Community Service Told By Red Cross Visitor

Mrs. Kenneth B. Hall, special Red Cross field representative for community services to camps and hospitals, spent Thursday and Friday of last week meeting with the Douglas County Red Cross Chapter and the Red Cross representative stationed at the Roseburg Veterans Hospital. Mrs. Hall explained the function of the community service committee and showed how the various organizations in the community can be given an opportunity to coordinate their efforts to bring service to the hospitalized veterans.

Mrs. Hall pointed out that the Red Cross initiated this service to enable those citizens who were aware of their responsibility toward those who have suffered through our national wars, to express their gratitude in an effective way through group service. The work done by the community is considered of therapeutic value and has a definite place in hospital programs.

Dr. Morris H. Roach, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, is chairman of the community service committee, and is making plans to include a widely representative group.
