SPANKING A NATION

By CHARLES V. STANTON

We can recall how, as a young child in early grade school, we thrilled to stories of Americans, who, facing foreign bandits or hostile groups, calmly wrapped themselves in the folds of the American flag and defied captors to do their worst.

Melodramatic as those stories were, they served to illustrate the fact that at that particular period in our history our government provided protection for its citizens wherever they might be.

After many years of appeasement and hesitation, in which our prestige sank lower and lower, it appears that our policy is returning to a demand for respect of Americans and American rights.

While our ultimatum to Marshal Tito involves, Yugoslavia, a very small nation, recent events have shown that it is the small nations which produce the "incidents" leading to greater trouble.

Had the major powers resisted Japanese invasion of Manchuria, Italian conquest of Ethiopia, and participation of Italy, Germany and Russia in the Spanish civil war, using authority and rights existing in treaties, we probably would have avoided the late world wide blood bath.

If we had demanded an early halt to acts of aggression, instead of trying to bribe, persuade and appease the bullying aggressors—pennies instead of spankings—we could have saved the lives of hundreds of thousands of our finest young men.

The Yugoslavian "incident" could be another Manchuria or Ethiopia. Yugoslavia is recognized as being under the protective wing of Russia. Russia is attempting to discover just how far she dares go in bullying her way into international power politics.

Any parent of a five-year-old boy can understand Russian international psychology. A boy, when he first begins to sense individualism, tries to learn just how far he can defy parental discipline.

But a threat of a sound spanking usually will end his defiance, providing he has certain knowledge that the spanking will be forthcoming if he does not do as he is told. If, however, the parent threatens spanking but never delivers, the child's defiance soon runs rampant and he becomes a neighborhood bully.

The United States for many years has been the weak parent, who has tried by persuasion and appeasement to maintain peace. As a result, the bullies of the world took advantage of our weakness.

Russia, glorying in her new-found military strength, is throwing her weight around in reckless fashion, defying everything and everybody in her willful intent to grab all she can—a looter in the time of disaster. She is experimenting to see how far she can defy international discipline.

The Yugoslavian incident provides us with an opportunity to return to the role of a parent who demands discipline and obedience. It is very probable that we will be forced to administer a few good "spankings" to prove we mean what we say and to restore respect for our authority.

Our State Department has shown a definitely stiffer attitude in recent weeks. If it is prepared to use force, where necessary, to develop respect for American rights, we will go a far distance in producing the world peace we have sought so long.

Just as a mother has a stout hair-brush with which to apply lessons in obedience upon the posterior of her recalcitrant offspring, we have the dreaded atomic bomb as our threat of an implement for spankings upon bullying nations who defy discipline. Threat of punishment, backed by action if necessary, can be of profound effect right now in bringing about more satisfactory cooperation among nations.

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

As many as received Him, to them gave the power to be the Sons of God. The word power is sometimes translated "right," "privilege," "authority." What a challenging opportunity to become somebody. We are always becoming. The student becomes a scholar, the amateur an expert, the theologian a preacher. In America today we are becoming sincere Americans. Men in the nation's uniform may flash into patriotism in some over-mastering moment during a bombing raid or at the point of a bayonet. Others will grow into patriotism by slow degrees through everyday experiences. Such as a rationed diet or the giving up of some pleasure. Likewise in the spiritual realm, the process of becoming may be slow and channeled through insignificant bits of religious service. We have been given the right, the power to become sons of God, but this power is only given to those who believe in Jesus. Faith is the wholesome atmosphere in which the spirit lives and moves and has its being. St. Paul says, "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus."—Amen.

U. S.-Yugoslavia Row Symptom of World-Wide Ills

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst. Although the safety of their nationals abroad has always been a serious consideration of foreign nations, the row between the United States and Yugoslavia seems to be more a symptom of larger ill than a definitive international incident. Under other circumstances the situation might not have provoked such an official furor. Urgency and tension were in the air when the Japanese sank the Panay, too, but the resultant representations hardly attained the same pitch. Odd as it may seem, careful observers believe that the Russo-Turkish situation is as much or more of an issue in this case than the actual attacks on Americans. They believe the United States is now beginning to accept the lines as drawn; that there really are two worlds instead of one; that we are finally out to stop any further infringement of one upon the other; that this is a time of testing, of seeing how far the eastern sphere is willing to pur-

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny blood filter which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, passing water with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and be miserable, restless sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits uric acid matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging rheumatism, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, weakness, dizziness, headache, backache and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Newsprint Price Ceilings Boosted By OPA Order

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23. (AP)—OPA yesterday granted an immediate increase of $7 a ton in manufacturers' ceiling prices for newsprint sold in the United States.

The agency made the increase allowable on all deliveries of newsprint since August 8, when OPA authorized sales on an adjustable pricing basis.

Today's increase, OPA said, is being granted "to help assure an adequate supply of newsprint for United States publishers by attempting to prevent a diversion to other markets of foreign newsprint."

Another purpose, said OPA's statement is to "check any tendency on the part of domestic producers to divert newsprint production to other more profitable lines of paper."

OPA made no mention of revaluation of the Canadian dollar although it was generally understood this figured in the decision. Shortly after price controls lapsed July 1, Canada—the source of about 80 per cent of this country's newsprint supply—raised newsprint prices $6.80 a ton above the then existing U. S. ceiling of $87 a ton, for the purpose of adjusting to the newly revalued Canadian dollar.

This action produced OPA's adjustable pricing order, issued to cover the situation pending final determination on whether a price increase would be granted. The new ceiling for standard newsprint delivered to 35 port cities is $74 a ton.

OPA said it had noted that increases had been incurred in costs for raw materials, labor and freight since newsprint ceilings were last raised on December 11, 1945.

The increase applies to all newsprint sold in this country, whether produced in the U. S. or imported.
