Volunteer Weed Pullers For RHS Field Sought. High school students and townspopple are urged to turn out at 8:30 tomorrow night to prepare for the opening of the football season by pulling weeds from the turf of the High School field.

A call for weed pullers came from Omer J. Monger, principal of Roseburg High School, who explained today that the weeds must be uprooted before the field can be fertilized or improved for football play this autumn.

A weed pulling contest between Monger and Del McKay, KRNR announcer, will be a feature of the evening. Duane Pope will be in charge of the High School boys' weed pulling team, it was announced.

A dance at the Armory following the weed pulling, has been arranged by the city recreational department, Monger also announced.

U. S. Ultimatum Sent To Tito in Yugoslavia (Continued from Page One) ultimatum—and with that possibility of a change to a Russian veto of security council action would have to be met.

But there was no American government reluctance to meet that challenge. Even before somber-faced Yugoslav Charge D'Affairs Markedio was handed the note late yesterday, the State Department's security council action would have to be met.

That fact underscored both the anxiety and the determination to have the issue out. It had been reflected less than 24 hours earlier by two other major diplomatic developments:

1. A firm stand by the United States against Russia's demands for a share in the military control of the strategic Dardanelles.

2. Disclosure by those high in government of a firm new policy against appeasing Russia and against a further spread of Soviet domination over smaller and weaker countries.

"Outrages" Flayed If that policy is to come up for a quick test, the issue was unfolded in last night's blistering note to Yugoslavia.

Shorn of the traditional diplomatic salutations, it was couched in language perhaps without precedent in peace time communications from this country to another nation.

It stemmed from the two "incidents" termed "outrageous" in the ultimatum.

Taking sharp note of the Yugoslav explanations, the United States termed them "wholly unsatisfactory to the government and shocking to the people of the United States."

"These outrageous acts have been perpetrated by a government that professes to be a friendly nation," the ultimatum said.

Citing the fact that the planes were unarmed, it declared that their flight "in no way constituted a threat to the sovereignty of Yugoslavia." Then it added, significantly:

"The use of force by Yugoslavia under the circumstances was without the slightest justification in international law, was clearly inconsistent with relations between friendly nations, and was a plain violation of the obligations resting upon Yugoslavia under the charter of the United Nations not to use force except in self-defense."

Moreover, the document put in this indictment: "The deliberate firing without warning on the unarmed passenger planes of a friendly nation is, in the judgement of the United States, an offense against the law of nations and the principles of humanity."

There was quick Capitol Hill support for the ultimatum. Chairman Bloom of the House Foreign Affairs Committee told a reporter it is "high time we stopped pussy-footing."

Soviet-Made Planes Apparently Used in Yugoslavs' Attacks. BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 22.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson set out by plane for Marshal Tito's headquarters near the Austrian border today to deliver the United States ultimatum demanding release of American fliers within 48 hours.

A well-informed military source said Yugoslav attacks on two unarmed American transports, which gave rise to the stiff State Department demand, apparently were made in Russian-manufactured Stomovik fighter planes. Tito summoned his No. 1 for sign relations expert, Gen. Velibit to be present at the meeting at Bled. Velibit attended the San Francisco conference and is regarded as the Yugoslav chief-tain's top personal advisor on foreign affairs.

Two U. S. graves registration representatives, First Lt. Charles O. Prow and Private George Demasi were given permission to search the area near Bled for the bodies of three American air force personnel believed to have been killed Monday when a C-47 transport was shot down in flames. The wreckage was reported found about two miles inside Yugoslavia from the Austrian border.

Americans Still Held Theodore Hohenthal, U. S. consul at Zagreb, was informed today by officials at Yugoslav army headquarters in northern Yugoslavia that no trace had been found of two more American crew members of the C-47 who were seen to parachute from the blazing plane. This information added to fears that they may also have been killed.

Seven other Americans and three non-American passengers of an unmarked C-47 transport, which was forced to land by Yugoslav fighters 10 days earlier, still were held by Yugoslav authorities.

Following the conference with the Yugoslav chief of state, Patterson arranged to proceed to a meeting with Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of U. S. forces in Austria, both C-47 planes when they were forced down were flying from Vienna, Clark's headquarters, to Udine, Italy.

America's sacrifices in war casualties Dec. 7, 1941 to June 1, 1945 totaled 1,012,000. The toll of motor vehicle accidents during the corresponding period was 3,200,000.

Double Slaying Verdict Returned in Russell Case

That Blanche Mae Russell, 36, died "by the hands of her husband," Samuel Forrest Russell, 34, and that he himself died "by his own hand" by use of a revolver, in Roseburg Tuesday morning, was the verdict of a coroner's jury last night at the inquest into the fatal shooting of the estranged couple.

The weapon with which Russell killed his wife and then himself was introduced at the inquest as "Exhibit 1," a 32-20 Smith and Wesson revolver. He had purchased the gun from Mrs. Olga King, an employee at Grimm's Grocery, where Russell worked as a warehouseman.

The gun was among the effects of Mrs. King's late husband, and she had had the permission of Sheriff O. T. Carter to sell it to Russell, she testified last night.

After Russell received delivery of the gun Tuesday morning, he went to his cabin at an auto court for the money with which to pay for it. He returned in the company of his wife, and they were laughing and talking, Mrs. King said. As she left the store on personal errand shortly after 8 o'clock, the Russells were standing on the sidewalk in front, both on apparent good terms with each other.

At 8:30, the Russells appeared at the home of Mrs. Ruth Larv, 922 N. Jackson Street, for a short visit. When they turned to leave, Russell suddenly said, "I've got a gun for Blanche; do you want to see it?" Without waiting for a reply, he shot his wife as they stood in the doorway, and poured three more shots into her as she lay on the floor.

The three witnesses, Mrs. Larv, her son, Glen Brocksome, 19, and Mrs. Myrtle Baker, fled to other rooms in the house. Brocksome testified he saw Russell then turn the gun on himself.

Before she died, Mrs. Russell was heard to say, "Sam, why did you do it?" and "Yes, he's shot me; I'm dying." The Russells were reported to have separated over domestic troubles a week before the tragedy.

Bodies Taken to Coos The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Russell have been taken to Coos County by the Douglas Funeral Home, and funeral arrangements are being made there. Concerning the couple, the Coos Bay Times says:

Russell, 34, was born at Langlois, the son of the pioneer Curry County couple, Mr. and Mrs. James Russell. He has 11 brothers and sisters in Coos and Curry counties.

Mrs. Russell, 36, was a sister of Mrs. Charles Bomar, Brunker Hill. Mrs. Russell's body was to be brought to the Campbell funeral home today. Services for Russell were being arranged at Langlois.

Russell had been a patient recently in the Roseburg Veterans' Hospital and later in the Astoria Naval Hospital. He served overseas in World War I with the 240th Coast Artillery, the outfit in which he left Coos Bay.

When he lived here Russell operated the fishing boat Gale R., named for his son by his first wife. Present address of the first wife not available today.

Two Military Fugitives Caught; 3rd Still Free TACOMA, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Two of three military prisoners who escaped from the section of Madigan General Hospital at Fort Lewis Tuesday evening were captured last night by Tacoma police after a violent struggle in a downtown service station.

Police said the men, Norman Sears and William Arraola, both 22, and described by Fort Lewis authorities as potentially dangerous, had viciously assaulted the driver of an automobile after boarding his slowly moving machine.

The driver increased his speed and drove into a service station driveway where a bitter struggle ensued until the police arrived and subdued the escapees.

The third man, Francis F. Lucas, 28, is still at large.
