making the seasonal reduction on this product two cents instead of seven cents as previously scheduled.

3. On July 1 an additional increase of 20 cents per 100 pounds will be allowed in farmers' returns for milk, while an increase of five cents a pound will be allowed for butterfat.
4. To increase butter supplies, limitations will be restored on use of butterfat in the manufacture of ice cream. The extent of these limitations will be announced soon.
5. Price ceilings soon will be set for the first time on the sale of commercially-separated cream and on the resale of farm cream. There already is a ceiling on retail cream prices.
