ARE STARTED. That is a sobering thought.

BILKINI - plus Nagasaki and Hiroshima - leaves little doubt that a war, once started, COULD mean the end of everybody and everything.

If that sounds like scare talk, remember that atomic force is a baby, JUS BORN. What it will be when it grows up we can only guess.

THIS much is clear: Our knowledge of DESTRUCTION far exceeds our knowledge of PRACTICAL HUMAN RELATIONS.

That is a dangerous situation.

OBVIOUSLY, we need to devote more effort - sincere and PRAYERFUL effort - to learning how to get along with each other.

IN this same newspaper that tells of the latest Bilkini test, you have read that the United States is determined to press for adoption of the Baruch atomic control plan regardless of Russian (or other) opposition.

This is the core of the Baruch plan: The United States offers to destroy its store of atomic bombs and to SHARE its atomic secrets for peaceful use if the world will set up ADEQUATE safeguards that atomic force will never again be used as a weapon of war.

THAT is an offer that lives up to our highest ideals of insistence upon human welfare throughout the world. If we stick to it through thick and thin, using all of our great powers to bring it to realization, we can again be proud of our government.

OPA, as this is written, seems to be on its way to revival - in a wing-clipped, chastening form. Both the house of representatives and the senate have approved and sent to the President a compromise bill that removes from OPA much of the arbitrary power it has hitherto wielded but still keeps alive, for quick use in emergency, the principle of price control in this period when demand far outstrips production.

Shortly after noon, Truman has not indicated whether he will sign it or veto it or merely permit it to become a law without his signature, but Washington dispatches indicate that his signature is expected.

THE stock market, a fairly dependable barometer of financial thinking in such cases, marks time. The financial reporters, in their sometimes curious jargon, tell us that the market was "ruled at its opening by fractional irregularity, with rails doing a bit better than other groups."

(The market had a slight fainting spell the other day when it became apparent to shrewd observers that OPA was probably on its way back in some form.)

BUSINESS, which has everything to gain from stabilized prices in this period when demand far exceeds supply (and will lose heavily if there is a wild boom followed by a terrible bust) showed remarkable self-restraint when OPA controls were suddenly removed. Prices remained far steadier than anyone had expected.

It is to be hoped (and apparently can be expected) that business will show equal self-restraint and co-operation toward the nation's welfare if controls are restored in the moderated form of the new compromise bill.

DON'T GO NEAR THE WATER

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Again we have price controls, and an army of federal employes is secure from demobilization for another year, being still in a position to give the administration political support.

Our personal sentiment is the same as that of a Roseburg gentleman who said the proper disposition of OPA would be to "bury it before it begins to stink."

We may be quite sure that when authorization to extend OPA until June 30, 1947, expires we will have to go through another battle - one in which politics will play an even greater part than now, because we will then be skirmishing heavily for the 1948 presidential election.

The new price control bill with all its restrictions resembles the old-time jingle:

Mother, may I go out to swim? Yes, my darling daughter. Hang your clothes on a hickory limb, But don't go near the water.

OPA is back "in the swim," but its powers are so thoroughly emasculated that its only remaining value will be its nuisance value.

The first result of OPA's resurrection was a general boost in price on hundreds of commodities and elimination of controls on many others, including grandfather hall clocks. If grandfather clocks rise in price, we'll probably hear a tremendous hullabaloo about increased cost-of-living.

Prior to OPA's recess, price levels had been raised on some 800 items. Now more are added. The buying public will be led to believe that any article bearing an OPA tag is fairly priced. Actually price controls, in many instances, result in higher prices for inferior quality goods, produced with federal blessing and accepted by the consumer without question.

Strong buyer resistance developed during the all too brief holiday. Qualified observers were predicting lower cost-of-living than had been anticipated under continued controls - probably lower than will be experienced with regulations restored.

We doubt that the panty-waist OPA bill now in effect will accomplish anything other than a token control which will generally boost prices rather than decrease them, at the same time hindering production, and delaying reconversion, while various elements - the OPA, Secretary of Agriculture, three-man decontrol board, Congress and the administration - kick the political football around more vigorously than ever.

It is too much to hope that we can obtain domestic harmony long enough to effect orderly reconversion and restoration of the supply and demand balance. With political parties, manufacturers, labor, retailers, veterans' groups, political opportunists, and others jockeying for prestige, power, publicity and selfish gain, we can, we believe, anticipate only further confusion and delay. The new OPA bill provides a political vehicle which, eventually, must collapse under its load of collected hitch hikers.

We can anticipate, now that OPA is back to serve as the "goat", that labor will come forward with new price demands, industry will try to hike profits, and politicians will find the time ripe to "come to the aid of the party."

Return of controls make possible restoration of the dog-bite-dog scramble for power and profits, for OPA is available to "take the rap", whereas without controls fear of public opinion and reprisals acted as a brake to radical action.

Maybe we're just too skeptical, prejudiced and pessimistic. Time will tell!

Achui, Nazarian to Battle in Wrestling Headliner

Walter Achui and Mike Nazarian will battle tonight at the Roseburg Armory in the main event of Matchmaker Don Owen's weekly wrestling show.

Achui, the Chinese nerve-finger, will be out to prove his superiority over the villainous Armenian, who has been raising havoc in the ranks of both menaces and cleanies since his first appearance in this area a few weeks back.

The bout will be two out of three falls with a 45-minute time limit.

Another 45-minute bout, billed as the opener starting at 8:30 P. M., will pit Jack Kiser of St. Johns, Oregon, against rough and tough Billy McEain.

Thanks Extended for Assistance at Fire

We wish to thank the many good neighbors and other kind people who assisted in so many ways in the recent loss of our home by fire.

We didn't realize we had so many neighbors until they gathered from every direction to do what they could in carrying out most of the really necessary articles of furniture and clothing that they could get when it became apparent that the fire, which started over the fruit room, could not be stopped, because of insufficient water pressure.

The fire was not caused by kindling a fire with coal oil, as there was no coal oil on the place - just gasoline, and we don't use gasoline to start fires.

Again we thank all of you and appreciate all the help of every kind and the offers of help, kind words, sympathy, etc.

Umpqua Chiefs Battle Central Point Tomorrow

The Umpqua Chiefs, second in the Southern Oregon Baseball League race, will be after their eighth win tomorrow afternoon as they face cellarized Central Point at Finlay Field. Their second contest, an exhibition match with the House of Davids, will also be played with victory in mind, but caution will be the byword in the first contest for fear of an upset by the Central Pointers.

Vonnie Baker, Chiefs' south-paw hurler, will command the mound against the southern visitors, and Roy Long will pitch the

Sacto's Defeat Seals as Beavers Wallop Oakland

(By The Associated Press) Sacramento's fifth ranking Solons humbled the suddenly helpless San Francisco Seals 13-2 last night. Portland's seventh place Beavers punished the Acorns 1-4 and boosted their current series advantage to four games to one.

The third-place Los Angeles Angels edged out the Seattle Rainiers 1-6 for their fifth straight victory and reduced their distance from the top of the loop to 12 games.

Hollywood's Stars shut out the San Diego Padres 1-0 in a hurling victory for Eraut, who yielded six hits, over Olsen, who was nicked for 10.

WORLD DIAL LOG

Lots of baseball on Sunday. Central Point-Umpqua Chiefs game starts at 12:30. Broadcast starts at 1:00 immediately following True Detective Mysteries. There's a half-hour broadcast between 1:00 and 1:30 and we return to the network for Abbott Mysteries and Those Webster's. Back to baseball at 2:30 for the finish of the local game. You'll get baseball for the rest of the afternoon with a five-minute cut-out for Cecil Brown and the news at 4:25.

Exploring the Unknown, 6:00-6:30 Sunday evening, presents the answer to the question "Can man live to be 150 years old?" The program will dramatize the amazing development and uses for A. C. S. serum.

Big contest starts Monday on Queen For a Day... a new Buick and ten Majestic radio and phono combinations will be given away each week for five weeks. Write an original two-line jingle starting with the words "An extra package..." for Alka Seltzer. If you don't get the address, call KRNR and we'll tell you where to mail your entries.

McKay's days of sleeping in three week-day mornings are over... Wally's Wake-Up Time goes six days a week starting this Monday. Same time... 8:30.

Couldn't help remarking how little interest the second atom bomb broadcast stirred up. Ho-hum... old stuff now. Read the editorial in August International Digest, "The Bomb Ticks Away," and you won't feel so complacent.

Kahut Gets Verdict Over Fitzpatrick

PORTLAND, July 27 (AP) - Joe Kahut, the Woodburn walloper, defeated Hiltzen (Fitzie) Fitzpatrick of Los Angeles last night in a 15-round boxing match which featured caution rather than action. Kahut weighed 178 pounds, Fitzpatrick 171.

In previous fights, Kahut had won twice and then gained a draw and last night each showed a great deal of respect for the other through the first 10 rounds. Kahut won four rounds in the late going by wide margins to gain the nod in spite of the scoreboard, which gave Fitzpatrick five rounds by very narrow margins.

Results in prelims included: Eddie Wharton, 144, Portland, late from Leo Sweeney, 145, Tacoma, tko, fourth round.

Joe Bonn, 184, Gervais, defeated Kenny Kass, 178, Portland, tko, second round. Chuck Brown, 135 1/2, Portland, defeated Al Davis, 136, Tacoma, in four rounds.
