rocks ought to be but weren't. This morning, trucks rolled up with cameras. Other trucks brought other impediments, including portable dressing rooms for the actors.

Trailers arrived with a couple of dozen cow ponies, some gaited saddle horses and a confused rabble of bow-legged men in high-heeled boots and Stetsons.

As a pure side issue, it should be mentioned that the cave is the mouth of a little dry canyon known locally as Buck's Gulch.

Imagine that in Southern California! Somebody must be slipping. Maybe it's the Oakie-Arkie influence.

BACK up from the beach, there is one of these California factory-in-the-fields units that gets the worker away from the slums and out into God's sunshine.

Such is the American scene. ODDLY enough, it works out all right.

According to all the established rules, these bemused maidens should come to no good end. They might be expected to spend so much time listening for the footfalls of the talent scout that the foreman would fire them and having neglected to acquire the skill of hand and the patience of mind necessary to advancement they might be unable to secure another job and so go on to a tin-sel fate worse than death.

No such thing. They go back to their jobs, chewing their gum and chattering, and in the fulness of time they marry the boy friend, set up housekeeping and the cycle of American life goes on undisturbed.

We Americans are long on glamour, but we're not saps. We know how to take it and we know when to leave it.

THERE is probably no worse misrepresenter of American life to the peoples of the rest of the world than the American movie.

Watching it, pop-eyed and palpitating, our so-called brothers and sisters under the skin in other lands leap unhesitatingly to the conclusion that THIS IS LIFE IN AMERICA and that girls here practically have to throw up entrenchments and place emulating machine guns with cleared fields of fire to fight off talent scouts and such who want to snatch them into the movies, or to prevent sons of millionaires from marrying them and dragging them off willy-nilly to a life of luxury and ease.

Laboring under such delusions, they spend all their time scheming how to beat the immigration quotas and get to this land where opportunity lurks behind every clump of brush.

Frustrated in this design, they

NEED FOR PROBE INDICATED

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Two Roseburg men, in whose veracity we have implicit confidence, recently visited the sugar refinery at Nyssa, Ore., seeking information concerning prospects for release of industrial sugar for their business.

Refinery officials took the two Roseburg visitors through their warehouses and showed them what was reported to be approximately a half million sacks of sugar awaiting shipment.

The refinery officials informed the Roseburg men, it was reported, that movement of sugar from warehouses will require an average of 10 earloads per day to complete the job of clearing in preparation for the new crop.

The two Roseburg men were told that the condition existing at the Nyssa refinery is duplicated in at least five other Western plants.

It is entirely possible, of course, that misleading information was given the Roseburg visitors, but the evidence of warehouses bulging with sugar certainly is indisputable.

If the facts are as represented, it is time for some authoritative agency to inaugurate an investigation and blast a few bureaucrats out of their swivel chairs.

We have launched a national campaign to feed the war-torn nations of Europe. We are urged to count our calories, simplify and limit our diet, that we may send food abroad, yet there is every prospect, if a more liberal supply of sugar is not immediately released, that thousands of tons of food will be wasted for lack of canning sugar.

Bakeries, beverage makers, syrup manufacturers, and others are operating with very limited production because of sugar regulations; yet, if the information given the two Roseburg men is correct, refiners will not be able to utilize all of the forthcoming sugar beet crop because they can't get current stocks out of storage.

Having a personal interest, because of an overactive sweet tooth, we'd like to see the finger of official inquiry probing into the real facts.

Right or wrong, Governor Snell gets the medal for being different. His decision not to call a special session of the state legislature, to pass on an act enabling an election in the Portland school district, can be branded as nothing less than unique in these days when politicians, facing a near election, adroitly sidestep all controversial issues.

lose hope and join the communist party and so we have to spend all our loose time wondering how we're going to escape the menace of communism that is spreading over the world.

The movies do us no harm, for we know they're all a lot of hokum anyway, but they certainly do mess up the lives of our cousins over the seas.

Angelenos Regain 2nd Place; Beavers Drop Into Cellar

(By The Associated Press)

San Francisco's Seals emerged today from their worst setback of the season leading the pack by two and one-half games in the Pacific Coast baseball league.

A doubleheader split yesterday with the Los Angeles Seraphs wound up the first series in which San Francisco at the top since the start of the season, has received a dunking. Los Angeles won the first game yesterday, 3 to 2 in ten innings, and the Seals annexed a 9-7 nightcap decision, giving the Angels a series victory of four games to three.

The Oakland Oaks had a chance to catch up in the pennant chase. But the Hollywood Stars nounced on the Oaks for a double thrashing, 5 to 4 and 2 to 0. This drenched Oakland back into its accustomed third place, a half game behind Los Angeles, and ended the series with a 4-3 edge for Hollywood.

At Sacramento, a pair of ex-service men, Gerald Staley and Manuel Vargas, both up from the Pioneer League, hurled the Solos to a twin victory, 7 to 3, and 3 to 2, over the San Diego Padres.

The league's northern teams split a doubleheader, with Portland taking the opener, 5 to 0 on Heiser's four-hit hurling, and Seattle scoring a 5-2 victory with three runs in an extra eighth inning of the second game.

Szasz-Achieu Team Wins Mat Battle

The wrestling due of Al Szasz and "Sneeze" Achlu triumphed over the team of Paavo Katonen and Bob Kenaston in the weekly mat card at Roseburg Armory Saturday night, the battle requiring three sessions, all crammed with action.

The third and deciding round, lasting 9 minutes, 8 seconds, found all four grapplers in the fight in a wild, rib-tickling finale, ending when Kenaston was hurled out of the ring by Achlu and Katonan was upended on his shoulders by Szasz after a barrage of shoulder butts and drop kicks.

Many of the 700 spectators had their attention drawn away from the last minutes of the wrestling by a fistie battle outside the ring. It broke out when a -outhful fan, angered by Kenaston's tactics, bashed him on a foot, and was rushed by armory attendants. The melee lasting about two minutes was subdued almost at the moment the grappling bout ended, and in the confusion the winning fall was seen by only a portion of the crowd.

The first fall of the team match was registered by Kenaston over Szasz in 17:32. In the second round, the Hungarian got revenge on the Gold Hill ex-marine in the quick time of 3:43, pinning him after a series of drop kicks.

In the previous individual one-fall matches, Szasz scored the fall over Kenaston in 15:27 with a Hungarian leg clutch, and Katonen won over Achlu in 14:46.

Musial's Bat Puts Cardinals Into Tie For Top Position

By JOE REICHLER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Judging from the way Stanley Musial has been renewing acquaintances with his pitching "cousins," the St. Louis Cardinals' slugging outfielder may become the first big leaguer to hit a 400 batting mark since 1941 and the first National Leaguer to reach those heights in 16 years.

The 25-year-old ex-gob, who interrupted a brilliant career to join the Navy at the end of the 1944 season, has been mauling enemy hurlers for 27 hits in 65 appearances at the plate to compile a batting mark of .415.

Musial got six hits yesterday as the Cards gained an even split with Boston's Braves and moved into a first place tie with Brooklyn in the National race. His trio of safeties in the opener helped give the Cards a 7-2 decision and Lefty Max Lanier his fourth victory without defeat.

The Braves, with Mort Cooper holding his former mates to 10 well-scattered blows, turned the tables in the nightcap 10-4. Pittsburgh knocked the Dodgers out of undisputed first place by sweeping a doubleheader. A pinch single by Jimmy Brown scored Barrett for an 11th inning triumph, 5-4, in the opener. Another timely hit, by Custine in the final frame, brought a 4-3 victory in the nightcap.

Bonham made his 1946 New York Yankee pitching debut a success by whipping the Chicago White Sox 4-2. The Yankees' fifth straight victory moved them within a game and a half of the American League leading Red Sox.

Detroit's losing streak soared to seven until Greenberg snapped the string by belting a homer and then setting off a two-run rally with a single to give the Tigers a 3-1 victory over Philadelphia. The Athletics capped the opener 10-2.

Schumacher of the New York Giants proved he still can beat the Reds when he outpitched Vander Meer 3-2 in the opener of a doubleheader. Cincinnati took the afterpiece 7-4.

After suffering a 13-1 drubbing at the hands of the Chicago Cubs in the first game, the Philadelphia Phils came back to win the second game 7-1.

With Shortstop Travis enjoying a perfect five for five at the plate, Washington's Senators overpowered the Cleveland Indians 12-4 to move into a fifth-place tie with the White Sox and drop the Tribe into seventh place.

Lacey-Dolan Bout Heads Fight Card Here Next Friday

Final details have been completed for the American Legion boxing card to be staged at the Roseburg Armory Friday night.

The 10-round main event will feature Snooks Lacey, Hartford, Conn., against Bobby Dolan, Butte, Mont., in a lightweight contest expected to contain plenty of action.

The six-round semi-final will be fought by Chuel Brown, Portland, and Al Petralla, Seattle. Both are lightweights. Jim Kelley, Oakland, Calif., will test the ability of Davoy Arndt, Portland, in the top four-rounder.

Two four-round preliminaries will complete the card.

Washington U. Defeats Oregon in Track Meet

(By The Associated Press)

The University of Washington, scoring nine firsts, defeated Oregon 75-55, and Idaho came from behind to defeat Washington State, 66-23 to 61-13, Saturday in northern division dual track meets.

Washington swept all places in the low hurdles and the pole vault in defeating Oregon at Eugene.
