Newsprint Supply Is Threatened by Strike of Loggers

SEATTLE, May 17.—(AP)—The Seattle Times, itself depending on British Columbia paper mills, yesterday forecast a serious newsprint shortage should the province's logger's strike continue long.

It quoted Frank Webster, Seattle Star business manager, as saying "If the strike goes on long enough, we'll all be out of business."

All newspapers using British Columbia newsprint probably will have to reduce in size," George Russell, Tacoma News-Tribune business manager, said "If the strike continues more than a week, we are going to have to do something drastic in cutting the size of our paper—as much as 50 per cent to start."

Also reported dependent on B. C. mills, which will shut down when their news supply of logs is exhausted, are: The Bremerton Sun, Bellingham Herald, Tacoma Times, Seattle Buyers Guide, all in Washington state; 90 per cent of California's smaller papers plus the San Francisco Chronicle, San Francisco News, Los Angeles News, Oakland Tribune, Sacramento Bee, Modesto Bee, Fresno Bee; newspapers in Houston and San Antonio, Texas, and the Star-Bulletin and the Advertiser in Honolulu.

The Bremerton Sun announced in today's issue that it would start a "drastic" program of rationing advertising space tomorrow, to permit reducing the size of the paper.

State Press Comment

Private Taxation (The Dalles Chronicle)

For some time now, James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians, has been collecting royalties on phonograph records and musical transcriptions for an unemployment fund. John L. Lewis has asked for a royalty on each ton of coal mined by members of his United Mine Workers. Detroit grocers are complaining that they can get food delivered only by "joining" the teamsters' union or getting a short-term union "permit."

All these are private taxes collected by private citizens, chargeable in the end to the public. They are used for purposes beyond the knowledge or control of the direct and indirect taxpayers. They are, in effect, taxation without representation.

But to write of such things brings the charge of "labor baiting" upon the writer. The suggestion that there should be laws to curb this power of private taxation brings the accusation of favoring "anti-labor" legislation. All of which is nonsense.

Laws are drafted for the protection of society and its various members as well as for the punishment of offenders. This includes the laws covering extortion and practices in restraint of trade. But these two operations have become extra-legal rather than illegal when carried out by labor leaders within the scope of union activities.

To permit a citizen to practice extortion with a license, so to speak, issued by congress and the supreme court, is as unfair as allowing a citizen to practice medicine without a license. In both cases, the public is the loser.

If Mr. Lewis is permitted to levy a private tax on coal and thus raise its price, or to shut down most of the country's industry and endanger life and livelihood if he is refused that permission, then the whole population suffers—union labor along with the rest.

In defense of Mr. Petrillo and Mr. Lewis and their unemloyment and health and welfare funds, and in defense of the teamsters and whatever fund they "permits" and forced "memberships" go in, it is often said that these labor leaders are only "taking care of their boys."

Well they do take care of the boys. But "taking care of the boys" is scarcely an excuse for squeezing the many to benefit the few.

Once upon a time, business was allowed to squeeze the many for its own benefit, and dishonest men took advantage of the privilege. But the consequent curbs

SANITATION ENGINEERING

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Tentative budgets to be submitted to the county court and the Roseburg city council are expected to contain provisions for a new and much needed service. The service proposed is that of a county sanitation engineer, who, according to the present outlook, will have the disagreeable task of closing a large number of eating places and taverns unless sanitary conditions are greatly improved prior to his first visitation, in the event his employment is authorized.

Douglas County has approximately 500 places where food or beverages are sold. Dr. E. J. Waincott, county health officer, reports, A considerable percentage, he states, could not, under present conditions, meet the minimum Grade B rating required to remain in operation.

A state law provides that all places serving food or beverages are subject to inspection and must meet designated standards to remain in business. The City of Roseburg has an ordinance requiring periodic physical examination of all persons handling foods, but both the state law on inspection and the city ordinance on examination have been grossly neglected, largely due to lack of manpower for the inspection service and failure of city officials to enforce ordinance requirements during the period of acute labor shortage.

Next to safeguarding food in public eating houses, one of the most essential jobs of the sanitation engineer, in our opinion, would be that of sewage disposal, in the Roseburg area particularly. How this community has succeeded in escaping epidemics of typhoid fever and dysentery is a puzzle to persons acquainted with existing conditions.

Some most deplorable instances of unsatisfactory plumbing have been reported within the city limits. Abutting the city boundaries are rapidly expanding residential areas completely lacking in sewage disposal facilities. One residential area, built on black mud, is served by septic tanks and in the summer months seepage comes through cracks in the soil to spread over the ground's surface. In many localities septic tanks cannot adequately serve because of their crowded condition. An extreme health hazard exists in the Roseburg area, requiring immediate attention by officers authorized to enforce correction.

A sanitation engineer also would inspect water used for drinking purposes, act as a plumbing inspector, engage in mosquito control and serve otherwise to protect public health. The cost probably would range from $3,600 to $4,600 per year. Dr. Waincott estimates that a starting salary would be $3,000 annually, with travelling allowance of $600. The federal government will pay 35 per cent of the cost. The budget committee for the City of Roseburg has recommended $1,000 as the city's contribution. On a basis of $3,600 annual cost, the county's share would be $1,340. If the engineer is required to pay inspection fees into the general funds of the county and city, as should, in our opinion, be demanded, the service would be largely self-sustaining.

Capable young men, trained in public sanitation by the Army and Navy, are available, Dr. Waincott reports. The two services gave much attention to sanitation of military camps, their record in tropical Pacific bases being almost miraculous. As a result of this training and experience, thousands of men now are available to public health services to serve as sanitation engineers.

Douglas County, now in an era of rapid growth, would be very short-sighted, we believe, if it failed to avail itself of the existing opportunity to provide needed safeguards to public health.

on unfair business practices didn't ruin business, or interfere in the least with an honest businessman's conduct of his affair. Laws aimed solely at curbing comparable unfair labor practices could and should have a comparable effect.

Judge Quits Bench to Floor Unruly Litigant

GARY, Ind., May 16.—(AP)—Superior Judge Homer E. Sackett, 67, left his bench Tuesday and grappled with and twice threw to the floor Virgil Underwood, 35-year-old, 6 foot, 3 inch, 175-pound tavern owner of Black Oak, Ind.

Bailiff Joseph Melzer said that Underwood, who was in court as a defendant in a divorce case, during a conference with his wife, her attorney, Richard S. Kaplan, and witnesses, had struck a woman witness, blacking her eye.

Judge Sackett grabbed Underwood, pulled him over a three-foot railing and threw him to the floor, after which, Melzer said, Kaplan came to his aid.

Underwood got up and swung at the judge, but Sackett who is 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weighs 155 pounds, seized him around the neck again and threw him to the floor. Deputy sheriffs ran in from the hallway and took charge of Underwood.

Judge Sackett returned to the bench and fined Underwood $200 and sentenced him to 90 days in jail for contempt of court.

Boston Red Sox Slump Cuts Their Lead to 5 Games

(By the Associated Press) Baseball's most puzzling question today is what has happened to Boston's power-laden Red Sox.

Held to only three hits by Kramer in last night's 3-0 defeat by the St. Louis Browns, the reeling Red Sox stumbled through their fifth consecutive contest in which they failed to produce more than four safeties.

In the last five games, of which they've dropped three to reduce their first place American League lead to five games, the Red Sox have made a total of 15 hits in 147 times at bat for a puny team batting average of .102. Compare this with their .297 compiled in their first 24 games, and it is almost unbelievable.

Only brilliant pitching by Harris and Ferriss has prevented the Sox from losing all five games. Cardinals Beat Braves

In a parade of players including nine pitchers, the St. Louis Cardinals edged out the Boston Braves 9-8 to solidify their position at the head of the National League.

Slaughter of the Cards treated Cooper, a bridegroom of a few hours, most harshly by clubbing him for a pair of homers, each with a man on base, but the Braves came back to tie in the sixth, 5-5. St. Louis went ahead again with three runs in the seventh, but the tribe counted twice in the eighth and once in the ninth, but the tribe counted twice in the ninth.

The victory gave the Redbirds a half game advantage over the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. Rain washed out the rest of the major league schedule.

Oregon State Defeats U. of O. in Track Meet

CORVALLIS, Ore., May 17.—(AP)—Unspectacular performances were the order yesterday as Oregon State tallied too many points in advantage and distance events, and took the track and field meet from the University of Oregon, 80 to 51.

Jake Leight of Oregon, as expected, took the century and 220 with little difficulty. Oregon grabbed off the first and second ribbons in the half mile for the biggest upset of the meet. Dopesters had tagged O. S. C. to take the event with ease.

Shortage of Flags For Vets' Graves Faced by Legion

The shortage of flags to place on veterans' graves on Memorial Day, which faces American Legion posts in other cities in Oregon, also faces Umpqua Post, No. 46, V. J. Miceili, post commander, said yesterday. The local post for many years has been marking graves in the Masonic, I. O. O. F., Civil Bend, and other cemeteries throughout the county.

Some graves may go unmarked this year, Miceili said. The post is getting no new flags and will have to use ones left over from previous years. The condition prevails not only in Oregon, but elsewhere in the country. Wholesale dealers have advised the American Legion post that they have been unable to replenish stocks. Flag factories claim that government controls make the production of flags in quantity impossible.

The flag commonly used for marking of graves has a 26-inch spearhead with 10x15 bunting and fits the flag holders of all veterans' organizations. A flag with a 32-inch stick and 12x18 bunting also fits most holders, if available.

The annual tribute of the flag upon the grave of each veteran was begun May 30, 1865, for veterans of the Union forces in the Civil War, and was extended to veterans of later wars as they occurred. This is the first year that a shortage has occurred to hamper the custom.

Angels Cut Seals' Lead to Half Game

(By the Associated Press) Los Angeles' challenging Angels pressed the panicky feeling on the leading San Francisco Seals from half a game behind today in their struggle for first place in the Pacific Coast Baseball League.

The Angels pounded three Seal pitchers last night for their second series victory, 8 to 5, in three games. Pulling up on the outside further to threaten San Francisco's all-season dominance were the Oakland Acons, who for the third consecutive time turned down the Hollywood Stars in the eighth inning. The Acons' 5-4 victory left them in third place by only a game behind San Francisco.

The Sacramento Solons survived a ninth-inning rally to beat the San Diego Padres, 6 to 5, while the Portland cellar dwellers subdued the Seattle Rainiers, 5 to 1.

A Seattle cast-off, Dobbins, whacked out two singles in the right places to score three of the Portland Beavers' runs in their victory over the Rainiers. Winning Pitcher Mooty singled in one of three ninth-inning tallies. Seattle holds a 2-1 series advantage.

Too Big to Swallow

REDDING, Calif., May 17.—(AP)—Forest Ranger Harold Peterson reports the presence of a fish in the headwaters of the Pit River arm of Shasta Dam "as big as a truck"—and if you don't believe it, he'll show you the truck.

Peterson said he used his forest truck for a comparative measuring stick to estimate the big fish's length. He came up with this data: it was a sturgeon, 14 feet long.

Big Haul

CANTON, Ill., May 17.—(AP)—Sheriff Harold L. Ellsworth is on the prowl for the thief who stole a barn—or what was left of it. Ellsworth bought the barn and had it razed, and planned to remove the lumber. But when he returned the next day, everything was gone.

Lynam-Kiser Tilt Will Support Top Mat Bout Here

One of the best scientific wrestling matches in local mat history is anticipated by Roseburg wrestling fans at the Armory Saturday night, when Joe Lynam and Jack Kiser tangle. Even so, the match will be only the supporting attraction.

Headlining Matchmaker Don Owen's weekly mat show will be a Pacific coast junior heavyweight championship between Champion Bruno Angelo and Challenger Georges Dusette—a no-time-limit affair.

Lynam and Kiser are two of the most popular grapplers with Douglas county railbirds. Both are former champions and both possess dynamic and colorful technique despite the absence of fisticuffs.

Kiser held the coast light-heavy title some five years ago—the youngest matman ever to hold the coveted crown. Lynam, who held the Australian championship until his discharge from the Army, recently held the coast junior heavyweight title.

Lynam is rated one of the finest fundamental matmen in the sport, possesses amazing strength and is a hard workman. Kiser is the more spectacular and depends mostly on speed, agility and his famed "skin-the-cat" hold. The preliminary will give away nothing to the main event in the way of entertainment.

Sluggest Expected Major interest, however, is centered around the championship brawl in which both competitors may be swinging from their shoe tops before the evening ends. Although Angelo demanded a no-time-limit, local mat experts predict the bout will end earlier than last week's one-hour deadlock—and with Dusette the winner.

Angelo is a terrific competitor, however, and with the "blue chips" down he may be more impressive than last week when Dusette apparently had a slight advantage.

Owen is planning a three-round boxing exhibition, involving local talent, as the opening feature—starting at 8:30 o'clock. Elton Owen will referee all three matches.

Kahut Favored to Win

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17.—(AP) In a scrap billed for the Pacific Coast heavyweight championship, Joe Kahut, Woodburn heavy, meets Bob Nestell of Los Angeles here tonight, with the odds favoring Kahut to win the match. The bout is scheduled for 15 rounds.
