

Two Children Perish When Their Home Burns
 PORT ANGELES, Wash., Jan. 17.—(AP)—Patrick, 6, and Gettrude Irene, 5, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibbs, died from a fire which burned their home last night. Their mother was away and their father, recently discharged from the Army, is somewhere in the East.

Polio Fund Dance Set for Jan. 25th

The annual dance to raise money for the Infantile Paralysis drive has been set for the night of Friday, Jan. 25. Tickets will be on sale Wednesday of next week. Lions Club members will act as ticket salesmen. The town was divided into zones and every section of Roseburg will be covered. Carl Felker, chairman of the dance, stressed the need for everyone to make a donation to this worthwhile cause.

Past president pins were presented to H. D. Palmer and Bruce Elliott at last night's Lions Club meeting by president, G. J. Gilbo. Announcement was made at the meeting that the Lady Lions were entertaining Lions members at a dance at the Country Club Saturday night, January 19. President Gilbo announced that the Lions International president will be in Eugene the evening of February 4 and urged all Lions who could to attend the meeting.

Guests at Thursday night's meeting were Lloyd M. Hill, N. G. Nelson, R. L. Hickerson, W. F. Miller, Jack Josse, G. Siefarth, Dr. M. C. Mix and Ira C. Byrd.

Cash-Carry Basis for Wall Street Ordered

has become of increasing concern to authorities. No Other Recourse

In making the announcement, Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, declared: "There is no further recourse left to the board so far as restraining speculative activities in listed stocks is concerned, except possibly to order all existing margin accounts be put on a cash basis and to make some of the administrative provisions applying to banks more rigid."

Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said: "We are for anything that will curtail unwise speculation in the market."

He added that the news was expected and commented: "The market has been practically on a cash basis for some time." Those who doubt speculation would be curbed pointed out it was the third time within a year that margin requirements had been increased.

Responsible Wall Street institutions have been concerned with speculation in stocks for several months. Harold L. Bache, senior partner of Bache & Co., recently cited "the indiscriminate buying of speculative issues" in the rising market.

than 25 per cent of gross income. Perpetual Crop Foreseen

Under the U. S. Department of Interior program for the sustained yield management of the reforested railroad grant lands, it is anticipated that perpetual forest crops on the lands will continue to produce substantial revenues for the counties through the coming years. As none of the lands are being sold, the principal source of revenue is derived from the sale of mature and over-mature timber, with additional revenue coming from grazing leases on lands where forest growth is not retarded by regulated grazing use.

Truman Fails in Steel Controversy Mediation of the right of the steel industry to receive price relief because of past heavy increases in costs, something which the steel industry for many months has unsuccessfully sought to establish with the OPA.

Truman Renews Appeal

Following rejection of his compromise wage proposal President Truman publicly appealed again to U. S. Steel today to avert a nationwide steel strike by accepting it.

"I still hope, and on behalf of the great mass of American citizens, strongly urge, that my suggestion of settlement be adopted by the United States Steel Corporation," the President said.

A strike in the steel industry will be for 30 days practically every major industry in the United States. It will hamper our reconversion effort. It will stall our attempts to establish a sound economy to which our veterans can return.

Mr. Truman said that in suggesting 18 1/2 cents for a settlement of the dispute he was "not endeavoring to set a pattern for all industry."

"Each controversy should be worked out on its own merits," he said. "The agreements should be reached in every case by free collective bargaining."

"In this connection I regret that we do not have legislation, such as I have recommended, which would require a cooling-off period of 30 days. During these 30 days, I am confident that some settlement could be reached. I urge the United States Steel Corporation on the ground of the public interest, as well as good business, to accept this settlement."

This was the situation today in other labor disputes:

Meat Packing—Little progress reported toward ending strike of 263,000 CIO and AFL workers in meat industry and fast-fooding board takes up study of wage dispute with packers and unions; fresh meat supplies dwindling.

Electrical Appliances—CIO United Electrical Workers Union president says union ready to submit wage dispute to arbitration as strike of 200,000 employees of three companies enters fourth day.

Communications—Eight-day strike of 3,000 telephone workers in Washington, D. C., ends; walk-outs of 32,000 additional workers of Western Electric Corp. in sympathy with strike of 17,200 W. E. employees in New York and New Jersey plans urged by six telephone equipment workers unions.

Pearl Harbor Quiz Votes Down Churchill Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Pearl Harbor Committee voted 6 to 2 today against calling former Prime Minister Winston Churchill as a witness in its investigation of the 1941 disaster.

The vote came on a motion of Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) to invite the former British government leader, now vacationing in Florida, to appear at a time that suited his convenience and that of the committee. Ferguson previously had told the committee he wanted to have Churchill tell what he knows about any agreement that might have existed with the late President Roosevelt for parallel action on the part of Britain and the United States before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

Japanese Commander on Luzon Commits Suicide

MANILA, Jan. 18.—(AP)—One of the last holdout Japanese commanders in mountainous Northern Luzon committed suicide today when American reconnaissance patrols contacted remnants of his regiment on the shores of Casiguran Bay.

As the Yanks landed from a flying boat, Colonel Youssa shot himself through the mouth. One company of Japanese surrendered. The balance of the regiment fled into the hills.

The Japanese, near starvation and suffering from disease, had besieged a village in the hope of getting food and salt. It is estimated 5,000 to 10,000 Japanese still roam the jungles of North and Central Luzon.

Oregon Highways Improved

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Rain was freezing on the pavement today on the Wapinitla cutoff in the Government Camp district, but other road conditions were improved, the State Highway Commission said today.

Honshu to Truk.

Dr. Maw, once premier of Burma under the British, later headed the Japanese puppet regime in his country. He disappeared by the time Allied forces recaptured Burma.

Trying to Guard Emperor

Japanese small businessmen meanwhile rushed plans for a "league for safeguarding the emperor" to advocate a nationwide plebiscite on retention of the emperor system, Jiji News Agency reported.

The fact that this issue remains unsettled is responsible for current "political unrest," Jiji quoted a spokesman. The league reportedly will urge removal of the imperial court to Kyoto, "so the emperor can remain aloof from politics" in that historic southwestern city.

Governors Face Ouster

Plans for a purge of ultranationalists from public office progressed, with Kyodo News Agency reporting that at least 21 of Japan's 47 prefectural governors were due to resign.

Military leaders listed among today's new war crimes suspects included Gen. Kawaguchi, who served in the Philippines in 1942; Lt. Gen. Sakai, once commander of Japan's 23rd Army; Lt. Gen. Isogaya, former 10th division commander; Lt. Gen. Tani, one-time Sixth division commander; Lt. Gen. Kagesa, former commander of the 38th division; and Maj. Gen. Watanabe, who served at Singapore in 1945.

Among civilians named was Kishiro Yasuda, captain of the Tachibana Maru, which some released American prisoners named as one of the hell ships which carried Allied captives to Japan.

Fair Employment Bill Faces Filibuster Threat

dorsed repeatedly by President Truman.

The unexpected motion which called up the controversial bill before the Senate yesterday took its southern opponents completely by surprise. A hurried strategy session was ordered, but they made no bones they would use everything in the rule book in their effort to block a vote.

Backers Plan Closure

Eastland asserted that consideration of the bill had been "promoted by labor unions to stave off anti-strike legislation."

Backers of the measure were fully aware of the opposition's caliber and ready to take counter-measures of their own.

Their most obvious weapon was to resort to cloture, a seldom-invoked parliamentary device to limit debate. Its adoption requires a two-thirds vote, and they were counting noses to see whether they could get it.

Senator Morse of Oregon, a vigorous advocate of FEPC, told a reporter a fundamental issue is involved: whether the Senate will permit a filibuster to block a vote on "a meritorious matter."

He said he favors unlimited discussion of the merits of the bill, but as soon as it became evident that the speakers were talking only for time, he would sign a cloture petition.

Vote On Truman Program Urged by Rep. Stockman

save livestock and poultry producers millions of dollars a year.

He is a member of the House committee on immigration and naturalization, irrigation and reclamation, and public lands and also of the Republic Food Study Committee. As a member of the latter group, he took an active part in speeding movement of wheat from Oregon and urged the government to maintain potato dehydrating plants after the war in an effort to save the 1945 potato crop.

Fisheries Program Backed

Though a wheat rancher and a dirt farmer for 20 years, he took an active interest in preservation of the fishery resources of his state. He obtained assurance from the Army engineers that $100,000 would be spent through the Fish and Wildlife Service for fishery investigations to protect Oregon's salmon industry from harm by construction of proposed dams.

Among the bills he introduced were measures:

To authorize construction of the Umatilla Dam; to provide for acquisition and toll-free operation by the United States of Interstate bridges at Cascade Locks and Hood River, Ore.; to set aside 35 sections of land in Deschutes County for recreation purposes; to fix a term of the United States court at Klamath Falls for the first Tuesday in June, and several bills intended to protect the interests of Indians.

Independent in Action

He opposed the extension of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, contending that its own work was un-American Activities, contending reduction bill, the United Nations Organization, reorganization of government corporations, increased benefits for veterans, the congressional investigation of Pearl Harbor and reorganization and streamlining of Congress. He summed up his views late in the year when he joined 38 other Republicans in a formal statement that it was their intention to express their own views in voting on major legislation and not let party leaders speak for them.
