German legless and armless with artificial limbs and give them the necessary physical re-education.
REALIZATION of this fact, plus all the other shattering, disintegrating evidences of the consequences of DEFEAT you have been seeing in Germany, leaves you with the grim, personal determination that in the future, whatever comes, America must be kept STRONG so that there shall be NO possibility EVER that we may be among the DEFEATED peoples.

DIAL-LOG

We hear via the grapevine that the younger generation of baseball fans are going to pin a medal on the county school superintendent or whoever was responsible for setting the dates for the County Teacher's Institute, because the kids will get to hear the World Series broadcasts on Thursday and Friday. If the dates for the Institute were chosen by accident, as far as the younger fans are concerned, it was the best accident they've met up with during a whole series of school years. The broadcasts are going overseas to the boys who are still away from home; a play-by-play description will be relayed from the stadiums by means of land lines and 20 powerful shortwave stations and the G.I. networks will stay tuned to the shortwave beams of the AFRS and rebroadcast the programs over regular broadcast bands to troops in their immediate vicinity. All in all, seven overseas networks will be carrying the games; so no matter where the boys are stationed, they'll be able to hear them.
 Though baseball's the order of the day, we'd like to remind you that you'll hear Human Adventure at 7:00 this evening, presenting the "Saga of a Storm." Also for tonight: Lene Ranger, 7:30; Main Line, 8:00; Fresh Up Show, 8:30, and a half-hour of news and commentary from 9:00 until 9:30. Remember that another opera broadcast is coming up tomorrow night at 10 and another one Friday. And once more, you may stop by KRNR and pick up your opera booklet if you'd like to have one of them.
 Advance tips department: Haven of Rest will originate its Saturday morning broadcast at 8 o'clock from Roseburg.

 The total kill, however, may be higher, for not all the 800 hunters given special permits have reported.

Union's Gift of $10,000 to Tom Ray Kayoed by Court

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 3.—(AP)—Tom Ray, secretary and business agent for local 72, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Ship Builders and Helpers of America, Portland, must return the $10,000 which the local voted him as a gift, the State Supreme court held unanimously today.
 The decision upheld Judge E. M. Page, Salem, who heard the case in Multnomah county.
 A. E. Jordan and Jerry Martindale, president and secretary, respectively, of the local, brought the suit to recover the money. The union got the new officers after it was placed in receivership. The receivership contest involved a long court battle, in which the international organization of the union took over the local.
 The supreme court's decision said:
 "The members of the governing board had no authority whatsoever to pay or authorize the payment to Ray of the $10,000, or any part thereof, here involved. It was not paid to him for services rendered or to be rendered in the future. It was a pure gratuity and unauthorized."

Ralph Turner, former teacher in the Canyonville schools, a native of Douglas county, is serving with the Seabees at Okinawa, according to a letter received from him by County Clerk Roy Agee. He is hoping, however, to be released from active duty in the near future and reports he is earnestly hoping for the day when he can return to the States. Prior to entering service with the Navy, Turner was employed in the schools at Klamath Falls.
