that could fly a barn. It sounded wild then, but is beginning to appear reasonable.

SO far, with equipment scarce and demand fabulous, payload is the big item. Gasoline means poundage. So they pour in just about enough of it to last a couple of hours and sell the rest of the net pay-load to the clamoring cash cusotmers and drop down for a refill when the tank begins to run low.

As a result of this system, you crow-hop your way across country, coming down and going up, coming down and going up, in a sort of monotonous rhythm.

The fly in the ointment is that you always seem to start dropping down just as you are beginning to doze off so that all the way from coast to coast you are pursuing sleep with frantic intensity, but every time your fingers reach hopefully for its tail feathers the plane starts down for a filling station and the coveted nap you were just about to seize eludes you again.

IF you stay with it long enough, you reach a stage of numbness where you could slumber peacefully if draped over a clothes line.

There was such a passenger aboard last night. He had buckled his safety belt in such a manner that the fact it was properly adjusted was apparent to the most casual eye, including that of the stewardess, whose job it is to see that all passengers are safely strapped down when descending for a landing and taking off again—even to the extent of waking them up if they haven't taken the proper precautions.

Along toward morning, he roused for a moment and looked around. His envious seat mate, still wide-eyed, remarked: "You're certainly a good sleeper."

"Oh, I wouldn't exactly say that," was the response, "but I've been aboard one of these things without a break ever since Lisbon, and I'm getting to the point where I could sleep hanging suspended by my heels."

THE time will come, of course, and soon at that, when sleep in a long-range plane will be a soothing and restful experience from which the traveler will arise dewy-eyed and fresh and ready for great deeds.

It just isn't here yet. At this moment in history, too many people want to ride on far too few planes, and since it takes twice as much space to sleep them as to let them sit up sleep has to wait.

(BESIDES, the housing shortage being what it is throughout the greater part of our country, if they started putting beds on planes people would start using them as a substitute for hotels—which would mess up the situation even worse than it is now.)

Enough Is Too Much

CHICAGO, May 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Virginia J. Riley, 23, told Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday the first time her husband, Harold, 25, spanked her, she forgot about it. He was in the Army at the time, she said, and spanked her for being late for some dates with him.

But she told the court when he came home from the Army, "he tried it again. And that was too much."

Judge Babath granted her a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Slot Matchine Revenue

PORTLAND, May 3.—(AP)—Forty-nine confiscated slot machines were smashed into junk yesterday by sheriff's orders. The $1059.30 of coins in the machines were turned into the county treasury.

TAX CRISIS IMPENDING

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Necessity of finding more money with which to finance Roseburg's municipal government is shown in a comparison between existing rate of tax levy and the average for municipalities of like size in Oregon.

In a summary of comparative tax rates in Oregon cities, issued by the Bureau of Municipal Research and Service, cooperating with the League of Oregon Cities, based on 1945 taxes, Roseburg's tax rate was 12.7 mills as compared with an average of 23.6 mills for cities from 2,500 to 5,000 population. Roseburg has advanced well beyond the 5,000 population class, however, and into the next bracket, where average tax rate was 22.9 mills. We are levying, therefore, approximately one-half the amount of taxes normally found necessary for a city of comparative size.

But a normal situation does not exist in Roseburg, where boom conditions add greatly to the cost of efficient government. Even though we doubled our rate of taxation, we still would not have adequate funds for the kind of municipal government we need.

Under the 6 per cent limitation, our rate of taxation goes down, even though assessed valuation increases, for only 6 per cent, in dollars, can be added to the budget each year, regardless of expansion in property valuations. Thus the city can procure additional revenue only by finding new sources, or by holding an election each year to obtain authority to exceed the budget limitation. The latter practice was adopted last year by the school district and will be necessary again this year.

In checking other Douglas County municipalities we find that Reedsport's rate of taxation was 31 mills in comparison with an average of 19.5 mills for cities of like size. Reedsport's rate results from a heavy bonded indebtedness rather than an excess of funds for administrative purposes.

Drain, 10 mills; Glendale, 16.8 mills, and Sutherlin, 17.3 mills, were considerably under their group average of 23.5 mills.

In a classification having an average of 14.3 mills, other Douglas County towns were above the general rate — Canyonville, 19.1 mills; Myrtle Creek, 20.2 mills; Oakland, 20.8 mills; Riddle, 32.6 mills; Yoncalla, 17.8 mills. Yet none of these towns has sufficient income for administrative needs.

It is quite evident, we believe, that taxpayers must prepare themselves to meet much heavier local taxes for the next few years if they expect efficient municipal government and high standards of education. County and state taxes also must go up if we are to maintain efficiency in face of higher salaries and wages, greater costs of materials and equipment and the general run of increased prices for commodities and services.

We could solve a part of our problam through a state sales tax, providing income derived from that source was distributed to the benefit of all agencies and not given to one at the expense of others, equally in need of funds.

There is grave danger in boosting property taxes too high. Experience has shown that industries seeking new locations are affected in their decisions by local tax rates. Douglas County is in the midst of an industrial boom. If property taxes should soar out of reason, a serious obstacle might be raised to continuance of industrial growth.

A serious tax crisis is impending, one which needs thoughtful consideration by every resident of Oregon.

Reserve Officers Convention Dated

State convention of the Oregon Department of the Reserve Officers Association will be held at the Multnomah Hotel in Portland, May 18, it was announced today by Leo F. Young, president of Umpqua Chapter.

The convention will include business sessions, election of officers, and a formal dinner and dance in the evening.

Several matters of importance to officers of all branches of the service will be discussed, Young said, and all officers are invited to attend.

Former officers desiring additional information about the convention, may contact Young by telephoning 873, or calling at his office, 304 Pacific Building.

Umpqua Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association will hold its next regular meeting at the Rainbow Grill, 6:30 P. M., Wednesday, May 8. At this meeting, delegates to the convention will be chosen and plans discussed regarding topics to be presented at the convention.

All Army, Navy, and Marine discharged officers of Douglas County are urged to attend, Young said.

Clocks are seldom given as wedding presents in China, where they are considered bad omens.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show that there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FSA Loans Now Available Only to Farm War Vets

Farm veterans in Douglas County may continue to receive Farm Security loans for operating and purchasing farms, but no funds are available to other farmers for livestock and equipment purchases until new appropriations are received for the fiscal year beginning July 1, reports Norman Fletcher, county FSA supervisor. Deficiency appropriation funds recently voted by Congress are subject to veterans' preference.

"Farmers making improvements and buying badly needed machinery and equipment that could not be secured during the war, together with the flood of veterans and war workers returning to farms, created a record demand for Farm Security loans in this area," Fletcher said. "As a result loan funds except those earmarked for veterans, are exhausted."

Extra Loan Aid Assured

Present FSA borrowers, who need supplemental loans for spring operations before July 1, will be assisted in securing the necessary credit from other sources through subordination of the FSA loan, it was explained. New applications for FSA livestock and equipment loans to non-veteran farmers will continue to be accepted but the funds cannot be made available until after July 1.

"We can still help every qualified veteran who cannot secure the type of credit he needs for getting livestock and equipment for farming operations, or for purchasing a family-type diversified farm," said Fletcher. "Five-year loans at five per cent interest can be made for capital goods, and 40-year, three per cent loans for purchase of good farms."

Information regarding FSA can be secured at the county office, Room 201 Medical Arts Building in Roseburg, the first and third Thursdays of each month, between the hours of 1 and 5 P. M.

Cash-and-Carry

DUQUOIN, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—Farmer J. Wesley Tucker wasn't complaining too much when he reported to police that a thief stole 14 of his chickens.

Tucker said that the robber who invaded his hen house left in such a hurry he dropped his purse, which contained $13.14. That was just 40 cents less than the fowls would have brought at the OPA ceiling price.

A German monk, Bethold Schwartz, is credited with inventing the cannon. Stones and darts first were used as projectiles.
