An improvised altar before the fireplace decorated with white snapdragons, calla and Easter lilies, ferns and white tapers in candelabra formed a very lovely setting for the wedding of Miss Faith Eleanor Young, beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Young, and H. E. "Dick" DeBernardi, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. DeBernardi, Sr., of Roseburg, at the Young home on South Kane street Wednesday, June 12. Dr. Morris H. Roach performed the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of the two families and a few close friends.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Virginia Young, sister of the bride, played "Estrallita" and followed by playing the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was very beautiful in a floor-length wedding gown of white brocaded satin fashioned with leg-o-mutton sleeves, sweetheart neckline and a full train. Her finger-tip veil was edged in fine lace and held in place with a tiara of orange blossoms. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

POLLY STAMPER IS BRIDE IN MT. AUBURN CEREMONY FRIDAY

Twenty-one white cathedral tapers in seven-branched candelabras, placed at different levels against a background of Southern Lyrata, lighted the chancel of the Mt. Auburn Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, Friday evening for the wedding at seven-thirty o'clock of Miss Polly Stamper, of Dayton, Ohio, formerly of Fort Thomas, to Andrew Glenn Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnston of Hyde Park. Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. Henry C. Rogers, pastor of the church, assisted by the Rev. J. Brent Wood, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Fort Thomas.

Vocal solos preceding the ceremony were by Mrs. Harry Francis, of Dayton, Ohio, who was accompanied by Ernest Daulton at the console.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory brocaded satin with a light train. A biasfold of brocaded satin, which dropped over the tips of the shoulders, outlined the deep chiffon yoke of the fitted bodice with its rounded neckline. Falling from the Juliet cap, which adorned her dark hair, was a fingertip veil of tulle. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of moonlight roses, white larkspur and stephanotis centered with a white orchid, from which tendrils of ivy trailed.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Janice Stamper, maid of honor; Miss Mary Lewis, Miss Susan Ann Davies and Miss Kitty Scott, of Fort Thomas, and Miss Jane McLaughlin of Cincinnati, bridesmaids; her young sister, Garlan Stamper, and Ruth Ann Johnston, young sister of the bridegroom, flower girls.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pale organdy with a rounded neckline, long puffed sleeves and a full skirt. In her hair were pink ribbons matching her gown. Her bouquet of blue delphinium and pale pink sweetheart roses was tied with satin ribbon into the ends of which roses were knotted.

Gowns of pale blue organdy identical in design to that of the maid of honor were worn by the four bridesmaids. Pale blue ribbons adorned their hair and matched the rose-caught satin streamers with which their bouquets of deep red and pink roses were tied.

French bouquets of delphinium, deep rose shaded roses and pale pink sweetheart roses edged in maline, one in pink and the other in blue, were carried by the flower girls, who wore charming short frocks of pale blue embroidered organdy with full skirts and puffed sleeves.

John Blockson was best man and ushers were Thomas Burke, Robert Blockson, George Schutte and Walter Eberle, Jr.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the Hotel Alms. An artistic floral arrangement centered the bride's table on which was placed a large three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Stamper, mother of the bride, who greeted the guests, wore a gray-blue crepe dinner dress accented by a shoulder bouquet of delphinium blooms surrounding a large rose shading from pink to deep red. Mrs. Johnston, mother of the bridegroom, wore a crepe gown with fuchsia flowers imprinted upon a gray-blue background and a deep red rose tied with aqua ribbons.

Later in the evening, when the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride was attired in a smartly tailored gray linen suit with which she wore white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will be at home to their many friends after July 1 at 1319 Park Ridge Pl., Hyde Park.

The bride attended the University of Cincinnati. Mr. Johnston attended both the University of Cincinnati and Georgetown University, Washington.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Johnston of Montreal, Canada, the bridegroom's maternal grandparents; Mrs. A. A. Bellows, Roseburg, maternal grandmother of the bride; her cousin, Miss Bonita Bellows, Roseburg, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick Bellows of Chicago.

The bride's mother is the former Leta Bellows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Bellows of Roseburg.
