Sunday at the Churches

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

The wonderful story of Notre Dame de Paris built upon the foundation stones of a Druid altar. This glorious cathedral embodies the story of Christian civilization in France. Architects and artisans came to their work, toiled and died, willing hands took over the unfinished work until they too died. Who was responsible for the remarkable spirit of unity which was achieved in this composition of unyielding stone and metal, of glass and wood? How is it that on such a tremendous scale, unity could arise out of infinite variety? Had it been that facade, windows, carvings, altars, towers, nave, aisles, never jostle or conflict or confuse. How is it that one is given the impression that through the centuries, the architects were all original ideas, always working toward that essential unity and integrity of purpose. No one brain could be responsible. Notre Dame was the creation of a host of eager hands and willing hands. It was built with love. It was built for a single purpose, the worship of God. It was built with sacrifice and it was built with joy. Moved by some inner compulsion kings and queens gave of their treasure gold and silver tapestries and jewels.—Amen.

each Sunday evening at 6:30. The "Hour of Power" is conducted each Wednesday evening at 7:30.
