Russia that will enable the world to get back to something that looks like peace.

As long as Russia talks instead of shooting, there will be hope.

WE must remember that we are watching the poker game beside which in comparison all other poker games dwindle into insignificance.

IN Seattle last night, Ben H. Kizer, former UNRRA director in China, said in a lecture at the University of Washington that assignment of American troops in China was a blunder in the first place, but added that since they were assigned they should be left there as long as General Marshall remains—or until peace comes—to avoid disturbing the status quo. (Which is another way of saying that with the situation what it is we'd better let sleeping dogs lie.)

He then offered the extremely interesting opinion that there is NO CONTACT between the communists of Russia and the communists of China. The latter, he added, are dubbed "marmalade communists" by their Russian brethren, who look upon them as mere pikers in the communistic program.

If that is true, it is extremely important. Our great fear as to China has been that Miscow will accept the civil war there as a plausible excuse for getting into the shooting in Asia.

That would be BAD.

"WHIZZER" WHITE, one of the past greats of football, addressing the Washington (D. C.) Touchdown Club the other day, tossed a bombshell of sorts among his hearers. He said:

"I can't see why it's wrong to play college football FOR PAY if that's the only way you can get an education. You must ask yourself what might have happened to these boys if they had not had the opportunity to come to college and pay their way with football. They'll have to prove to me that these players are being hurt before I'll condemn the situation."

He is undoubtedly right.

What isn't too sweet-smelling is the system of paying college football players and then PRETENDING YOU DON'T.

IN the past couple of weeks there has been a terrific slump in the price of cotton futures on the nation's principal exchanges, and the politicians are yelling at the top of their voices that "something's gotta be done about it."

It's just barely possible that there is more cotton on hand than people are willing to buy at staggeringly high prices. But of course the politicians never consider such a possibility as that.

LETTERS to the Editor

Ridicule Heaped on Tax Bill's Opponents

The big bad wolves have done a lot of howling in the past few weeks, and the end is not yet. They must love the tone of their howl and imagine others do too. They seem to think the voters of Oregon are not very intelligent and need some one to tell them how to vote. Isn't it funny?

Yes, the State of Oregon is willing to be called the Guinea Pig. All good motives must have a beginning, so Oregon was the first state to put a tax on gasoline. The tax was used to make better highways; other states adopted the same plan, and no one stopped buying gasoline. There is a nine-cent tax on every package of cigarettes but you do not hear anyone saying they cannot pay that tax; they keep right on buying cigarets.

And now the big bad wolves say "a three per cent gross tax will ruin or bankrupt the state." That's another joke. They do not believe it themselves, but hope the voters are so dumb that they will. We realize that they have to have something to take up their spare time, so we get a lot of propaganda, lies and more lies, hoping to deceive the voters.

Why should the old folks have a pension? Can we help it that they are our parents? Even tho many lost their sons who were fighting for freedom for us. Some of the parents are still with us, with little left but grief for sons who will never return and many who return and need help, other than the little pittance handed them by our Government for broken bodies and loss of limbs.

Then there are many who never have children and can feel that in as much as they have only themselves to provide for, they can save enough for their old age. What a happy future.

So Messrs. Big Bad Wolves, keep right on howling. Your bark is worse than your bite and you are just a big joke.

TAXATION VS. SCHOOLS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The Basic School Support Fund bill, which would provide a tax levy to pay $50 per census pupil from state revenue, is a measure which is meeting much opposition from taxpayer groups.

There is no question that the bill has its bad spots from a tax standpoint, but we feel that the solution lies in altering our tax system, not in denying money sorely needed by our schools.

This bill is another example of one department trying to assure its own financial security regardless of needs of other departments. This is a practice which has reached the dangerous stage in our state.

Our State Highway Department has seized upon all licenses, fees, taxes, etc., for highway purposes. Here in Douglas County, where we have a very serious problem of maintaining logging roads, logging truck operators are paying to the state ample funds to provide good roads, but the money is spent by the Highway Department elsewhere and the burden of keeping roads passable falls upon the county. Counties and municipalities have long complained of this injustice, but with little avail. Yet it is apparent that our Highway Department needs all the revenue it receives and more, too, if it is to do an adequate job on state highways.

The Welfare Commission has grabbed liquor revenues.

Schools have usurped income tax revenues.

Meanwhile all expenses of government are mounting and some method of financing must be provided.

At present we have only limited sources of revenue, principally direct levies upon real property and income taxes. If the people of Oregon, who have defeated a sales tax on several occasions, persist in stubbornly denying recourse to this method of taxation, so obviously successful in our neighboring states, and insist on continued laboring under antiquated and obsolete taxation procedure, we can see no alternative except to saddle more and more taxes upon the only two sources of revenue open to us.

We are in dire need of a completely new tax program which will balance, property, income and sales taxes, with other revenues from fees, licenses, etc., to provide more income for general administration, pensions, schools, highways, conservation and all other public needs. We can't achieve any permanent results by putting more patches on the old building. We need a completely new structure.

It is not proper, we believe, to deny money to our schools, sorely pressed by current conditions, when the fault lies not with the schools but with our own unrealistic attitude toward our tax set-up.

Our educational system is in extreme danger. We cannot anticipate good government if we do not have an educated population. Yet today we have a famine of instructors. Thousands of retired teachers have been called back into service because of the emergency. Others lacking qualifications to meet normal teaching standards are employed. At the same time the number of young men and women training for the teaching profession has reached an all-time low. Money is lacking to provide adequate school facilities. We cannot permit these conditions to continue much longer and expect a satisfactory degree of literacy in coming generations. Our schools must be provided with money sufficient to supply facilities and to pay salaries which will make the teaching profession attractive to persons qualified for that type of work.

The Basic School Support Bill may have some faults, insofar as the principle of taxation is concerned, but it is not faulty in its motive of raising more money for school purposes.

It is our opinion that this measure should be approved by Oregon voters and that we issue an ultimatum to our legislature to bring out a realistic program of taxation which will raise revenues ample for all needs. We suggest, further, that we forget our prejudice toward sales taxes and come to realization that the sales tax must be included in an over-all system of taxation which will place the burden equitably upon all residents rather than upon a few property holders and income taxpayers.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
