dence in the country's future. That is definitely a good sign.

THE news these days is distinctly INFLAMMATORY. People are angry. Not only that—they are SCARED. When people are both angry and scared, ANYTHING can happen.

HERE is a sobering thought that we must keep uppermost in our minds:

It is out of just such conditions as we now have in America that communism, fascism and nazism have arisen.

Communism, fascism, nazism have ALL proved to be devices for getting somebody onto the gravy train. They have NEVER got for all the people of any country as much as the American way gets for the average of all of us.

HERE is much injustice in America at the present hour. No fair-minded person will even attempt to deny that.

But remember these TRUTHS: There is no justice in war. There is no justice in inflation. There is no justice in nazism, or communism, or fascism.

The only justice is in NORMAL times, when people are working for good wages, when business men are earning fair profits, when production is at a high level and COMPETITION KEEPS PRICES DOWN.

KEEP this clear in your mind: POLITICS IS ALL MIXED UP IN THIS DISTURBED AND DANGEROUS SITUATION.

Every peanut politician in America is lying awake nights trying to figure out a way to GET HIS out of the mess.

THIS writer's personal definition of a peanut politician is anyone in public life who is willing to sell his country down the river at an hour of crisis in order to feather his own nest.

HERE is a good, old rule: When you are MAD, count ten before you speak. Following that rule has saved a lot of people from a lot of bad trouble.

Let's follow it now. It will be good for us all.

CAPACITY FOR PROSPERITY

By CHARLES V. STANTON

How long can we as a nation continue our labor dissipation and still maintain our capacity for prosperity? Is not our radical labor leadership, instead of discharging its duty of protection for the worker, robbing him of hard-earned dollars and sacrificing his opportunities for future welfare?

Perhaps some day we will be able to count up the billions of dollars lost because of strikes, but we doubt if the figure could be approached with accuracy. The paralyzing strikes we are experiencing do not affect the striking workers alone—they leave their mark on every industry, every business, every workman.

As the war came to an end, the United States was in position to enjoy the highest level of prosperity in its history. There was every prospect for continuation of this prosperous condition for many years. Accumulated shortages meant a high and sustained rate of production. Production, in turn, meant high earnings and ability to purchase, thus maintaining the cycle. We had a huge backlog of accumulated savings.

But because of our dissipation we have wasted millions of dollars from our savings account. We have enforced unnecessary idleness and loss of pay upon workers.

Speaking of the coal strike Life magazine said: Last week, as Pittsburgh and steel plants banked their furnaces, Ford began to lay off 110,000 workers. General Motors and Chrysler prepared to close down. Chicago, with only enough electric power to work from 2 to 6 P. M. a day, had a payroll loss of $25,000,000 a week. Railroads canceled 2,000 passenger trains a day and prepared for even more drastic cuts. An embargo on practically all freight except perishable food meant that industries dependent on shipping would soon have no raw materials to work with—and would not be able to market their products anyway. In St. Louis alone the resulting unemployment was forecast at 200,000. If the strike were settled quickly, much of the damage could still be avoided. But some ill effects would continue to plague the U. S. for a long time: Federal officials estimated that it would take nearly two months to boost manufacture of scarce articles like automobiles and refrigerators back to March levels.

There is only one source of wealth. There is nothing of material value in the world today that does not have as the origin of its wealth the work of human hands. Gold has no value until it has been mined. A tree is worthless, except as scenery, until it has been cut and sawed into lumber. When hands cease to produce, there is a resultant loss in wealth. Those who suffer most are those whose hands are responsible for production.

Through continuous strikes, workers have lost billions of dollars in payrolls. These lost dollars could have been creating purchasing power and greater capacity for prosperity. For every dollar lost from production it has taken an equivalent dollar from savings to pay living costs—savings which were a part of our backlog for prosperity.

By permitting labor unrest to halt production, the worker is deliberately throwing away precious months of prosperity. He is encouraging inflation. He is hastening the day of another depression. He is deliberately lessening his years of high-level living standards.

If the average worker realized this fact he would be less free with his strike vote. He would demand that his negotiating representatives spend more time in endeavoring to secure peaceful settlements of disputes. He would demand that negotiators and union leaders sacrifice their pay, along with the workers, during strike periods. He would insist upon less promiscuous use of the strike weapon.

Chiefs Win Ragged Game, 19 to 7, From N. Douglas Stars

By virtue of a wild second inning, Roseburg's Umpqua Chiefs defeated the North Douglas All-Stars, a team composed of players from Sutherlin, Oakland and Yoncalla, 19 to 7 at Finlay field Thursday afternoon.

The Chiefs rapped out 11 hits in the second frame as they batted twice around the lineup and put 13 runs across the plate while two pitchers strove to halt the uprising.

The All-Stars had scored in the first inning and sent the Chiefs back to the field without a hit or run in the second half. The visitors failed to score in their half of the second, but when the Chiefs came to bat it was a long story. Cole succumbed after one was out and eight runs were in and was relieved by Turpin, but the Chiefs continued to tee off on every of fering. Four misplays in the field added to the scoring.

Both teams tightened up for the balance of the game, although the Chiefs started another scoring spree in the fifth, pushing over two runs and filling the bases; but Appligate was called in to quell the riot and proceeded to take care of the situation nicely. Appligate, however, ran into trouble in the sixth when Hill drove a four-bagger down the first base line with two mates aboard. Coach Mel Ingram, giving all of his hopefuls a try, called Sultor to the mound in the sixth, the fourth Roseburg pitcher, and the left hander promptly got into difficulties, hitting one batter, walking three and yielding two hits, which summed up to four runs.

Score: All-Stars 7, Umpqua Chiefs 19. Ump: H. H. E. All-Stars: 1-00 200 004—2 8 7. Chiefs: Turpin, Appligate and Pleasard. Roberts: H. Long, V. Baker, S. Long, Sultor and Huggins. DeBernard, Umpire: Fleet, plate, Evans, bases.

Top Northwest Matmen Billed On Roseburg Card

The greatest array of wrestling talent ever assembled under one arena roof in the Pacific Northwest will gather here at the Roseburg Armory Saturday night, when Ernie Pluso defends his world light-heavyweight championship against Joe Lynam. Another star performer will be Bruno Angelo, who now holds both the junior and light-heavyweight titles of the Pacific Coast.

Angelo, in a bloody and bitterly-contested twin title in Eugene last Saturday night, defeated Al Szasz and not only retained his junior crown, but copped Szasz' light-heavy belt as well. Szasz will be Angelo's opponent here Saturday night, but neither of the championships will be at stake.

Szasz will be out to avenge his defeat in Eugene, however, and the match is almost certain to develop into a rough-and-tumble Donnybrook. It will be in marked contrast to the world championship clash between the two great scientific matmen. Pluso, a former national amateur champion, was an "always a bridesmaid" champion for years—a fine fundamental grappler but never quite able to win a title. Just about a year ago the popular Portland Italian developed an un-spectacular headlock that licked opponent after opponent. The hold is virtually unbreakable and was developed by the use of a dummy head split in the middle by heavy springs. The hold usually leaves rivals sprawled on the mat completely unconscious. The hold is as old as the mat sport itself, but was developed in recent years by a fellow named "Headlock" Hagen. Pluso, who also possesses a hold called the "flying trapeze" which involves using the leverage of the ring ropes in a series of Sonnenbergs, has probably discarded all holds except the standard tights since he whipped Danny McShain for the NWA-recognized world championship in California early in January.

Saturday will not only mark Pluso's first appearance in the Pacific Northwest since winning the coveted crown, but will also see the first title defense outside of California. A three-round boxing exhibition will open the program at 8:30 P. M. Elton Owen will referee the entire card.

Seals Get Within Game of Oaks In Coast League Lead

(By the Associated Press.) First Baseman Fain of the San Francisco Seals turned in a perfect piece of plate work yesterday which drove in five runs to wallop the Hollywood Stars, 7 to 4.

Oakland dropped the first game of the doubleheader with the Seattle Rainiers, 4 to 3. That brought the Seals, Pacific Coast League leaders for nearly a third of the season, within a few decimals in the percentages of the Acoms, but the San Francisco bid was short-lived. In the nightcap, Hollywood, behind the three-hit pitching of Gregory, in his first league game since 1940, turned on the Seals for a 3-1 triumph. Oakland, on the four-hit performance of Speed, scuttled the Rainiers, 3 to 1, and the Memorial Day proceedings left the Oaklanders a game ahead of their chief rivals.

The San Diego Padres turned in the only double win of the day moving up from a fourth-place tie with Sacramento on 9-3 and 2-1 victories over the third-ranking Los Angeles Angels. The Portland Beavers and the Sacramento Solons stretched both of their games to ten innings, the Beavers winning the opener, 6 to 4, on Escobar's three-run homer, and the Solons rapping out a 7-4 nightcap decision. Kampouris banged in the runs of a double in the 10th frame for Sacramento's win.

Select Hurlers of 1945 Find it Hard To Win This Year

(By the Associated Press.) With the exception of New-houser and Ferriss, last year's select six of the 20-game winners—the Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals, Washington's Wolf—strode to the hill in yesterday's Memorial Day doubleheader, but only Wysz walked off with a victory under his belt. Not one of the other three succeeded in going the route.

Four of the big six—the Chicago Cubs' Wysz and Borowy, St. Louis Cardinals' Barrett and Washington's Wolf—strode to the hill in yesterday's Memorial Day doubleheader, but only Wysz walked off with a victory under his belt. Not one of the other three succeeded in going the route.

Two other big winners of 1945, Cleveland's Gromek (18-8) also continued to find the rough. Gromek dropped his fourth decision in seven starts while Burkhardt failed to improve on his 2-1 record when he was shelled from the mound.

Borowy attempted to give the Bruins a clean sweep of the two games which would have moved the Cubs past the Reds into third place in the National League. For eight innings it appeared he would be successful as the Cubs led 6-1, but the roof fell in on him in the ninth when the Reds batted across six runs to eke out a 7-6 triumph and an even split.

Despite the poor pitching of Barrett and Burkhardt, the Cardinals managed to win their doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates, winning the second encounter 12-11 after the Bucs had walked off with the opener, 9-5. Sox, Yanks Both Win

The pace-setting Boston Red Sox continued to roll up one of the best early season records in history with a 10-0 victory over the Washington Senators 6-5 and 7-2. The New York Yankees blasted out a double victory over the tail-end Philadelphia Athletics 6-1 and 6-3 to remain six and a half games behind the Red Sox.

Cleveland and the Chicago White Sox exchanged shutouts as Feller snapped a White Sox winning streak at four with a 3-0 whitewash job in the opener. Feller allowed eight hits and struck out six in his seventh victory to raise his season total to 10-4 whiffs. Dietrich and Hamner collaborated to pitch the Sox to a 4-0 nightcap win.

Dodgers' Braves Split The Brooklyn Dodgers held onto their two-game National League lead over the Cards when they halved their twin bill with the Boston Braves. After Higbe had blanked them 5-0 in the opener for Brooklyn, the Braves snapped out of their biting slump to outslug the Dodgers 10-8 in the finale.

Despite three home runs by Greenberg which enabled the Detroit first baseman to tie Joe DiMaggio for the major league lead at 11, the Tigers had to be satisfied with a split of their two games with the St. Louis Browns. After Trout had beaten the Browns 7-1 in the opener, the Browns copped the second, 2-1. The Philadelphia Phillies won their first doubleheader of the season when they upset the New York Giants twice 8-5 and 3-1.
