Registration of Voters Slated to Close Saturday

Douglas county residents who are not already registered for the general election in November are advised by County Clerk Roy Agee to do so before Saturday to avoid the expected last minute rush.

Saturday will be the last day to register for the coming election. The county clerk's office in the courthouse will be open from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. that day to accommodate all late comers. In addition to the county clerk's staff, two other persons in Roseburg have been sworn in as voters' registrars. They are Miss Virginia Ashley, employed at the Roseburg Central Labor Council office in the Pacific Building, and Billy Mohr, service station operator, N. Stephens and W. Oak streets.

Persons who must register if they are to vote are those who failed to vote in either the 1944 primary or general election, those who have moved into a new precinct since the last election, those who will have established a six months' residence in the state on or before election day, and who are not already registered, those who have become 21 years of age since the last election, newly naturalized citizens, and women who have changed their names by marriage since the last election. Discharged veterans are advised to check with the clerk's office to see whether their names are still on the books.
