You can imagine what a mess that makes. These numerous parties seem to have crystallized into three major groups—the so-called communists, the so-called socialists and the new Movement Republican Populaire (which means simply republican popular movement).

ACCORDING to our ideas, the two-party system most nearly approaches practical democracy. Even a three-party system is cumbersome. But it is quite apparent that a three-party system is far less cumbersome than one involving 20 or more parties.

The French have been a good influence in Europe, and any sign that their political system is becoming more practical and workable is a good sign.

NOW, while we are talking about an over-all department of war that will combine the Army and Navy into a single striking force and a system of universal peace-time conscription that will give every American youth a year of military training to be followed by a period of service in the reserve, might be a good time to begin to modify our aristocratic, privileged-class officer system.

An officer MUST have complete authority. No sensible person even questions that. But to have complete authority an officer doesn't need to be a member of what amounts to a special privileged social caste.

We tell ourselves that we have a DEMOCRATIC Army. Every unprejudiced observer known that isn't actually true. There is too much SOCIAL distinction between officers and enlisted men.

THE other day the International Amateur Athletic Federation (which runs the Olympic games) EXTENDED AN INVITATION to membership to Russia, which withdrew in 1912. That looks like a wise decision.

The Russians are peculiar. They are suspicious. They are touchy. They are proud. They offer every evidence of a pronounced inferiority complex. What they really need is to be brought into closer association with the rest of the world.

The communist party (which runs Russia) probably isn't eager to have the common, ordinary run of Russians come into contact with the rest of the world. Such association might enable them to see HOW MUCH BETTER OFF Americans and British, who live in capitalist countries, really are.

But, somehow or other, we of the west must get closer contact with the Russians so that in time we may build up a workable measure of mutual respect. That isn't going to be an easy job, but it is a necessary one.

Athletic association would help.

HERE is a straw in the wind: The city of Albany reports that it now has a labor SURPLUS. The United States Employment service says the chief difficulty at the moment is finding jobs for the steadily increasing number of returning service men, 20 of whom are now awaiting placement. The number of returning service men, USES says, is now growing faster than the number of jobs available.

That is a good sign. For nearly four years production has been hampered by lack of man power. It will be better for everybody when the situation returns to normal.

One thing the war has taught us is that an economy of scarcity isn't a sound economy.

HAIL TO OUR NAVY!

By Charles V. Stanton

The United States, as a nation, today pays tribute to its glorious Navy and achievements of that branch of our armed services in the late war. The annual celebration of Navy day has done much to acquaint the general public with the power of our fleets and the traditions of the service.

In port cities throughout the nation mighty elements of our two-ocean Navy are on display—ships which bear scars of battle and tokens of victory—as naval personnel participates in the celebration of this important day.

We can take particular pride in our Navy because we have before us an inspiring exhibit of the achievement of a nation united in spirit and purpose.

On that black day, when the smoke of our burning Pacific fleet drifted over the wreckage of Pearl Harbor, the pall blanketed the hearts of our people as well. But, phoenix-like, there arose from the ashes of Pearl Harbor the mightiest fighting armada the world has ever known—an armada which contains the work of millions of hands; created in "blood, sweat and tears" by patriotic civilians who, in a miracle of production, fabricated these mighty weapons of destruction.

The achievements of our great Navy remain fresh in our minds; the successful Atlantic defense against the U-boat menace, support of the North African, Sicilian and Normandy invasions, the battles of the Coral Seas, Midway, Guadalcanal, Bismarck Sea, Philippine Sea and many other victorious engagements. These great victories often were achieved against great odds and under severe handicaps. No Navy man who participated in defense against Kamikaze attacks will ever forget the horrors of those battles. Our Navy suffered heavy punishment, but fought back with increasing power until the final victory.

But in remembering the spectacular battles from which we emerged victorious, we should not forget the importance nor achievements of the supply service, without which victory would have been impossible.

While great names have been entered in our Naval history—The Hornet, Saratoga, San Francisco and many others—there are hundreds upon hundreds of vessels whose names never have been mentioned in public print, but which performed routine, monotonous tasks in transporting, supplies, equipment, ammunition, fuel, and other materiel of war, without which no battle could have been won.

There are those today who would scrap our Army and our Navy. There are those who, pessimistic about the chances of civilization to survive the atomic age, would eliminate the types of armament they believe to be obsolete. There are others who, idealistic-minded, believing the millennium of peace is at hand, which we all sincerely hope is true, would set an example by discarding our weapons of defense. We tried that experiment once at a cost of thousands of lives and billions of dollars.

We all pray for peace. We hope that never again will it be necessary to use our Army or our Navy for purposes of war. But it is well agreed that the next war, if it comes, will be without prior declaration and will be launched first against the productive power of the United States. Until we have definite proof that our machinery for permanent peace will work, we should, we believe, follow the standard instructions all referees give fighters in the prize ring, "protect yourselves at all times."

To assure adequate protection means retention of a sufficient standing Army, a well-trained civilian reserve, and an ample Navy.

The world should well know that the United States desires peace. But it also should have learned the lesson that we are not afraid to fight and that we are not too "soft" to fight a successful war. The world should know that our Army and our Navy will not be used except in defense or in suppressing aggression. But until we are convinced that other nations desire continued peace as sincerely as we do, we should and must, we believe, maintain adequate forces to repel those who would use force for unlawful purposes.

Cottage Grove Eleven Downs R. H. S., 21 to 0

Fullback Campbell Scores All Three Touchdowns Over Crippled Indians

With only five regulars in the starting line-up, a result of illness and injuries, the Roseburg Indians were beaten 21 to 0 by the Cottage Grove Lions before a capacity crowd at Finlay field Friday night. Roseburg's makeshift team made a brilliant defensive showing against a powerful opposing eleven holding a weight advantage of approximately 20 pounds per man in the line and 10 pounds per man in the backfield.

The Indians, however, lacked the strength to hold Norman Campbell, the Cottage Grove fullback, who scored all three touchdowns for the visitors, galloping 50 yards around end, behind good interference for the first touch-down, and reeling off a 31-yard dash for another late in the game.

The Lions marched down the field for their first score midway in the opening frame, taking Benson's kick on their own 30 and driving to midfield in two sets of downs, which included an offside penalty against Roseburg. Behind strong interference, Campbell swept around left end to score from the midfield stripe, with Newton, halfback, carrying around end for the conversion.

Roseburg was unable to advance the ball beyond the center stripe following the kick-off and Benson booted to the Cottage Grove 20. Cottage Grove drove into Roseburg territory, but was forced to punt from the 45-yard line, the ball going out of bounds. Roseburg completed a beautiful pass to Benson on the Roseburg 46, but Benson was hit hard and fumbled the ball, with Cottage Grove recovering. Then Neideigh, Cottage Grove quarterback, fumbled and Roseburg recovered; but this in turn was nullified when Colley lost the ball and the Lions took over on the Roseburg 38-yard line. From that point the Lions drove into the Roseburg line, mixing in one 11-yard pass, Neideigh to Campbell. Campbell carried the ball from the one-yard line for the touch-down and Neideigh converted by a plunge through center.

The half ended with Cottage Grove leading 14 to 0. In the third period opened, the Indians uncorked their only serious threat of the game after holding for downs and taking over the ball on their own 6-yard line. Landers gained seven yards on a fake punt play, and Pope followed with a nice run to the 31-yard stripe. Two short passes, Willhite to Campbell and Pope to Benson, brought the ball out to midfield, and Landers and Pope alternated to add two first downs, carrying the ball to the Cottage Grove 31. Willhite attempted a pass to Benson, but Mickey intercepted and was downed on his own 36-yard line to end the Roseburg threat.

Campbell swept around the flank to the 45, where Neideigh flipped a pass to Mickey on the Roseburg 38. The Lions took a 15-yard penalty for clipping, but came back with a long toss from Campbell to Mickey, completed on the Roseburg 31, where Campbell again took the ball to smash off left tackle for the final score.

Coach Bob Duschbeck of Cottage Grove set in his second string backfield, but promptly recalled it to the bench, when Roseburg tacklers dumped ball carriers for a total of 17 yards loss from scrimmage, the first team finishing out the final minutes of play in midfield.

Campbell and Newton were the stellar performers for the visitors, while for Roseburg the defensive work of Pope and Atterbury was outstanding.

The game was enlivened by the presence of two bands, the Cottage Grove High school band accompanying the visiting team to Roseburg. The Roseburg School band and the Girls Pep club combined to present a pleasing entertainment during the rest period.

All five major radio networks will combine between 7:30 and 8 P. M. Sunday, Oct. 28, to present the kick-off broadcast of the Victory Loan campaign, starting Oct. 29. It was announced today by state headquarters. Secretary Vinson of the Treasury department will keynote the broadcast.

UCLA Wins, 12-0, From Oregon U.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Galloping Cal Rossi grounded out a brilliant finish to his 1945 collegiate grid career by amassing 169 yards and scoring a touchdown to lead the UCLA Bruins to a 12-0 victory over the Oregon Webfoots last night. Playing his last game for the Bruins before Navy transfer to Harvard, Rossi brought his ground-gaining total to 673 yards in 13 scrimmages, tries in five games. Both the total and average to 7-15 put the Bruin rambler in the forefront of the nation's ball carriers. UCLA speed and power tipped the balance to the Bruins after a scoreless first half in which triple-threat Jake Leicht and the Webfoots outplayed Rossi and his mates.

The individual duel between Rossi and Leicht kept the crowd of 40,000 on edge throughout. Leicht netted 101 yards in 15 tries, completed a 40-yard pass and punted for an average of 41 yards.

Negro quarterback Bob Reynolds also helped keep the Ducks in the game until his injury in the third quarter.

Torrid Action is Due on Wrestling Bill Here Tonight

A five-man battle royal will be the fare offered to local wrestling fans on tonight's wrestling card at the Roseburg armory. Sailor Lou Franco, Rufus Jones, Angelo Martinelli, Buck Davidson and Gorilla Poggi will all climb into the ring together and action will commence at 8:30 o'clock.

The first man to be eliminated from the ring will be out for the evening. After two more are ousted action will halt for a rest period; then the second two to go out will come back to meet in the semi-final. The two finalists will meet in the main event.

It will be a full evening of wrestling and anything is liable to happen with Poggi, Davidson and Jones on the program. Franco is usually favored, and Martinelli usually follows the rules but the other three participants have shown slight regard for the rules in the past.

Poggi, the South American Alley Oop, was the finalist with Jack Lipscomb in a similar battle royal last week in Eugene. Jones, the Negro head-butting terror, will weigh in as the favorite to come out on top of tonight's action unless he is the victim of gang-up action on the part of the other four contestants.

A share of the box office receipts will be donated to the Roseburg Community Chest.

DIAL-LOG

We'll be broadcasting the kick-off of the Victory Loan at 7:30 Sunday evening. They promise us a galaxy of stars and a tip-top show, but we haven't the details. However, our best advice is to listen in. The time—7:30 on Sunday evening.

There's a regular witches watch on the Sunday programs this week, with The Nebbis at 1:30 getting involved in Halloween, and Hallow's Adventure at 6 presenting "The Story of Witchcraft" from a true-to-life angle. For further creeps and chills, we recommend Murder Is My Hobby at 1, The Shadow at 2 and Nick Carter at 3. Even Quick as a Flash at 3 has a murder case for the biggest prize of the day.

Remember that Queen for a Day bloomers with a sponsor on the Monday morning broadcast. It's always a swell show, but we expect that Monday's broadcast will be something a little super-special. Mark this one down as being well worth your listening time; lots of fun, in fact, practically the best entertainment of the whole day. Don't miss it.

Remember the Victory Bond show, Sunday night, 7:30.
