by the tail in Germany, but don't yet know what we're going to do about it.

When you have a bear by the tail, nothing can be riskier than INDECISION.

IN Germany, we are dealing with DEFEATED people who are both idle and hungry. That is a dangerous combination.

The situation that faces us hasn't arisen suddenly. The German defeat came some six months ago. It was apparent almost immediately that unless decisive steps were taken to provide food starvation would stalk Germany when winter closed down. It was equally apparent that unless steps were taken to provide fuel thousands of Germans would freeze to death.

It should have been equally apparent that unless something was done with as little delay as possible to get German industries to going the danger of idleness (which is a historic mischievous breeder) would be added to the dangers of cold and hunger.

All of these things were plain to any casual observer.

YET tragically little seems to have been done along these lines. Within the past week or so it has been reported that German industry is operating at less than ten per cent of capacity — which certainly doesn't provide many jobs. General Eisenhower has warned repeatedly that hunger is GROWING in Germany. There is nothing to indicate that fuel is any more plentiful.

JUST a word here about fuel. COAL is obviously the sick man of Europe. Coal production in England is inadequate — and England is a victorious, not a defeated, country. Nowhere near enough coal is being mined in France. It isn't particularly surprising, when everything is taken into consideration, that coal should be short in Germany.

But coal isn't the only household fuel available in Germany, which is a heavily forested country. It is true enough probably that the Germans will need their forests for the future rebuilding of the country, but their need for fuel NOW to keep them from freezing to death is more immediate than their FUTURE need of lumber and other wood products. Yet, up to a month or six weeks ago, little if anything had been done to organize the cutting of wood for fuel in German communities. Wood cutting would have provided EMPLOYMENT for idle hands and the fuel thus provided would have staved off freezing in many a German house.

THE whole thing seems to provide confirmation of the German suspicion, mentioned in the intelligence report just made public, that we lack a policy in Germany.

THERE have been problems of course. In Germany, we don't stand alone. We have the British and the Russians to consider. But even that doesn't excuse what appears to have been our apparent drifting along from day to day, without any definite plan, in the zone of Germany that we are occupying.

This is a time for American leadership in world affairs. If we don't provide the kind of leadership that America is capable of, we shall have to take the kind of world leadership we will GET. We probably won't like it.

AID THE TURKEY SHOW

By Charles V. Stanton

Roseburg will be host for four days next week to the Northwestern Turkey Show. Heretofore the show has been held at Oakland, Oregon, but because of housing and transportation difficulties, decision was reached by the Northwestern Turkey Breeders' association, originators and sponsors, to move the display to Roseburg.

This year's show is being held in the face of many handicaps.

It has been quickly organized, for there was no assurance until several weeks after V-J day that it could be held at all this year. Then it was necessary to perfect an organization, decide on location, prepare a premium list (which, by the way, contains the largest amount ever offered in prizes) print and distribute a catalogue, circulate advertising material, contact growers and prospective exhibitors with information, and perform hundreds of other tasks. Considering the short space of time devoted to preparations, we believe the officers in charge have been most efficient.

But the greatest handicap to the success of the 1945 show is one which the officers can solve only with cooperation of every resident of Roseburg and vicinity. Rooms MUST be found for out-of-county and out-of-state visitors who will be in attendance. These rooms are available only in private homes.

One reason for moving the show from Oakland to Roseburg was to obtain increased capacity for accommodating visitors. Exhibitors, unable to find quarters in Oakland, objected to motoring to and from Roseburg. Under present conditions, fewer public accommodations are available in Roseburg than were obtainable in Oakland in Turkey show days before the war. As a community we have the responsibility of caring for our guests and maintaining the hospitality for which Douglas county communities are noted. The only way in which we can meet this responsibility is to open sleeping rooms in private homes.

It is urged that every home having one or more bedrooms available for the four-day period, Monday through Thursday, or for one or more days during that period, list the rooms with the Chamber of Commerce or with any of the Roseburg hotels. It is not expected that rooms be furnished without charge. Visitors will be prepared to pay for any accommodations furnished them.

It is imperative that accommodations be listed immediately, as only a very small fraction of the rooms needed are available in hotels and rooming houses.

Resumption of the Northwestern Turkey Show is of the greatest importance to Douglas county. Through the work of the Northwestern Turkey Breeders in developing the broadbreasted turkey and making it the world's most famous breed, income to growers in the Pacific Northwest, and particularly in Douglas county, has been greatly increased. The fame of the Northwestern bird has been spread as a result of the annual show, which is given publicity in poultry magazines throughout the nation.

The Northwestern Turkey Show has since its inception been the world's largest exclusive turkey exhibit, both from the number of entries and number of individual exhibitors. Because of the emphasis given quality, the breed of birds has been improved until our turkeys command an important premium on the market. Thus the annual show in Douglas county has contributed very largely to progress and profit of the industry.

Public cooperation is needed this year as never before and it is hoped that every resident of Roseburg and vicinity who can assist in making the show a success, through furnishing temporary accommodations in private homes, will give voluntary cooperation without further urging.

Plasticized Cards Can't Be Delivered To Victory Club

The Douglas County War Reliance staff, receiving disappointing news today when it was announced from state headquarters in Portland that it will be impossible to deliver plasticized membership cards promised to members of the "One Grand" or Victory Bond $1,000 club. Arrangements had been made to provide a souvenir card encased in plastic as a permanent souvenir of the Victory Loan campaign.

The special membership cards are furnished by the Treasury department and are hand-embossed and printed, using embossing inks in color. When attempts were made to seal these cards in plastic, heat and pressure caused the embossing ink to run and change color.

The special membership cards will be issued to all members, Archie Fries, Jr., local chairman of the club activity, reports, but it will not be possible to encase them in plastic as previously promised.

Club's Roster Up to 102

The $1,000 club has grown to 102 with the addition of seven Roseburg members today, total sales amounting to $142,000. New members announced today include J. Ross Hutchinson, A. G. Henninger, Mrs. Jessie Moar, M. E. Ritter, Ora L. Walker, Francis B. Lane, Philip H. Wasson. No report was received today from issuing agencies in other parts of the county, Fries reported.

Evelyn Messerive clung to her lead in the Victory Queen contest, having a total of 1,306 votes as compared to 1,594 votes for Glenn Richardson. The queen contest ends at midnight Saturday, December 8.

Navy Expands System for Releasing Men, Women

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Navy yesterday announced it will release all reserve enlisted men or women 38 years of age or older who had one or more dependents prior to Aug. 15. The Navy estimated that there are about 35,000 enlisted personnel in this classification. However, most of these already have become eligible for discharge under the point system.

The new regulation does not apply to enlisted men in the regular Navy or to those undergoing medical treatment or disciplinary action. The Navy previously has granted releases to enlisted men 42 years of age or older, regardless of their point score or dependency. Married enlisted Waves have been eligible for release irrespective of age.

Under the new regulation, the wife of an enlisted man is counted as a dependent.

Alcohol Banned, Indians Grease Hair With Bacon

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Dec. 5.—(AP)—An Indian spokesman asserted today government agents so thoroughly prevent Indians from getting anything with alcohol in it that young bucks "are reduced to dressing their hair with bacon grease."

Representatives of seven Northwestern tribes agreed to ask congress to repeal the 112-year-old federal law denying Indians the right to buy liquor.

Written Request Needed for Rural Fire Protection

Fire protection by the city for the newly established rural fire protection district will be provided, Fire Chief Glenn H. Taylor said today, as soon as the district makes a proposal in writing for such protection. Until the city can purchase additional equipment, fire protection will be provided under a temporary contract, Taylor said. It is proposed that for answering calls, a charge of $25 be made, and for putting equipment in action to fight fires, a charge of $50 be made.

The charges will have to be levied, Taylor said, until the fire protection district can evaluate the property within its boundaries and make assessments. That will not be until next spring. When the city has additional equipment, which will not be for several months, and the rural fire protection district is able to levy tax assessments, a more permanent contract will be signed, Taylor added.

The city attorney has ruled that the temporary contract cannot be entered into until a written proposal comes from the rural fire protection district, in another week or 10 days.

The city's only equipment now suitable for fighting rural fires is a truck with a 200-gallon water tank. The new district must provide supplies of water from streams and wells as soon as it has the income to do so, Taylor said.

Horace C. Berg is chairman of the Roseburg Rural Fire Protection district, John Doyle is vice chairman, John Zenor secretary, A. S. Wallace treasurer, and Wil-

Senate Votes Funds for United Nations Relief

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The Senate yesterday passed a $550,000,000 UNRRA appropriation minus a House provision which would have withheld relief funds from countries denying free access to American press representatives. Senator McKellar told the chamber that the bill was simply to carry out a pledge of last March for the United States to give $1,350,000,000 to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

Senator Cordon, Land Grant Group Assn. Conferring

United States Senator Guy Cordon spent Wednesday at his home in Roseburg, leaving early today for Portland, where he will meet today at a special session of the Association of Oregon Land Grant Counties. The meeting was called at the request of Senator Cordon, who, prior to his appointment to succeed the late Senator Charles L. McNary and his subsequent election to the office he now holds, served as the association's legal counsel.

The meeting has been called to consider pending legislation affecting grant lands and other federally-owned properties in Oregon.

Senator Cordon returned to Oregon to attend the hearing held Monday in Eugene regarding the proposed sustained yield master unit on the Sluslaw district. The length of his stay in Oregon will be determined, he reports, by the urgency of legislation brought before the Senate. If possible, he will remain in the state until after the holidays.
