HOODWINKED BY SUBSIDIES

By CHARLES V. STANTON

We have talked with a few people who were somewhat perturbed by the sharp price increases in dairy products, believing the rise in butter, milk and cheese to be indicative of what may be expected along the entire line of food items if price controls are not restored.

Despite an increase of from 15 to 20 cents in the retail price of a pound of butter, the cost, if we had all the figures available, would be shown to be no more than we were previously paying and, perhaps, even less.

To disguise the fact that milk and dairy products cost more to produce, and in order to take credit for "holding the line" on retail prices, our government paid dairymen a subsidy. It reached into our pockets and took our money in the form of taxes, and then paid dairymen 15 cents per pound of butterfat so the retail price of butter could be held comparative with the prewar level.

Now that subsidies have been withdrawn and the price of dairy products advanced to cover the loss of direct payments from the government, the consumer should be paying his 15 cents per pound directly to the producer, without having to support all the bureaucratic parasites who fattened off his subsidy tax.

Without price control it should be possible for the federal government to release the several thousand employees its subsidy program placed on the payroll, although we're too skeptical-minded to believe it will be done until Congress tightens the purse strings. But there should be little difficulty, if Congress would get tough and take the padding from bureaucratic payrolls, to lower taxes sufficiently to offset the anticipated higher living costs of the next few months.

But with hundreds of superfluous offices, each with its staff of assistants, clerks, etc., running into millions of federally-paid employees, of which number a large proportion could be eliminated without impairing efficiency, someone must pay the bill—and that person is the American taxpayer.

We have been gloriously "taken in" by the "hold the line" claims of the OPA, and should welcome a chance to get prices out in the open so we know where we stand, and where we can do something about it if necessity requires.

The editor of The Oregonian, Portland, accuses the House of Representatives of being jittery and running around in circles.

Well, don't we expect the House to be representative of the people?

Oakland Stretches Lead Over Seals To Two Games

(By the Associated Press)

The pennant-chasing Oakland Athletics had the hot breath of their arch rivals off the backs of their necks today, having gained a march over the San Francisco Seals and all the rest of the Pacific Coast baseball league by two victories Friday night.

While the rest of the clubs were playing single games, the Oaks walloped the Portland Beavers, 11 to 1, in a seven-inning opener and gave them a second dose of the same, 6 to 2, in the nightcap.

Seated 2 to 1 by the Los Angeles Angels in 11 innings, the second-place Seals sank from half a game to two games behind the league leaders. Southpaw Chambers went the distance for the Angels, fanning 13 Seals and giving up six hits. Seal hurler Seaward held the Angels scoreless until he was nicked for three singles, which, with an error and a wild pitch, netted both runs in the 11th.

The Sacramento Solons and Seattle Rainiers had a 10-inning duel which was won by the Rainiers, 4 to 3, on two Solon errors and outfielder Novikoff's single in the extra frame.

Hollywood had a hitting bee and shellacked the San Diego Padres, 11 to 3.

Tigers, Regaining Stride, Making Bid For 1946 Pennant

(By The Associated Press)

The colorful Detroit Tigers, all but counted out of the American League pennant race, were back on their feet today ready to resume their quest for their second straight flag.

Handicapped by injuries of six of their star players at various times, the Tigers have been hovering around the 500 mark practically since the start of the season.

But during the past week, the third-place Tigers, with true championship spirit, have come back to win six of their last eight games to cut two and a half games off the Red Sox' awesome lead and now trail by 11 games.

The Tigers moved up to within three and a half games of second place yesterday by whipping the Cleveland Indians 7-5. Cullenbine, baseball's forgotten man, continued his terrific slugging since his return to the regular lineup 10 days ago.

Eugene Softball Stars, Sutherlin Tilt Here Tonight

(By the Associated Press)

Softball tonight features Roseburg's second-place nine of the first half and Junior Chamber of Commerce nine from Eugene, current winners in the championship play in Eugene.

The play between the two teams will be highlighted by some of the best performers Roseburg has seen to date, representing the cream of the player crop from Eugene and the University of Oregon.

Other outstanding performers for the Eugene Club are Bobby Hamilton, stellar basketball performer for the University and a flash at shortstop, at bat and in the field, Nat Giustina, one of the famous Giustinas of hard ball fame; Clint Hartman, venerable and old standby of many years of softball, and captain of the team, and other noteworthy softballers who will be on hand tonight.

The Sutherlin nine will be at top strength for the onslaught and figures on winning this contest in order that they may support their contention that they have the top softball nine in the area.

Announcing the game will be Duke Dennison, currently pitching for the J. C. nine earlier in the year.

A long-awaited mat meeting between Walter Achiu, Chinese jiu-jitsu artist, and Bruno Angelo, Pacific Coast light-heavyweight champion, will feature Matchmaker Don Owen's weekly wrestling show at the Roseburg Armory tonight.

The winner has been promised a coast junior heavyweight title match against Georges Dusette, who won the title from the Italian villain several weeks ago.
