

Red Sox Win Opener in Ten Innings, 3 to 2

York's Homer Decides Game After Mates Knot Count in Ninth Frame

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7. — (AP) — One explosive home run blast off the bat of "the new" Rudy York won for Boston over the St. Louis Cardinals in Sunday's 1946 World Series opener.

Joe Cronin's Sox eased out a 3-2 edge over Howie Pollet in a tough 10-inning struggle that the Cardinals easily could have won.

Pollet, pitching one of his best games of the year and outshining Tex Hughson despite an aching side, had come from behind and held a 2-1 lead, one strike away from that coveted first World Series win.

Then it happened. Tom McBride, who had been unable to knock the ball out of the infield, bounced a single scoring Don Gutteridge with the tying run. Gutteridge was running for Pinky Higgins whose easy grounder had squirted crazily through Marty Marion's legs for a single.

Earl Johnson of Seattle, a batter of the Bulge veteran, set down the Redbirds in order in the ninth and Pollet got past Don DiMaggio and the much-feared Ted Williams in the tenth, to get credit as the winning pitcher.

Two were gone and nobody on when York, enjoying a remarkable comeback, ruined a courageous pitching job by the Cards' 21-game winning ace with a 375-foot home run smash.

That was the ball game, for Johnson survived an error by Johnny Pesky to put down the Cards with the tying run on third base in the last of the tenth.

Hughson had grabbed an early lead in the second when Higgins' single drove home York who had been hit by a pitched ball and moved to second on Doerr's walk. Musial's double to right in the sixth following Schoendienst's scratch hit off Hughson's glove to Shortstop Pesky tied it up. Kurowski's run in the eighth sent the Birds out in front once more but the Sox tied it up in the ninth on McBride's single and won in the first extra frame. DiMaggio and Higgins led the Sox attack, each with two singles and Williams was held to one single.

Air Crash Puts 32 in Hands of Lolo Tribesmen

eral area in which the U. S. army graves registration service is making its own quiet search for five U. S. air forces crewmen believed captives of the Lolo for more than two years.

The airliner pilot, Capt. Andrew Lungbotham, Pasadena, Calif., was the only American reported aboard the Chinese National Aviation corporation plane.

First reports of the crash location were received Sept. 28. Gen. Ho Kow-Kwang, Chinese army commander at Sichang, sent a 17-man relief expedition into the rugged area near the north Burma border, but the Lolo would allow only a Lolo guide and the general's aide to pass.

General Ho telegraphed Chungking yesterday that the downed plane still had not been found. Ransom Will Be Tried

A Lolo family near a village called Ahluhluha had taken charge of the passengers, all of whom reportedly had survived the crash without serious injury, the general reported. The family, he added, had "tried their best to protect them." General Ho appealed to Chungking for salt, cloth and medicines, presumably so rescuers might be able to barter their way into the mountains and perhaps ransom captives.

Capt. Robert W. Pottschmidt, Wenatchee, Wash., who has made several fruitless search flights over the area, said his plane had been hit by rifle fire from the ground. Flying with him on his latest search yesterday were Capt. C. D. Anderson, Milwaukee, colliot; F. D. Frost, Pasadena, Calif.; and R. R. Goetichius, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., the professional parachute jumper.

Magistrate Urges Aid

The latest available report on the crash victims, Pottschmidt said, was contained in a letter from a Chinese magistrate whose village was four days' hike from the scene.

"According to reported news, the Lolo dare not approach the wrecked plane," the letter said. "Inside the plane, guns were opening fire."

"I, my humble self, already have granted a heavy reward and sent Wang Ching-Chung (a Chinese) together with Mook Kwei-Anhu, a Lolo, to investigate."

"I, my humble self, have tried to get the Lolo to proceed to rescue our endangered countrymen, but I have not much money in hand. Please transmit word to the Chinese National Aviation Corporation and family members to bring medical aid, food, clothing, and hurry here quick."

"Work superlatively. How is it? Please direct me."

robbed a suburban Portland cafe Friday afternoon and spirited away Mrs. Havelly had been stolen in Arlington earlier last week. Police said they would be questioned about several Condon and Arlington robberies and were already charged with several Portland hold-ups, including one in which the grocery clerk was wounded.

Mrs. Havelly said her captors took her to Portland after the robbery at her brother-in-law's cafe. They then drove east along the Columbia River Highway, slept in the car one night near Hoppper and then drove to the cabin where they kept her until police rescued her.

Police said the cabin was near the Harry French ranch west of Heppner.

harvest with some picking already going on, and a hurricane could wreak maximum damage on it at this time.

Gales are predicted for the glossy green groves which are concentrated inland, but many of which slope down toward the lashing waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Wind whipping through the groves would knock off millions of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines which are well along in development but not ripe enough for harvest. Most of those shaken to the ground now would be lost.

The hurricane caused postponement of the All-America Conference football game here tonight between the Miami Seahawks and the San Francisco 49ers.

B. G. Carlson Found Dead In Bed on Umpqua Ranch

Bernard C. Carlson, 42, was found dead in his bed, the apparent victim of a heart attack Saturday night, at his residence on the Ernie Short ranch at Umpqua, Sheriff O. T. Carter reported this morning. The body has been removed to the Long and Orr Mortuary.

Carlson was born at Superior, Wis., February 26, 1904, the son of Charles O. and Alma Carlson. Funeral arrangements will be announced later, pending word from the father, only known survivor.

Stolen Auto Recovered, Possessor to Face Count

The automobile of H. T. Conner, Sutherlin, stolen Sunday, was recovered at Grants Pass, Sgt. Paul E. Morgan of the state police reported. Richard Lee McCulloch, who was in possession of the car, is being held pending the filing of charges against him by Conner, Morgan said.

from the Labor Department to other agencies, transfers the council deplored.

"The split in the labor movement," the council said, "has been used as an excuse for selecting a secretary outside the ranks of labor, but it cannot be invoked to condone the dismemberment of the department instead of its expansion."

The AFL long has considered the Democratic administration has been more sympathetic with the rival CIO and has been angry with Schwelmbach for considering a CIO man to represent American Labor before the International Labor Organization. An AFL man eventually was chosen for the ILO but there still exists some resentment over the earlier consideration of the CIO.

Speeding Motorcyclist Fined, License Suspended

City police impounded the motorcycle of Robert Maxwell Hatcher early Sunday morning, after he was arrested and charged with speeding at 60 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on S. Stephens Street, and driving with no muffler and no lights, Chief of Police Erwin Short said.

When Maxwell appeared in public court this morning, he pleaded guilty to charges, and was fined $20 and his driver's license was revoked for 60 days, City Recorder A. J. Geddes said. His motorcycle, which police took in lieu of bail, was returned to him.

L. D. Sweetley, Jr., Roseburg, was fined $10 for no operator's license; Harold Hogan, Sutherlin, forfeited $20 bail on a speeding charge; T. E. Bond, transient, was fined $10 for speeding, and F. E. Braley, Vancouver, Wash., forfeited $5 bail for failure to stop at a through highway, Geddes also reported.

Utility Workers in Ohio Strike for Wage Increase

WARREN, O., Oct. 7. — (AP) — Members of the CIO-Utility Workers Union walked off their jobs today at the Ohio Public Service Co. here in a wage increase strike which threatened to curtail electrical power for Warren's 53,000 residents and 16,000 persons in nearby Niles.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7. — (AP) — A new independent union offer in the power strike which has laid a heavy hand on this industrial center for two weeks, was slated for presentation to Duquesne Light Co. officials today as department stores decided to re-open and a rebellious group within the union pushed plans for recognition.

George L. Mueller, president of the independent union of about 3,500 workers, said his group's proposal would be secret until "the company looks it over."

Slaying Threat by Mail Charged to Lakeview Man

PORTLAND, Oct. 7. — (AP) — Arrest of John Preston Ainsworth, Lakeview, on a charge of using the mail to threaten a slaying was reported today by the FBI.

The office here said Ainsworth mailed a letter to Mrs. Rosie Lapham, Klamath Falls, September 28 threatening to kill Mrs. Georgia Fisher, a landlady of Mrs. Lapham.

The FBI reported Ainsworth was the survivor of a knife-gun fight in Klamath Falls last May in which Glen Harris, Klamath Falls, died of five gunshots.

Housing Chief Declares Wood Bottlenecks Licked

SEATTLE, Oct. 7. — (AP) — Wilson W. Wyatt, National Housing Administrator, expressing confidence the plywood and lumber industry bottlenecks have been licked, was to climax a series of Northwest meetings here today preparatory to returning to the nation's capital tomorrow.

Wyatt's Northwest visit included a personal inspection into the progress of government-sponsored access logging roads now being ing constructed in the Cascade mountains.

The housing administrator predicted the end of 1947 would see the emergency demands of the nation's housing program filled.

Wyatt refused to comment on a reported builders' "revolt" in Grants Pass, Ore., as he said, he was not conversant with details. He warned, however, that if the Grants Pass builders are preparing a revolt against housing laws laid down by congress they will be revolting against the U. S. Government, not the housing authority.
