Premium Payments for Peeler Logs Continue

der the log premium regulation issued by Wyatt June 19, plywood plants are authorized to pay to loggers $7.50 above ceiling prices for peeler logs, panel makers subsequently to be reimbursed by the government.

5. Plywood production quotas and the provision covering 25 per cent increase remain intact. However, the National Housing Administration will give careful and sympathetic consideration to cases wherein plywood companies were unable to meet production goals because of unusual and uncontrollable factors arising during the so-called "interim period."

agencies in behalf of constituents. While innocent enough, these conversations can be made to look damaging when revived on a photograph record later.

The lawmakers' wrath was directed primarily at the War Department, which turned over to the Senate War Investigating Committee the record of a conversation between Chairman May of the House Military Committee and an Army ordnance officer in 1943.

Price Increases Few In Roseburg Stores

were "well entitled" to the increase. Roseburg dairies last week announced a 12-cent increase in the wholesale price of butter, while retail prices in Roseburg jumped from 67 cents a pound to an average of 80 cents a pound. Butterfat prices paid to producers were increased 15 cents a pound to offset discontinued federal subsidies.

No Boost in Clothing

Clothing stores showed no change in prices, due to inventories having been purchased by contract from manufacturers. Chain department store managers were instructed by their home offices not to increase prices nor remove OPA tags from merchandise.

Rents were reported to have increased an average of 25 per cent by real estate men. Pending further word from regional headquarters, the local OPA rent control office will remain open to receive complaints of increases. It was announced by Clyde Henninger, rent control director.

Nation's Consumers Paying More for Food

such points as Chicago, Atlanta, Memphis, Columbus, Birmingham, Shreveport and the larger cities of Arkansas, which also had steady price levels in most other everyday commodities.

"Meat up" was the reply from almost everywhere—it was up as much as 50 per cent in such points as Los Angeles, New York City and San Bernardino, Calif. The rise at other places: Philadelphia, 23 to 60 per cent; Omaha, beef 40 per cent; Paducah, Ky., 35 per cent; Richmond, Va., ham and steak 85 per cent; Washington, D. C., 7 to 8 cents a pound; Portland, Ore., 50 per cent wholesale and 20 to 30 per cent retail.

Loss of Subsidies Blamed

Also in an upward spiral, were the costs of restaurant meals, hotel accommodations and bread, an Associated Press survey showed.

In New York City the wholesale food price index of 31 commodities was $4.54—highest since the $4.57 of July 29, 1920.

Many of the price boosts were attributed to the loss of government subsidies, which ended June 30 when they were withdrawn pending congressional action on re-establishment of price control.

In Washington, food officials estimated that the subsidies, which were costing the government at the rate of about $1,455,000,000 a year when price control ended, reduced the average consumer's grocery bill about $12 a year.

Hog Prices Easing

At Chicago the heaviest hog receipts in six months eased prices today as much as $1.25 lower than the levels in Wednesday's trading, but cattle and sheep remained generally steady at the recent peak prices.

The practical pork top was $16.00, with one load getting $16.25 a hundred pounds. This compared with the Wednesday top of $17.50.

Fed steers and yearlings continued inadequate to meet demand, topping at $22.25, off but 25 cents from Wednesday's figures. Native spring lambs stuck to their $20.00 height of the previous season, going mostly to city butchers.

Twelve leading western markets showed a total of 95,200 hogs received today, compared with 13,663 a week ago and 38,044 a year ago. Tuesday's total was 111,700 and Wednesday's 66,200.

a loaf to compensate for the vanished federal wheat subsidy. The bakers said they expected other wheat and flour products to rise proportionately.

Sells Restaurant

REEDSPORT — Mrs. A. E. Kroening, who for more than a year has been operating the Rainbow Restaurant here, announces the sale of the business to H. M. Johansen, who has taken possession. Mr. Johansen has been a marine engineer for several years and was in the merchant marine service during the war and for a number of years previous, had been running in and out of this port on lumber carriers of Schaffer Brothers.

Extender Bill Scored By OPA Administrator

intends to talk against the new bill at every opportunity and as long as he can.

He hopes, O'Daniel said, that the continued non-existence of OPA will prove to the public that the agency is not needed.

Senator Wherry, who opposes revival of OPA control over meat and grains, again called Senate attention to increased marketings of livestock since OPA died.

Wherry said hog receipts today were four times those of the same day last week while cattle receipts were 10 to eight times larger.

The Nebraskan said that as soon as distribution pipelines are filled consumers will be able to buy meat at competitive prices.

A contrary opinion on OPA came from Chairman Wagner of the Banking Committee. He said all polls of public opinion show an "overwhelming sentiment" in favor of renewal and continuance of price and rent controls.

Buys Gardiner Grocery
REEDSPORT — Harold Grubb, local resident who served with the Sea Bees during the war, and who, with Harold France, another Sea Bee, established the France and Grubb Building Supply Company in this city, has disposed of his interest in the business and has purchased the White Grocery Store in Gardiner from E. E. McKee. Before the war, Mr. Grubb was in the grocery business here. Mr. France is now the sole owner and operator of the building supply.
