Training School For Law Officers Dated at U. of O.

The first post-war state-wide training schools for law enforcement officers will be held at the University of Oregon in Eugene, September 9 to 14, and at the Eastern Oregon College of Education in La Grande, September 16 to 21. Chief of Police Erwin Short announced.

The course of instruction will be identical at both schools. The school at Eugene will serve law enforcement officers in western and southern Oregon and the one at La Grande will be conducted for officers in eastern Oregon.

These training schools are sponsored by the Oregon Association of City Police Officers, Short said, and the Oregon State Sheriff's Association with the cooperation of the FBI, State Department of Education, League of Oregon Cities, Bureau of Municipal Research and Service at the University of Oregon, and the Pacific Coast International Association of Law Enforcement Officials.

Howard I. Bobbitt, FBI agent in charge of the Portland office, will serve as coordinator at the schools.

The schools are designed to provide basic training for new police officers and refresher training for experienced officers. They have been scheduled because of the demand of law enforcement agencies for training of new officers and also to consider police problems of the post-war period.

Persons who are interested in police work and wish to attend the school should contact Short at the Roseburg police department, he said.

Trend Toward Better Goods Seen by Carstens

H. T. Carstens, Roseburg furniture dealer, returned from a buying trip to San Francisco over the weekend. Postwar trends are toward better merchandise, although scarcities are expected to continue, he reports. Carstens attended a semi-annual furniture sale in the Merchandise Mart at San Francisco, where furniture men from the western states place their orders for new merchandise.

Despite the expected continued scarcities, buying by the dealers was "less frantic" than last year, when they would take "anything to stock up their stores," Carstens said.

The trends are toward more pleasing colors and better made furniture at present price levels.

Roseburg-Cottage Grove Softball Playoffs Dated

District softball playoffs between Roseburg and Cottage Grove will be played in Cottage Grove at 8:30 P. M. Friday, Aug. 16, and at Roseburg at 8:30 P. M. Monday, August 19, it was announced today by Jerry Huggins, city league manager.

Roseburg will meet Cottage Grove instead of Medford as previously announced. The change puts Roseburg in District 15 instead of District 16.

The winning team of the Roseburg-Cottage Grove playoff will go to the state softball playoffs at Oregon City. The two teams will "toss" for location of the third and deciding game, if one is necessary, Huggins said.

The approaches of the Smith River bridge total 760 feet in length, Frear said, while the main span is 80 feet long. The bridge carries one-way traffic with a passing area in the middle. It has not been decided whether the rebuilt bridge shall carry a two-lane or a one-lane roadway, Frear said.

Small county bridges built this summer include seven concrete box and spans, including two on the Dixonville road, one at Ridge, one east of Yoncalla, two at Lookingglass, and one at Loon Lake.

Fourteen bridges have been replaced with six-foot steel culverts. Twenty-five bridges have been filled-in since last year, and more than 200 in the last eight years, Frear said.
