General Patton Dies Of Accident Injuries

can 7th Army, that invaded Sicily, Patton leaped into the surf from a landing barge and waded ashore to assume personal leadership in the bitter fighting against German tank units. "Keep punching," read his order of the day. "God is with us." He achieved a brilliant success. Many military men believed Sicily never would have been conquered in 38 days had it not been for Patton's driving force.

"Go forward—always go forward." He drilled that doctrine into his officers. He insisted that they be as disdainful of death as he and that they go into battle with their men. Taking greater risks than his men, he said, was "the privilege of an officer." His grandfather was killed in battle and Patton indicated he would not mind such an end for himself.

Losses Temper, Stirs Up Storm
Many were the tales told of his "purple profanity." Said a group of his proud fighters one day to a green infantryman who had been the unhappy object of a barrage of profanity: "Why, man, you haven't lived until you have been cussed out by old 'B' and 'G'."

Patton was the center of a storm in congressional quarters for a time in 1943 as the result of his having cuffed one soldier suffering from a nervous disorder and upbraided another in what Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower called "an unseemly and indefensible manner" during the Sicilian campaign. As a result of "corrective action" taken by Eisenhower, Patton became perhaps the only general in history who ever apologized to a whole army.

Regarded as the wealthiest of American officers, he underwent the hardships of war with contempt for danger. He sometimes was called the "general who never lost a battle."

Yamashita's Plea to Be Aired in Supreme Court
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—(AP)—The Supreme Court yesterday decided to hear oral arguments January 7 on whether or not to intervene in the Manila trial which sentenced Japanese General Tomoyuki Yamashita to death.

The Supreme Court last Monday granted a stay of execution to Yamashita, former Japanese commander in the Philippines and the first Japanese war leader to be convicted as a war criminal. The stay was issued shortly after the court received from U. S. Army attorneys appointed to defend Yamashita a petition for review of a ruling by the Philippines Supreme Court.

The island court rejected Yamashita's contention that the American military commission which tried him at Manila was illegal and refused his appeal for trial in the Philippines civil courts.
