NO SOAP for dishes, for laundry FOR A MONTH!

Unless EVERY Housewife Gets Back To Saving Used Fats

• Sounds awful? Well, every person in America may lose a whole month's supply of soap this year unless the 2 out of 5 women who've stopped saving used fats get busy right away!

• During this world-wide shortage of fats and oils, the only extra source of fats to make soaps and other peacetime goods is your kitchen. Ask your neighbor . . . ask yourself if you're turning in all you can.

• Remember, the fats you turn in help to make soap for you. Every pound helps prevent the soap shortage from getting worse!

Shanghai Prices Leap Through Chaos Into Black Market

SHANGHAI, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The nervous and confused Shanghai black market adjusted prices late this afternoon to conform roughly with the newly established official rate of 3,350 Chinese dollars to one American.

The new black market prices were lined up after hours of wild confusion as the exchange prices jumped and wavered after the increase from the former official rate of 2,020 Chinese dollars to one U. S.

The principal purpose of the revision, namely to encourage the export of Chinese goods and curtail imports and encourage domestic production, appeared doomed to imemdiate failure as retailers withdrew imported goods from their counters or changed the price tags to correspond with the new rates.

Mumblings for increased pay from workers apeared likely to crystalize into formal demands for increases, backed by strike threats.

An appeal by Mayor Wu to Chinese business leaders to maintain prices prevailing before the readjustment of the exchange rate apparently fell on deaf ears as every one from the rickshaw coolies on up asked higher prices and more wages.

Informed quarters saw the only way to reactivate China's war-shattered export trade and keep prices in reasonable limits as being through the achievement of internal peace and restorations of broken interior communications—objects apparently farther away now than ever.

Switzerland's Tourist Trade Again Flourishes

BERN, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Switzerland's tourist trade is flourishing and shows a 10 per cent increase in guests over last year despite a late start occasioned by bad weather.

Only about 300 GIs are admited to the country daily as against 1,200 a year ago but British tourists in increasing numbers are taking up the slack.

Legion of Merit Given D. M. Ross of Sutherlin

Donald M. Ross, son of Mrs. Mabel Ross of Sutherlin, was recently awarded the Legion of Merit, second-highest decoration for non-combat service, at Wright Field, Ohio.

The award was made by Lt. Gen. Nathan F. Twining for Mr. Ross' "exceptional performance above and beyond the call of duty" as chief of the ignition branch, power plant laboratory, at Wright Field.

Formerly a major in the air forces, Mr. Ross is continuing at the field in an executive position under civil service.

Gun Regulations For 1946 Issued by State Game Board

Gun regulations for the 1946 hunting season have been made by the Oregon State Game Commission to safeguard both hunters and game.

Shortages of ammunition and firearms were considered so that regulations are as liberal as feasible to avoid excessive crippling loss of game.

General regulations state that the use of machine guns, M 1 military carbines, Garand (M1) rifles, and Johnson rifles are illegal for hunting all game. The carbine is too light a weapon for big game. The Garand and Johnson are the only clip-fed semi-automatic rifles available, and at rapid fire they are difficult to control. Sportsmen should remember that these guns can kill a man two miles away. The use of .22 caliber rimfire shells is also prohibited for hunting any game birds, deer or elk.

The use of all rifles and of shotguns larger than ten gauge is prohibited for hunting game birds. In addition, shotguns must not be capable of holding more than three shells. BB size shot is the largest allowed for hunting waterfowl.

Shotguns loaded with bird or buckshot cannot be used to hunt big game. Elk gun regulations require that rifles must be .30 caliber or larger, or must use bullets weighing at least 150 grains or generating at least 1400 foot pounds of energy at 100 yards range.

The more common caliber guns which are illegal for elk are .218, .219, .22, .220, .25, .25-20 and the .25-35. Certain cartridges of 6.5 MM and .250-3000 rifles do not qualify under this regulation. It it recommended that hunters using these weapons consult ballistic tables for bullets they wish to use.

Long bows and barbless broadhead hunting arrows may be used to hunt big game and migratory waterfowl. Expert archers recommend that a forty-pound bow and a one-ounce arrow with a 7-8-inch broadhead be used. Regulations do not require this.

C. R. Porter of ICC Dies After Son's Death

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Claude R. Porter, 74, member of the Interstate Comerce Commission since 1928, died Saturday, six days after the sudden death of a son, George D. Porter.

The commissioner collapsed at his office Thursday of a cerebral hemorrhage and was taken to a hospital. He died a few hours before funeral services were held here for the son.

Public anouncement of the father's death was withheld until after the son's funeral to soften the shock of the second tragedy for the commissioner's widow, who had not been advised.

The son, a 54-year-old Washington, D. C., attorney, choked to death last Sunday night while dining at a hotel in San Francisco. A corner's autopsy found that a bit of food had lodged in his windpipe.

Russia Accuses Britain of Entry Into Iran Towns

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Moscow radio asserted today that British troops had ocupied two Iraqui towns opposite the Iraniar refinery town of Abadan and were creating a "war danger in the Middle East."

"Britain's foreign policy continues to be determined by selfish interests which are pushing her towards further expansion, towards acts that endanger the peace of the world," said a broadcast quoting an article in the magazine New Times.

A British foreign office spokesman declined comment. The largest refineries of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company are located at Abadan.

The broadcasts came a few days after Russian troops were reported along the northern border of Iran.

The Moscow radio said the dispatch of British Indian troops to Basra, the Iraqi port nearest the oil fields of southern Iran, "created a fresh center of disturbance, alarm, political disorder and war danger in the Middle East."

"By virute of the special schemes of British diplomacy, Basra has now become a center from which emanate a new series of acts of provocation in the countries of the Middle East," the broadcast said, "it is difficult to say, of course, how events will develop."

Mrs. Augusta Block of Roseburg Passes Away

Mrs. Augusta Block, 81, resident of Roseburg for the last ten years, died at her home on North Jackson Street yesterday after an illness of five weeks. She was born November 13, 1865, in Jacobsdorf Drambourg Pommern, Germany and came to the United States when a girl nine years of age. She made her home in St. Paul, Minn., before moving to Roseburg in 1936.

Surviving are two daughters: Mrs. Theresa Hoehne, Roseburg, and Mrs. Nina Olsen, Dillard; one sister, Mrs. Emillie Voeltzman, St. Paul, Minn.; three grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Roseburg Funeral Home Tuesday, August 20, at 2 P. M., with Rev. W. R. Sylwester officiating. Interment will be in Siskiyou Memorial Park in Medford, Oregon, Wednesday at 11 A. M.

Oregon Ranks High in Statistics on Health

PORTLAND, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Oregon is one of the healthiest states, statistics of the research council for economic security indicated today.

Oregon tied with Minnesota for the lowest infant mortality rate, ranked second lowest in draft rejections because of poor health, and fourth lowest in general mortality rates. There is a physician for every 746 inhabitants.

Development of Northwest Aim of Four-State Assn.

TIMBERLINE LODGE, Ore., Aug. 199 — (AP)— Representatives of four states continued conferring here today after adopting articles of incorporation for an organization pledged to develop the Pacific Northwest.

An interim committee of Pacific Northwest United, The new organization which will coordinate the aims of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, drafted a program to be presented later to the full committee.

The drafter articles of incorporation listed development of industry, agriculture, mining, shipping, transportation, fisheries, commerce, and water resources—together with education to promote those ends — as goals of PNU.

Under the plan PNU would be incorporated in the state of Washington, with any person or association residing or doing business in any of the four states eligible to membership. Each state would elect one trustee from each of five categories: Industry, labor, agriculture, government, education. The board of trustees would elect one additional member at large from each state, a president and state vice-presidents, a general manager, treasurer, and executive committee.

LET US HAVE THE FACTS!

NO WHEAT is being used by the American brewing industry. Even in 1945, only 8/100 of 1 per cent of our wheat crop went into beer making. Barley, the principal grain used in brewing, is not in any considerable quantity processed for human consumption.

FORTY PER CENT of the grain used by brewers is returned as cattle feed greatly enriched over and above the original nutritional value due to the enzymes and diastase developed in the malting and mashing processes.

A RETURN TO MOONSHINING and home brewing would cost us more grain than legalized production and control because the valuable residues of stock feed now so widely distributed would be lost and with it, nearly three billion dollars annually going to government in excise taxes and licenses would revert to the bootlegger and gangster.

THE SLOGAN, "Bread or beer," so carelessly used by a radio commentator is, judged by the facts, nothing but political hocus pocus.

THE INDUSTRY IS GIVING FULLEST SUPPORT TO THE GOVERNMENT'S CONSERVATION PROGRAM.
