know they can't have these things FOR THEMSELVES until they have produced and sold enough ABROAD to make Britain's economic position secure.

They are working for the nation first and for themselves as individuals AFTERWARD, fully aware that the welfare of each Englishman depends upon the welfare of Britain as a whole.

YOU can't write off a nation of people like that as a total loss. No matter how dark their present situation may seem, they will work their way out of it if they continue in their present mood.

THERE is a sour note, of course, in the London celebration of this special Victory Day.

MISSING from the parade of wartime allies were Russia, Yugoslavia and Poland. All three had notified the British government earlier that they would not send contingents.

Wartime unity, you see, no longer exists. We must face that fact.

THE dispatches tell us that the Italian republic, heavily favored in the voting last Sunday, may be formally proclaimed in Rome late the day this is written. King Umberto is leaving the country. He says he is very tired.

Another sign of a changing world.

MONARCHY, in these days, seems as out of place as a bright green necktie with a blue suit. We wonder how it ever came about.

Well, it came about this way: Before the idea of HEREDITARY monarchy came into the world, anarchy, civil war and bloodshed reigned WHENEVER the chief died. So, in the slow course of time, the thought came into people's minds that if the chief's son succeeded immediately and automatically to the rulership this period of anarchy and bloodshed and ruin of everything that common people had worked for might be avoided.

So it was tried, and in the main it worked. It worked so well that it had continued, in one way and another, for hundreds of generations.

IN the back of people's minds, you see, has ALWAYS been the desire to be as free as possible from the disturbances that inevitably ensue when warring factions rise above government and upset the appellation by the use of force.

THE anthracite coal miners go back to work. Reading the terms of the settlement, it occurs to us that they did rather well by themselves.

But if you were a miner, working under the ground, you would want to do well by yourself as often as possible. One of the world's big troubles is that nobody wants to mine coal.

OUT in this country, this selfish, sectional thought occurs to us: Whatever makes coal, upon which the industrial East depends heavily for power, more expensive adds by that much to the competitive industrial development of the West, the bulk of whose power comes from water running downhill.

It is an unworthy thought, of course.

Still, that is the way the land lies.

WEAR COWBOY GARB!

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Roseburg residents will be expected to don "Wild West" attire throughout the week of June 17-22, officers of the Douglas County Sheriff's Posse announce. In fact, nonconformance with the posse request may prove expensive, as a kangaroo court has been arranged as a part of the pre-rodeo festivities Friday, June 21.

Some persons doubtless frown on such goings on, feeling that it is child's play, loss of dignity, or just plain damfoolishness to have staid, sedate business men, many of whom couldn't even ride a hobby horse, deck themselves out in buckeroo costume.

Perhaps there is a measure of foolishness in a masquerade such as that proposed by the sheriff's posse—but it's fun!

Those "staid and sedate" business men, if they enter into the spirit of the occasion, will find relief and relaxation in unbending a trifle from their usual sartorial dignity. No real cowboy would permit himself to be found dead in some of the costumes which will make their appearance during Rodeo Week, but, nevertheless, the wearers will get a "kick" out of a change from their ordinary "store boughten" clothes, and in exchange of jibes with their friends will be able to forget, at least for the moment, their myriad troubles from shortages, OPA regulations, price ceilings, lack of merchandise, difficult customers, inexperienced help and other current problems.

Many Roseburg residents will well remember the spontaneous pioneer garb outbreak connected with the city's celebration at the time the Veterans hospital site was authorized. People had fun.

Costuming as a pre-celebration stunt is common. It is good advertising promotion as well as a chance for participants to "get out of a rut." Whether it be the "whiskereno" of the mining carnival, "buckeroo days," "Happy Canyon," or other celebration, an annual event which brings a change from the ordinary, even in manner of garb, is welcome.

Roseburg, which has long been without anything of the kind, may not give this year the full measure of cooperation the posse's wild west garb request deserves. But we predict that in future years cooperation will grow by leaps and bounds, once the ice has been broken, until eventually the entire community will join wholeheartedly in pre-rodeo festivities.

This year's participation will be somewhat handicapped because stores will not be able to supply all the sombreroes, highly-colored shirts, levis and boots the occasion will require. But we hope all who can will join with the posse in its program and in support of the annual rodeo which bears promise of becoming one of Southern Oregon's outstanding annual shows.

Posse members are devoting a great deal of time, effort and money to making a success of the rodeo and they deserve the fullest possible measure of cooperation and assistance. Just as long as they don't ask us to ride a horse, we're willing to wear all the cowboy trappings we can beg, buy or borrow.

Louis Says He'll Be Stronger This Time Against Conn

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 11.—(AP)—Joe Louis headed into the stretch of his training for his June 19th jamboree with Billy Conn today with the admission he won't be as fast as the last time they tangled but he'll be stronger because he's not "ashamed" of picking on a little fellow now.

It seems before their fight five years ago the flogger heard about how the Pittsburgh pretty boy was going to come in at a puny 175 or so. Actually it was 174. And Joe figures that if he tamed a bulky 200 odd it would make it look as if he was picking on someone not his size.

As a result he got down to 190, and sacrificed some strength doing it and thereby left some of his TNT in the training camp.

So this time Joe doesn't care how much of a weight bulge he has or what folks think about it. Just so he's packing enough beef to toss all his artillery in the approved manner. He'll scale 210 pounds. He feels stronger now than for quite a spell, and expects to feel even better by next Monday when he winds up his training after only five more drills.

"Actually," Manny Seaman, Joe's long-time chief second and handler, declared today, "Louis was at his worst in the last Conn fight. He'd had six fights in six months just before that (Ed. note: That was the bum-of-the-month tour, and any resemblance to bustling battles was purely coincidental) and was in no shape at all. He was too fine because he had had no rest and no recreation."

Kills Self as Thunder Revives Terror of War

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—(AP)—Four born of the rolling thunder of big guns that brought death on Saipan in 1944 took a fresh grip on the mind of a former Pittsburgh Marine corporal in the weekend's booming thunderstorms—and cost him his life.

Roy E. Delaplaine, Jr., of suburban Wilkesburg, was with his girl friend, Miss Eve Shivers, when he clasped his hands over his ears at a loud clap of thunder and shouted:

"I can't stand it. Miss Shivers said, 'Then, suddenly, he just booted from me.' With her mother, the girl taxied to the home of the 20-year-old ex-Marine.

"He was standing near the stairs, holding a pistol," Miss Shivers went. "We tried to reason with him but he paid no attention. Suddenly, he told us to get out."

The two women left to get help, but on the sidewalk they heard a shot.

Ex-Corpl. Delaplaine had put a bullet through his head.

Prediction of Victory by Louis Roils Billy Conn

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J., June 11.—(AP)—Billy Conn's profile bore a mean look as he read where one of the fight game's widely known trainers was picking Joe Louis to lick him a week from tomorrow night.

"That jerk!" the challenger exclaimed. "He's got a lot of business trying to pick a winner. He's worn out from carrying his bums back to their corners. I wouldn't let him work in my corner if he paid me."

The years have done nothing toward taming the wild spirit of Billy. He still is the hot-tempered brawler first of all—one of those rare characters in the fistie fraternity who fights for the sheer joy of conflict and isn't afraid of anything that walks.

"I like to fight just for the fun of fighting, not like Gene Tunney did because I think I'm going to get ahead," he declared.

Tunney is another of Billy's violent aversions. And he doesn't hesitate to say precisely what he thinks of the former champion at every opportunity. It seems that Tunney expressed the opinion sometime ago that neither Louis nor Conn would be much of a fighter after their long war-imposed layoff. One has been advised seriously not to come up here to Billy's camp and do any experting.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective, in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion, heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of LURIN from their drug store. LURIN is easy to take. Just mix two teaspoons in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Must satisfy or money refunded.

Cardinals Reduce Brooklyn's Lead To Two Games

(By the Associated Press) Until the Brooklyn Dodgers learn how to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, the Flatbush faithful would do well to take their pennant hopes with a grain of salt.

In three starts against the favored Red Birds, the Durocher Dandies have played them close to the vest each time but dropped three straight decisions. Their once-healthy lead has now shrunk to two games.

Brooklyn's latest defeat, by a slender 3-2 score, last night in St. Louis, hardly comes under the heading of a major disaster at this early date but it could be an ominous portent of things to come.

Ted Wilks, who pitched only the last inning after Brecheen was lifted for a pinch-hitter, took the verdict over reliever Art Her-ring, who was enraging with his first loss of the season.

Phillies Improving The Phillies have won nine of their 13 starts and threaten to vacate the National League dugout.

A 9-8 victory over the sizzling Chicago Cubs was the latest Phil accomplishment. After Borowy had held them without a hit for seven innings, they rallied to knock the 1945 pennant act out of the box and won the game in the ninth on McCormick's two-run double.

Boston cooled off the Pittsburgh Pirates' fifth place hopes with a 10-5 decision for Ed Wright over Preacher Roe, and a brilliant relief job by Bob Malloy saved Cincinnati a 7-5 triumph over New York.

Bosox Beat Cleveland While the Cards were tightening the National chase, the Boston Red Sox were pulling away to a nine-game American League lead over the runnerup New York Yankees.

Joe Cronin got the first win of the season out of Bill Butland although he had to relieve him with Earl Johnson in the late stages to hold off Cleveland, 6-3. In their last 12 games the Sox are unbeaten, boasting 11 victories and one tie. Rudy York started Steve Gromek to an early doom with a three-run homer in the fourth.

Detroit defeated the Yanks 11-3 on Trucks' five-hit hurling and a 12-blow attack. Al Gettel, the first of four Yank pitchers, was around just long enough to be charged with his fourth loss.

Roger Wolf's last five-hit game to St. Louis when Sam Zol-dak paroled out 11 safeties but downed Washington, 2-1.

Chicago nipped Philadelphia, 3-1.

New Shortstop to Bolster Oakland's Only Weakness

(By the Associated Press) As the Pacific Coast Baseball League approached its player limit deadline Manager Stengel today cast a practiced glance down the roster of his leading Oakland Aconors and picked the left side of his infield as the club's vulnerable spot.

To remedy the weakness and to round out the club for its pennant bid, said Stengel, Oakland hopes to have a new shortstop from the major leagues before the day is over.

The veteran manager did not name the player the Oakland management has in mind but indicated that Bill Hark, now holding down shortstop, might move over to the third sack. Until he gets the new infielder, Stengel said, Johnny Prie and Charley Metro will alternate on third.

Coast League clubs have to whittle their rosters down to 25 players by midnight Saturday.

The Aconors, holding a two-game league margin despite their series setback, four games to three, last week at the hands of second-ranking San Francisco, have 27 men.

The leaders and the challengers play second division clubs this week. The Aconors entertain the fifth place Solons of Sacramento, while San Francisco invades the north for a series with the Portland Beavers, pennant defenders who climb Sunday from the basement into the seventh slot.

The San Diego Padres take on the Stars at Hollywood, and the Los Angeles Angels play the Seattle Rainiers, successors to Portland in the cellar. The four series open today.

Betty Evans' Pitching Sparks Doubleheader Win

MEDFORD, Ore., June 11.—(AP)—The Portland Lind-Pomeroy took both games of a doubleheader last night, 9-5 and 5-4, from the California maids.

The West Coast girls softball league wins were credited to the steady pitching of Betty Evans who allowed no hits in the first game, fanned seven batters, then moved into the second game to allow no hits or runs and strike out 15.
