In the Day's News

(Continued from page 1) an even more rigid form than before. Whether so intended or not, it looks very much as if President Truman's veto of the OPA extension bill will result in a TEST of the free market system.

WITH all holders of, cattle prices in Chicago score a new record high of $22.50 per hundred pounds—$4.50 over the OPA ceiling. BUT—In Chicago lifting of ceilings and upping of prices brought a jam of trucks three-quarters of a mile long at the stockyards, which already were deluged with the greatest arrivals of cattle and hogs since last January.

THE free enterprise system, you see, went to work immediately. With the price upped materially, livestock began to pour into market. IF enough comes in to exceed demand, even slightly, the price will go down. That is the way free markets work.

IN New York on Tuesday, commodity futures sag after Monday's excited price spurge. Cotton prices dropped as much as $1.40 a bale, responding to hedging and profit taking (meaning selling by holders who fear the price will GO DOWN instead of going up still more). Wool tops open lower than Monday. Cotton seed oil futures (meaning purchases now for delivery later) advanced a cent a pound but no sales were recorded.

THIS again, in the now free commodity markets, we see conservation rather than wild inflationary excitement ruling business thinking.

THE story is much the same on the New York stock market. Tuesday's dispatches report: "Selected stocks managed a CREEPING advance today, while many market leaders rested behind minus signs." The point is that BUYERS ARE CAUTIOUS. In a wild inflationary boom, such as political backers of OPA have insisted would hit us if price controls were removed, buyers are never cautious.

CHESTER BOWLES, the stormy petrel of price control, says on Tuesday: "On the basis of what happened on the markets yesterday, you can look for a 75 per cent increase in meat prices. Hogs were up 35 per cent yesterday. With subsidies off, you can add another 20 per cent, and when the dealers add a mark-up it will push it up to 75 per cent."

THIS writer has an idea that Mr. Bowles may have spoken too quickly. True, cattle and hog prices DID go up sharply under the excitement of the first day of free bidding and taking. But ALSO livestock poured into the markets in response to the higher price. A few days of that and prices will DROP again. That is the way the free market system will work IF IT DOES WORK in these days.

ALL over the country there is a laudable movement on the part of sound business to hold the price line to where it is now if it can possibly be done. Every sensible business man in America knows that the inevitable fruit of a wild price spree will be BOOM AND BUST. The boom and bust cycle leads

CLEAR THINKING NEEDED

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The next few weeks will require level heads and clear thinking as determination is made of price control policies. Our great danger lies in possibility of panic on the part of the public and greed for profits on the part of industry and business, and/or labor. If we carefully analyze conditions and are not stampeded by false statements and rumors; if business, industry and labor will preserve a patriotic and intelligent position, quelling ruthless greed and radicalism, we have no cause to fear the reconversion period.

We have been reading of wild increases in rents and prices since OPA controls expired. It must be remembered that moral violations of pricing are isolated and exaggerated rather than general, and that some reports have been proven rank propaganda falsehoods.

There will be more and more of these rumors, some definitely stimulated by the forces of regimentation. There will be numerous isolated instances of greedy profit taking. But we must take care we do not accept rare and isolated events as indicative of conditions as a whole.

Business in general, according to all reports, appears to be striving sincerely to "hold the line." Leading firms throughout the country have been publishing advertisements declaring their intention to resist price increases.

There have been, as could be expected, certain price rises, notably in dairy products. Dairymen, throughout the entire price control period, have been fighting desperately to obtain a fair price schedule. Liquidation of herds has furnished evidence that producers had an equitable claim. It is not surprising, therefore, that their particular products are the first to advance. It also must be kept in mind that price increases on dairy products cover withdrawn subsidies.

Other prices will increase as well. These increases would have occurred even under price control. It was a foregone conclusion that OPA could not have prevented higher living costs. Experts, long before OPA's demise, had calculated 15 per cent higher living costs before the close of the year, even under price control. Price control advocates now will use these normally anticipated changes as propaganda material for restoration of controls, even though they well know they could not have prevented them had they remained in power.

But even if prices generally advance 20 to 25 per cent, we still will not have runaway inflation. Freedom of production, providing more work for more people, will provide purchasing power—payrolls—greater than the margin of increased costs. Production, which has been shackled by OPA's unrealistic regulations, should be stimulated by price freedom.

There should appear soon a larger volume of consumer goods. Clothing manufacturers, for instance, have been holding much high quality merchandise in warehouses, because of OPA requirements that manufacturers could release high quality goods only in proportion to a specified percentage of lower grade merchandise. As the manufacturer could not profitably manufacture lower-priced garments, the higher quality stock has been held in storage while the public clamored for clothing.

The public should keep firmly in mind that its feelings and emotions are to be exploited during the next few months for political purposes. Efforts will be made to stampede us into various political camps through scare campaigns, misinformation, propaganda, etc. We will be urged first by one side and then the other to write our Congressmen this and that.

Our personal opinion is we should write our Congressmen that we still are American citizens, that as Americans we still are capable of governing ourselves, without the services of a self-established gestapo; that we demand restoration of free enterprise and free competition, and that something be done immediately to rid our government of the horde of parasitical bureaucrats, and that we return to a system of economical, budget-balanced government, free of wasteful extravagance and freakish experimentation.

Hang On to Your No. 4 Ration Book; Has Sugar Stamps

Hang on to your ration book four or sugar ration book. They contain sugar stamps which are required to get both canning sugar and the regular periodic sugar allotment. Mrs. Marjorie Leo, OPA sugar rationing representative, advised housewives Monday.

Mrs. Leo said reports were coming in that many persons had torn up their ration books already, declaring the OPA was no more and the books would not be needed.

Spare stamp No. 10 in ration book 4 became valid Monday for five pounds of canning sugar. Together with spare stamp 9, it is valid through October 31, Mrs. Leo said.

Spare Stamp 49 for five pounds (the regular allotment) became valid on May 1, and another stamp will be validated the first of September.

Institutional sugar users are now applying for their July-August allotment. Applications are accepted between July 1-15, Mrs. Leo said.

only to bankruptcy. WE common, everyday people can HELP in this situation. If we will buy from those who are doing everything they can to hold prices down and REFRAIN FROM BUYING from the chisel-fringe that wants all the traffic will bear RIGHT NOW and to help with the future, we can aid tremendously in getting the country back to a normal economy.

Sactos Win Two From Seattle; Other Teams Split

(By the Associated Press)

The Sacramento Solons alone of the Pacific Coast League's eight baseball clubs had something to celebrate today from the Fourth of July doubleheaders.

While the rest split twin bills, the Solons came up with clutch hitters for a double doubling of the Seattle Rainiers, 5 to 4 and 5 to 3, with Marty supplying the telling blow in each game.

In the first engagement Marty singled through the infield in the ninth inning, driving in two runs including the winner. His two-run single in the opening stanza of the second game put the Solons in front, and they were never headed. Lillard, Sacramento pitcher turned outfielder, hammered in the fifth for two more tallies, offsetting a seventh-frame Seattle rally.

Oaks, Beavers Split Oakland's league-leading Oaks remained half a game ahead of the San Francisco Seals as a result of the split bills.

The Oaks had to go nine innings in the nightcap, scheduled for seven, to win, 4 to 2, after losing the opener to the Portland Beavers, 5 to 3. Oakland Pitcher Pippen opened the rally that won his own game. With one out in the ninth inning of the nightcap he doubled and scored on Holder's single. Holder advanced on Burnett's single and scampered home on Marshall's fly. Helser won for the Beavers although he yielded the mound to Fischer in the ninth.

Los Angeles blanked the Seals, 3 to 0, on Terry's six-hit pitching, but San Francisco came back to win a pitching duel in the afterpiece, 3 to 1. The Hollywood Stars opened with an 8-3 victory over the San Diego Padres, who retaliated for a seven-inning victory, 5 to 3.

Dodgers, Cardinals Make no Headway In July 4th Games

(By the Associated Press)

Neither the Yanks nor the Cards were able to take advantage of the mediocre performance of the major baseball league leaders yesterday. With a chance to gain a full game each, the challengers split their twin bills, as did the Red Sox and Dodgers. As a result, the Red Sox' six-and-a-half game lead and the Dodgers' bulge of seven games remained intact.

Ferris went down to his fourth defeat of the season as the lowly Philadelphia Athletics, with Marchildon doing the chucking, shaded the Red Sox 3-2 in the opener of their twin bill. With Ted Williams slugging his second homer of the day and his 22nd of the season, the Sox had to stave off a desperate Macken rally to cop the nightcap 2-0. After Leonard had blanked the Yankees in the first game for Washington 2-0, the Bronx bombers, with Page pitching his first complete game in over a month, came back in the nightcap to return the shutout 5-0.

A three-run ninth inning attack enabled the Dodgers to whip the New York Giants 8-3, at once an even split, as the Giants had won the opener 7-5. The Cardinals fell into third place for several hours when they dropped the first game to the Chicago Cubs 4-2, but reclaimed the runner-up berth by capturing the nightcap 6-1.

A ninth inning double play by the Cleveland Indians with the would-be tying run crossing the plate prevented the Detroit Tigers from sweeping a pair from the Tribe. Cullenbine clouted three home runs, one in the first game which Detroit won 8-4, and two in the second, won by the Indians 6-8.

The St. Louis Browns moved to within a half game of fifth place by downing the Chicago White Sox twice, 4-1 and 3-2. The Philadelphia Phillies advanced to within a half game of fifth place by whipping the Braves twice, 7-0 and 3-2. Judd pitched the first game shutout.

After losing the first game to Pittsburgh 6-1, the Cincinnati Reds executed a squeeze run to bring home the run that gave them a 4-3 decision in 11 innings of the nightcap.
