ness occupation through."

THERE was a time (not only in our country but everywhere) when military heroes more or less automatically became political leaders when the shooting ended and peace arrived.

More signs of a changing world.

DON'T let change frighten you. The world has been changing for as long as we have any record of any kind.

It is STAGNATION that is DANGEROUS.

EISENHOWER (U. S. army chief of staff) in Berlin on a tour of inspection of U. S. occupied areas in Europe, says:

"There is too much pessimism in the world about international relations and too much discounting of progress that is being made."

He adds: "We have evidence here (in Europe) that international co-operation is not a dead issue in the world, but something that is GROWING and will continue to grow."

YOU remember the old saying: "The optimist sees the doughnut, the pessimist sees the hole."

Eisenhower reminds us that too many people have been seeing the hole.

ANOTHER of the minor tragedies of the news:

The American Legion drum corps from Clatskanie (Oregon) has to leave for the Legion's national convention in San Francisco without its beautiful white pants.

The ceremonial trousers had been ordered from a New York tailoring firm, but were delayed in delivery.

That phrase "delayed in delivery" more or less summarizes our present troubles.

Nearly everything we want for the brave new world we'd like to live in seems to be delayed in delivery.

MORE preaching: Deliveries will REMAIN DELAYED until we learn how to get along with each other well enough to provide the teamwork that is necessary for large-scale production.

MORE changing world: A fashion "co-ordinator" tells a beauty trade audience in Albany, N. Y., that "the Cupid's bow mouth is definitely out of the picture this year."

The correct mouth make-up now calls for the watermelon, or wide, or "mouth-type."

Well, you wouldn't want your women CHANGELESS, would you?

HERE'S a new type of industrial bottleneck:

In a Missoula, Montana, hospital equipped with only 12 infants' cribs 38 bouncing babies arrive in a couple of days.

American ingenuity, plus a reasonable amount of tolerance, solved the problem. The babies are taken care of in apple boxes and peach crates properly padded and drolled up. At last reports, NO baby has complained.

That's the spirit!

Judicial Beef: CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Klein, 30, told Superior Judge George M. Fisher the meat shortage caused the breakup of her marriage to John Klein, 34, a butcher.

She said Klein became so irritated when his two markets were meatless that he would come home and strike her. After their separation, she said, she continued patronizing his shops but two weeks ago he not only refused her meat but struck her for asking for it.

Mrs. Klein was awarded a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

GRANTS PASS REVOLTS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The City of Grants Pass is in open revolt against the Civilian Production Administration and is preparing an organized battle against regulations interfering with that community's development.

A meeting of builders, suppliers, laborers, business interests, and others recorded their opinions that "present federal regulations establishing a veterans priority system had failed in its avowed purpose of providing homes for veterans" and that "all building restrictions be abandoned and that competition be allowed to regulate production and distribution of building materials and utilization of labor."

The insurgent Cavemen have notified Chambers of Commerce throughout Oregon of their action, and are asking general cooperation in their program, which one of their leaders likened to the Boston Tea Party.

Action in Grants Pass followed shutdown orders issued against a number of unauthorized dwellings and commercial structures. CPA representatives recently halted construction on approximately 50 unauthorized buildings in the Roseburg area where a large number of builders, who had supplies on hand, ignored instructions and completed their buildings.

Doubleless the action taken in Grants Pass will meet widespread sympathy if not downright cooperation.

There is no denying the fact that the American people are beginning to revolt against bureaucracy. As recently pointed out in this column, straws in the wind point to collapse of the entire bureaucratic system, which cannot exist in the face of adverse public sentiment.

There also are indications that the politicians who guide the administration are desperately worried. They can see the handwriting on the wall and can realize that unless they conform to the wishes of the voting public they will suffer certain defeat at the polls. The Grants Pass incident is only a minor affair, but, coupled with open resistance against the OPA, the Wage Stabilization Board and other departments and agencies, it adds to the signs of growing discontent with our present system of regimentation.

It is obvious that building controls are not serving the purpose for which they were intended. Like all other controls, it is accomplishing the exact reverse of its purpose. Instead of encouraging homes, it has brought about an alarming decrease in construction. While workmen in the building trades, contractors, suppliers, manufacturers and, more important, the general public, suffering from lack of adequate shelter, have experienced loss of wages, profits and security, the only benefits have been realized by gerrymongers engaged in speculative and inflationary public or project home construction. At the same time, building costs have mounted to an almost prohibitive figure, while delays also discourage construction.

Many people have been misled by the title of "veterans" housing. The word "veterans" was tacked on for political purposes only and has nothing to do with the bill in operation, despite propaganda designed to cause the general public to believe otherwise. In fact, if the program as it is operating is in keeping with avowals, the veterans are being done a great disservice in being encouraged to build homes at the added and inflationary costs occasioned by controls.

Due to inefficiency of building regulations, lumber production is down, building materials are scarce, nails are almost non-existent, fixtures and hardware are unobtainable.

Our system of bureaucracy has proven a total failure. It is basically responsible for the bulk of our current recession and recovery problems. It is time to kick the whole system into the discard and get back to the time-tried and time-proven laws of supply and demand, free enterprise and competition.

38 Working Out On Papoose Squad

Thirty-eight young hopefuls are working out daily under Football Coach H. H. "Red" Turner in preparation for the Junior High Papooses' first tilt of the season October 24 at Medford.

Although Turner is faced with a host of green and inexperienced material, prospects appear very good, as all of the boys are exceptional huskies for their age. All members of the squad are eighth and ninth graders and Turner reports the team weight-average will run around 145. The only two returning 1945-season players are Dale Blanck, tackle, and Frankie Webster, guard.

Last year's team, also inexperienced, went through a very successful season with two wins, one tie, and one loss. A second contest has been scheduled for the home field against Grants Pass October 13 and at least two other games are pending.

With the large turnout this year, Coach Turner expects to have two complete eleven-man squads in each game, thus giving them all valuable experience.

The youngsters' training consists largely of fundamentals of the gridiron with brief introductions of the T-formation, single-wing, and punt formation.

Kiwanis Hold Annual Party for Their Ladies

The Roseburg Kiwanis Club held its annual dinner-dance party for ladies of the Kiwanis and their guests Tuesday evening at Kennedy's Dutch Mill.

Held yearly for the entertainment of the ladies of the civic organization, the dinner and dancing party was attended by more than 60 members and guests. Dave McCarroll presided as master of ceremonies during the evening's festivities.

Sunday Evening Sermons At Baptist Church Listed

An unusual series of Sunday evening messages on "The Second Coming of Christ" has been scheduled by Rev. H. P. Sconce at the First Baptist Church. This is the first series of this type to be given by the Rev. Mr. Sconce in this city.

Oct. 6—"Waiting for the Return of Christ." "Is it like waiting for a train to arrive?"

Oct. 13—"Rewards at the Return of Christ." "Will there be any regrets in Heaven?"

Oct. 17—"How to Be Ready for the Return of Christ." "Who comes with Christ when He returns?"

Nov. 3—"How the Return of Christ Will Affect the Dead." "Will we see and know our loved ones in Heaven?"

Nov. 10—"The Time of the Return of Christ." "Why can't we know the exact time of His return?"

Nov. 17—"The Return of Christ and the Unsaved." "Will there be few or many people saved?"

Nov. 24—"The Anti-Christ and the Return of Christ." "Who is the anti-Christ? Must we have war with Russia?"

Hatten Hurls For Dodgers Against Dickson of Cards

BROOKLYN, Oct. 3. (AP)—Leo Durocher's ability to rally his sagging Dodgers from the brink of disaster meets its big test today when Brooklyn resumes its post-season playoff series with St. Louis knowing full well that the National League pennant and World Series cash will vanish in defeat.

Back at Ebbets Field the Brooks are inclined to overlook the 4-2 defeat hung around their necks by Howie Pollet in St. Louis Tuesday.

Durocher will start Joe Hatten the rookie lefthander who came out of service to win 14 and lose 10 in his freshman year.

Murry Dickson, a wiry little righthander, was the Card choice over Brecheen. Dickson has been effective against the Dodgers, beating them three times and losing only once on relief.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 3. (AP)—The opening game of the World Series, delayed by the photo finish of St. Louis and Brooklyn in the National League, today was set for Sunday, Oct. 6, in the park of the National League pennant winner.

Walter W. Mulbry, secretary-treasurer of baseball, said the commissioner would set another date should bad weather extend the St. Louis-Brooklyn play-off series into Saturday or later.

Vets Told How to Contact Their Former Divisions

Veterans who desire to contact an association representing their former divisions or other units, may obtain postcards issued by the commanding general of the United States Army which will put them in touch with their old organizations.

The cards may be obtained from Colonel George D. Wahl, Headquarters Oregon Military District, 225 U. S. Courthouse, Portland 7, Ore.

Two types of postcards are available. One is for veterans who wish to contact a division association and the other is for veterans who were assigned to organizations unattached to divisions.

The cards may be sent to the Commanding General, Army Ground Force, Washington, D. C., who will put the veteran in touch with his division or other unit association, if such a group has been formed.

Station KRNR 8:00 to 8:15 p.m. Statewide Broadcast

RDND DIAL LOG

Ball games to the right of us... ball games to the left of us... baseball, football... You take your choice. No money... no box tops... Just dial 1490 and thar she blows.

For your information, we don't know about the World Series either. Depends on the play-offs (this is written before we know about the second game), the weather and apparently several other mysterious things. We do know that Bill Corum, Jimmy Britt and Arch MacDonald have been picked to cover the games and that Mutual has the exclusive broadcast.

Friday night KRNR will broadcast portions of the Roseburg football game when the Indians play University High. Far be it from us to suggest that you wouldn't enjoy the broadcast... but the games are well worth seeing as well as hearing. In case you haven't realized it, Roseburg has a real ball team this year... So, if you possibly can make it, go to the game. If you can't tune 1490 and we'll give you as much of the game over the air as time permits.

Away from sports broadcasts and down to tonight's listening: By Popular Demand, 6:30; Music You Remember, 7:15; The Music Shop, 7:30; the first of the political broadcasts at 8:00; Private Showing at 8:30. More changes coming up in evening schedules next week; so watch for them.

Bert Childers and the Melon Patch

Bert Childers put an ad in the Clarion the other day. Here's what it said: "Planted more melons than I can eat this year. Stop by and pick as many as you want. All free."

As you can guess, plenty of folks sent their kids over and plenty of the parents came too. Stripped Bert's melon patch in no time. And as they went away, Bert treated the grownups a glass of ice-cold sparkling beer.

Naturally it puzzled some folks... but Bert explains: "It gives me a kick to share things when I can afford to—whether it's the melons, or the lemonade, or beer. I guess I just like to indulge my whims."

From where I sit, if we had more "self-indulgent" people like Bert—who believe in share and share alike, live and let live, this tired world would be a whole lot better off!
