tots in and clip their wings. The function of the press is to TELL THE PEOPLE. When it is beguiled away from that historic function, it is permitting itself to be weakened and debauched.

There is a feeling among the editors present here that if we go on letting ourselves be dazzled by the glitter of big names and top brass we'll wind up alongside the trout that falls for the shiny gadget at the end of the fisherman's line.

We'll be hooked and taken into camp.

A FREE and alert press is democracy's most powerful safeguard. But if the press is to be free and alert it must remain INDEPENDENT. It must never permit itself to become a satellite.

If the press is to tell the people what they ought to know, it must remain always on the outside looking in. When newspaper men get on the inside looking out, they begin to deteriorate.

That's the trouble with this backgrounding business. If we newspaper people stand for too much of it, we'll find one of these days that we've been taken into the lodge.

THAT would be bad.

When you're taken into the lodge, you're not supposed to tell any of the lodge's secrets to outsiders. Governments would like nothing better than to have the insiders think it wise for them to know.

If the press should ever join the insiders, democracy would have to take a raincheck.

As yet, however, these members of the writing press, large and small, who are gathered here are a pretty clear-eyed lot. They're not averse to mixing with the top-flighters, who are charming, and they'll enjoy going home and telling their friends what Big Shot so-and-so looks like close up and what he told ME on the Q-T. If we don't lay it out with a trowel, such things do us writers no harm in the way of personal prestige.

But they're still alert to what is going on, and a quick look at the inner machinery of government will probably sharpen rather than dull their understanding of what is happening.

Woman Politico Wants Seven Senators Defeated

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 26.—Mrs. Raymond Brown of New York City yesterday asked members of the Women's Action Committee for Victory and Lasting Peace to oppose the reelection this year of seven United States Senators, because of what she termed their stand on isolationism.

She listed them as Senators Willis, Indiana; Wheeler, Montana; Butler, Nebraska; Langer, North Dakota; Walsh, Massachusetts; Bilbo, Mississippi, and Shipstead, Minnesota.

No formal action was taken by the group.

Barbers Akey

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., April 26.—(AP)—Banking meters in front of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church would be "an affront to religion," the Rev. Joseph W. Kavtaugh told the town council last night.

"It's a sad commentary on this community if a person has to pay to enter his church," he said. The council voted to amend its parking meter ordinance to exclude church property.

PICKLE IN THE MIDDLE

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Don't forget the waste paper collection to be made in Roseburg Saturday.

Have your newspapers and magazines bundled separately into packages not more than 18 inches in height, with loose papers packed tightly into cartons.

Be sure every bundle is TIED SECURELY to withstand rough handling.

Place bundles on curbsides by 8 A. M., if weather is fair, or on a porch fronting the street, if weather is wet.

Sixty high school boys, a dozen adult supervisors, and a number of trucks will be used in the collection, which it is hoped will yield enough paper to fill two cars.

Proceeds will go to the Roseburg Recreation fund.

We have more than a passing interest in paper drives. Shortage of paper, particularly newsprint, is causing us increasing grief. Newsprint is the name given the kind of paper upon which a newspaper is printed, and it is an extremely short commodity at the present time, with little relief in sight.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association, meeting in New York, was warned this week that shortages will continue into 1947.

Perhaps you noticed that The Oregonian, Portland, has been forced to discontinue publication of classified advertisements in its Saturday edition. The Register Guard, Eugene, has served notice on advertisers that their use of display space must be reduced 25 per cent.

Newspapers on the West Coast have been particularly hard hit by the newsprint shortage because of rapid population growth. The News-Review, for instance, has increased its circulation approximately 50 per cent since 1941, the increase being almost entirely inside Douglas County, as subscriptions from outside the county have been greatly curtailed.

In addition to serving 50 per cent more subscribers, the News-Review must furnish advertising space for business firms, which include 52 new establishments during 1945, AND 41 SINCE JANUARY 1, 1946. With 93 new business firms, in addition to the business houses established prior to 1945, it is quite obvious that demands for display advertising space far exceed the amount the News-Review can supply and still keep within its paper quota.

Frankly, the News-Review right now is considerably over its allotment and if some relief is not provided before the end of the year, we may find ourselves in desperate straits. The News-Review management is extremely grateful to Roseburg business firms, who, despite their urgent need for advertising space, are so tolerant and cooperative in accepting limitations imposed upon them.

Shortage of paper results from numerous causes. Imports have been reduced, exports increased. Production was cut during the war as paper mills turned to filling military requirements. Poor wages in logging woods drained off many workmen from the pulp industry. Price ceilings forced manufacturers into other grades of paper and paper products, newsprint being one of the least profitable.

Paper collected through wastepaper drives does not go into the manufacture of newsprint; it is used for other purposes, but it releases a certain amount of pulp for the manufacture of the type of paper we so critically need in our own business. That's one reason we're so vitally interested in success of Saturday's effort.

Our newsprint situation is growing more critical daily, but so far we haven't been reduced to the plight of the Friends Intelligencer, 102-year-old weekly published by the Society of Friends in Philadelphia.

Lacking paper to print a recent edition, the management located a supply of hot dog paper—the kind used between layers of hot dogs and hamburger patties to absorb moisture. So, the Intelligencer went to press on hot dog paper—a newspaper version of "pickle in the middle with the mustard on top."

City Manager System At Reedsport Proves Efficient, Gains in Public Appreciation

By FRED M. WRIGHT

News-Review Reedsport Correspondent. REEDSPORT—Reedsport is becoming more and more pleased with the city manager idea in municipal government.

Reedsport's city charter, which was adopted in September, 1942, being substituted for the city's old and obsolete charter, allows the city council to appoint, "any officers whom the council deems necessary." It also is provided that the council, by resolution, may authorize any appointive officer to supervise other officers and departments, except the municipal judge while in exercise of his judicial functions.

This charter provision made it possible for the Reedsport mayor and council to authorize an experiment with the city manager plan, in order that residents may determine whether they desire change to complete city manager form of government.

Since the appointment of Cecil H. Bennett, former councilman and mayor, to the position of city manager two months ago, city affairs have been greatly expedited.

Mr. Bennett has notified the Central Lincoln PUD of the city's intent to establish its own electric power system and divorce itself from the PUD.

Property Suit Spurred. He also has been busy completing details for the suit filed several months ago against Russell J. Hubbard to recover property turned over to Hubbard upon the latter's agreement to build and operate a sawmill within a specified time. It is claimed by the city that Hubbard failed to carry out his agreement and efforts now are being made through court action to regain possession of property involved in the transfer. The case had been delayed for considerable time, because no one was available to gather the necessary data. The city manager now has about completed completing the necessary facts and through his efforts the suit will proceed without further delay. The city manager also has been busy directing sale of city-owned property, following up complaints, inspecting streets and buildings, advising with the city and the city surveyor and fire chief, listening to and adjusting complaints of property owners, and doing numerous other small matters, important to which it will lead eventually in the direction of city affairs and the relief it gives to individual council members as well as to the citizen who thinks he has a grievance, but who, prior to appointment of a city manager, did not know where to go to air his complaint. Now, when complaints and grievances are taken to Bennett, he always has an answer, taking

Supply of Canned Goods Greater Than in 1945

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP)—There were 23,000,000 more cases of canned fruits, vegetables and juices for civilians in the hands of packers and wholesalers March 1 than at the same time last year.

The Commerce Department, reporting this today, listed the total at 126,000,000 cases. Shipments to retailers in February—34,000,000 cases—were the highest for that month in five years. Production for the month, however, was unchanged from last year's rate of 21,000,000 cases.

There's an old war memorial in our town that I like to stop and look at now and then. Back in 1865, folks gathered up all the bitter relics of battle and put them in a pile: cannon, battered rifles, broken swords, and rusted bayonets. Some of them from our side, some captured from the enemy. They melted them down, and from this litter of war sprung a monument to friendship, tolerance and understanding—a promise that the bitterness and hatred were forgotten. Since then, there've been all kinds of disagreements in this country, big and little. Prohibition was one—and there was plenty of bloodshed, misery and grief until the problem was resolved. But from where I sit, it's part of the greatness of America that we remain a united country. We may disagree as individuals—but, accepting that difference of opinion, we can live in tolerance and mutual respect. Joe Marsh. Copyright, 1946, United States Brewers Foundation."
