In the Day's News

As finally passed by the senate and the house, they may vary widely. When passed by both houses, they are sent to a "conference" committee composed of members from both houses.

The combined bill, as finally OK'd by the conference committee, then goes back to each house, where it may be approved as amended or defeated.

When the two houses are in final agreement, the bill goes to the President, who may accept it or veto it.

ALL this, of course, is fundamental, and everybody ought to know it. Probably everybody does know it.

WHAT has happened so far with regard to OPA was described at the beginning of this column as "shadow boxing."

Some two months ago, the house of representatives mangled OPA almost beyond recognition. A great outcry went up, and much political thunder reverberated among the hills.

Now the conferees get together. Able to study the reactions from the house and senate action, they put together a bill that clips OPA's wings considerably but still, even in the opinion of friends of price control, will work.

Our system of passing laws, you see, is complicated, but after all it doesn't work out too badly.

If the situation with regard to OPA is to be fully understood, a little more explanation is required.

Unless something is DONE ABOUT IT, OPA will expire by limitation on July 1, which will be one minute after midnight this coming Sunday.

That is why events are beginning to move swiftly.

It would be a waste of time to discuss the provisions of the conference bill as this is written. It may be changed radically YET.

The interesting point is that a compromise has been worked out that is more or less acceptable both to the ants and to the prod.

AS to the principle of OPA (price control) we've had it so long already that we'd probably grit our teeth and go through with it until production returns to something like normal.

VETERANS AND EDUCATION

By CHARLES V. STANTON

How many veterans who have been granted certificates of eligibility for education or training under the G.I. Bill of Rights intend to use their entitlement in the near future? This is a prime question which has plagued most of the nation's colleges, universities and other institutions of learning for the last several months.

The Veterans Administration is attempting to help solve the problem through a survey questionnaire to determine plans of veterans for education and training, Collins states. Forms for the survey have been distributed to approximately 2,000 returned service men and women holding unused certificates of eligibility in each of the four Northwestern states.

Returns from questionnaires will be made available to training and educational institutions by the middle of August according to present plans.

Schools of higher education are placed in a most difficult situation as they attempt to plan their work for the forthcoming school year. They anticipate enrollment of great numbers of G.I.'s. At present they have no way of determining with any degree of accuracy the probable total enrollment.

The Veterans Administration, Collins reports, is endeavoring to aid both the schools and the veterans through its questionnaire, which, in addition to determining educational desires, will indicate to employers and owners of business the potential number of veterans interested in taking apprenticeship or other on-the-job training.

The questionnaire, Collins states, will also furnish information on the "kind of school a veteran plans to attend, name of the school, type of courses in which he expects to enroll, major field of study, when the veteran plans to start his training and how long he expects to continue it, his marital status and whether he will apply for full or part time training."

A further word of advice is given by the Veterans Administration which urges that veterans planning to attend college this fall make application immediately for certificates of eligibility. If too many last-minute applications are received, veterans may find that processing cannot be completed in time for prompt payment of allowances.

It also is urged that veterans who propose to enter school at the fall term notify the schools as early as possible and thus assure themselves a place, as it is quite possible major colleges and universities will not have facilities to handle all who desire to register.

It is interesting to observe the large percentage of veterans returning to school to complete their education. It was, we believe, a wise provision in the G.I. Bill of Rights which made it possible for returning service men and women to resume their school work.

Some two months ago, the house of representatives mangled OPA almost beyond recognition. A great outcry went up, and much political thunder reverberated among the hills.

Softball Schedule For Second Half Of Series Drawn

A meeting of City League Softball managers resulted in a schedule for a second-half, round-robin series that will include sixteen doubleheader games. The group decided that the top four teams of the league at the end of the season will have playoffs to determine the city winner and representative in the state championship series.

Additional to the league of a nine from the Veterans' Facility was agreed upon and the starting time of the first game each Tuesday, Friday evening, was changed to 7 P. M. from 7:30.

Many new players have been added to the teams since the beginning of the first-half series on June 4, and were voted eligible to play. All teams have been greatly revised and strengthened by these new players and a much more interesting tournament is expected in this latter summer series.

Enters State Assn. Roseburg has been entered in the Oregon State Softball Association under the name of the Roseburg Recreation team and will be represented by the local team which leads the league at the time the visiting teams are scheduled.

The softball schedule for the second-half of the round-robin series is: June 28, Rainbow vs. Elks; Monarch vs. Associated.

July 2, Vets vs. Monarch; Elks vs. Sutherland; July 8, Associated vs. Vets; Rainbow vs. Sutherland.

July 12, Associated vs. Elks; Monarch vs. Rainbow; July 16, Elks vs. Vets; Monarch vs. Sutherland.

July 19, Vets vs. Rainbow; Associated vs. Sutherland; July 23, Associated vs. Rainbow; Vets vs. Sutherland.

July 26, Elks vs. Monarch; (no game scheduled); July 30, Rainbow vs. Elks; Monarch vs. Associated.

Aug. 2, Vets vs. Monarch; Elks vs. Sutherland; Aug. 6, Associated vs. Vets; Rainbow vs. Sutherland.

Aug. 9, Associated vs. Elks; Monarch vs. Rainbow; Aug. 13, Elks vs. Vets; Monarch vs. Sutherland.

Dixie Walker Idol Of Brooklyn Fans In Pennant Race

(By the Associated Press)

Almost any Brooklyn citizen will tell you in all sincerity that the greatest thing that ever happened to that fair borough since its discovery 300 years ago was when Dixie Walker came to the Dodgers back in 1939.

Walker's popularity is so great that baseball patrons sometimes tip their hats to him on the street. Coming in a town where the residents doff their hats only in churches and at funerals, that is hero worship of the first order.

That's why they were yelling yesterday following Brooklyn's 4-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds, which enabled the Dodgers to retain their three-game first place margin over the St. Louis Cardinals. And what did their Dixie do? He only smashed two triples to knock in three runs and scored the other himself.

The Cards kept pace with the National League leaders by ending the five-game winning streak of the crushing Philadelphia Phillies 4-1, to prevent—temporarily—at least—Ben Chapman's bustling crew from taking over fifth place. A Philly victory would have moved them past the second division leading Reds.

The American League leading Boston Red Sox had to come from behind to stave off their most disastrous day of the season. Trailing Detroit 3-0 and later 3-2 in the eighth inning of the nightcap, after having already dropped the first game of their doubleheader 10-2, the Sox came up with seven runs to whip the Tigers 9-3 and earn an even split.

The New York Yankees narrowed Boston's margin to seven games by defeating the Cleveland Indians 8-4 in the rubber game of their three-game series. Chandler, aided by some lusty clouting on the part of Keller and Gordon, coasted to his 11th victory.

Washington edged out the Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 16 innings with a 10-0 lead, scoring the winning run on Kennedy's fumble in the longest game played so far in the majors. A three-run homer by Laabs and another by Judnich with one out aboard enabled the St. Louis Browns to smother the Philadelphia Athletics 11-4 in a night contest.

The New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates exchanged places in the National League when Koso pitched the Giants out of the collar with a five-hit 4-0 shut-out over the Buccs.

Cooper spaced 12 hits to outlast four Chicago pitchers as the fourth place Boston Braves walloped the Cubs 11-2.

Winning Streak of Padres Snapped by S. F. Seals, 8 to 5

Manager Pepper Martin of the San Diego Padres knows today how it feels to get a baseball machine oiled up and running smoothly only to have it explode suddenly in his face.

His hit-and-miss Pacific Coast League club has managed recently to stay in the first division and blossomed forth in a winning streak to challenge for third place this week.

Things were going fine last night until the San Francisco Seals uncorked a five-run spree in the seventh inning for their first tallies, and then the Padres lapsed into ragged baseball. The game was extended to ten innings, San Diego making six errors, and the Seals took an 8-5 decision, snapping the Padres' victory streak at five games.

Scarcella Bangs 2 Homers The Oakland Aorns kept the lead in the head of the league a game ahead of the Seals by walloping the Seattle Rainiers, 14 to 6. The big power for the Aorns was furnished by First Baseman Scarcella, home run prince of the circuit, who poked his 19th and 20th over the fence. His clouts came consecutively in the third and second innings, driving in a total of six runs and increasing his loop-leading total to 73.

Oakland broke in a newcomer, Arkie Biggs, who subbed for slightly injured Hart at third base and went hitless in two trips. Seattle added Left Fielder Novikoff to its lineup, and he singled in five times at bat.

Rescigno of the Hollywood Stars won a chukking duel with Mann of the Sacramento Solons for a 3-1 decision, with each team connecting for six hits.

The Portland Beavers won an opener, 8 to 2, and the Los Angeles Angels the nightcap, 7 to 2, to split a twin bill. Storey homered and scored two Beaver mates ahead of him to pace the Portland attack in the first game. Chris-

Ed Wyatt, City League manager, states that the American Legion has donated the fee for this ball club's entrance into the local league, but they are yet without suitable athletic equipment. Any donations along this line will be appreciated by the league, he added.

Courier Wins Handicap Event in Golf Tourney Bill Courier and Ward Cummings tied for low score in the Wednesday tournament held at the Country Club June 26. Ward Cummings won long drive, Bob Michael won close to the pin and Walt Fisher won the blind bogey with a score of 45. Courier's score of net 33 won the handicap event.
