FOOTBALL AND CIVIC PRIDE

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Can the Roseburg Indians beat Medford? That question is the all-absorbing topic of conversation around Roseburg this week as preparations go forward for the district championship playoff to be held Friday night at Grants Pass.

Elated by the fact that Roseburg has won a league championship after many years of disappointments, coupled with an opportunity to play in at least the first round of the state championship competition, Roseburg players and fans are "hopped up," to put it mildly, over Friday night's contest.

Comparative scores would show the two teams to be fairly evenly matched in the matter of ability. Medford reportedly has a very heavy line and a light, fast backfield. The Black Tornado has been reported to be improving with each game.

The Indians have a comparatively light team, having given weight in nearly every contest. But the backfield is unusually fast, combining the speed of Harvey, Pope, Keene and Evans, with the driving ability of Johnny Ullrich.

Roseburg's passing also is above average, with Evans, Benson, Keene and Pope being exceptionally adept at hitting targets at either close or long range.

Medford has a deceptive style of offensive play, which, coupled with power in the line, has been very troublesome to opponents throughout the season.

Players and coaches who have been opponents to both Roseburg and Medford put the two teams very much on a parity.

The Roseburg Indians will be under a psychological handicap. Medford has long been known for its football prowess, while Roseburg for years has struggled along in the mediocre class.

This situation is plainly evident in the attitude of the state's sports writers, who have barely mentioned the Roseburg Indians and their undefeated record, while Medford, because of past reputation, has received a big play.

Having become fairly well acquainted with the Roseburg team, through travelling with the squad on out-of-town games, we doubt if the fact that Medford is rated as a "big shot," and Roseburg as the underdog will weigh very heavily in the minds of the Redskins.

The Indians have shown a decided tendency this year to play the David role, and have knocked over the Goliaths with ease, while playing loosely with a lesser opponent. The 13-all tie with Cottage Grove and the 44-to-6 shellacking given Grants Pass are indicative of the team's psychological approach to games.

So, while fans may be influenced by Medford's past reputation, we doubt if the Indian squad suffers from awe. It is quite certain that if the Redskins play the same kind of ball they exhibited against Ashland and Grants Pass, the Medford Tornado will have to blow a good deal harder than in any previous game to eke out a victory.

Win, lose or draw in the Medford game, the Indians have made a record of which they may well be proud. They have proven themselves capable of a brand of football superior to anything seen locally in recent years.

They have drawn a following of fans unparalleled in Roseburg's history. It has been very noticeable in out-of-town games that the number of adult fans from Roseburg equalled or outnumbered the home-town fans.

Undoubtedly the loyalty of Roseburg football lovers has been in part responsible for the team's fine record.

Coach Mel Ingram is deserving of much appreciation for the development of the team, but more particularly for creating greater civic pride in the school's athletic program.

Roseburg needs to become more enthusiastic toward sports and recreation, and the 1946 football squad has made a most valuable contribution to civic welfare by awakening the community.

It is to be hoped that this year's successes will lead to a greater degree of support for athletic endeavors of future years, both in attendance and in a more material way.

The Roseburg schools need a more extensive athletic training program. Lack of sufficient financing, however, prevents employment of an adequate coaching staff and inauguration of training in lower grades, a factor which has been in large measure responsible for continued success in Medford, where football competition starts in the elementary schools.

This year there has been a small measure of outside financing for the Roseburg program, but in a very small amount and largely confined to inspiration rather than training. The Elks Club has financed trips for the school band to participate in out-of-town games.

Abe Bean has arranged through donations by himself and other business men to furnish the Roseburg football team a trip, with all expenses paid, to the annual East-West football game at San Francisco, New Year's Day, providing they beat Medford.

These gestures are fine as far as they go, but if Roseburg is to take its place as one of the communities, known year after year as a leading contender in the athletic field, a larger measure of cooperation must be forthcoming.

Perhaps the inspiration given this season by the Roseburg Indians will lead to closer cooperation between sports lovers and the school athletic program in the future. If so, the players will have earned the right to be doubly proud.

Anyway, their loyal followers this year are beating the drums for a victory over Medford Friday night.

reported this morning. The new rates apply to air mail sent to such places as Guam, Canal Zone, Alaska and Puerto Rico, as well as Canada and Mexico.

With the reduction in domestic air mail rates, international air mail rates have also been lowered. Ten cents will now carry letters to all of South and Central America; 15 cents to Europe, and 25 cents to Asia and Africa.

New international rates are for each half-ounce and represent a cut of 80 per cent or more from former rates.

Hart-Katonen Go To Headline Next Card at Armory

Frankie Hart, the classy Canadian who has lost but one match since his invasion of the Pacific Northwest a couple of months ago will meet Paavo Katonen, veteran Finnish grappler, in the headline attraction of Matchmaker Don Owen's weekly wrestling show at the Roseburg Armory Saturday night.

The match will be the top part of a double main-event which will feature two one-hour mat battles. A rough-and-tumble brawl is anticipated for the semi-final between Indian Ike Cazell and Ernie Piluso.

Although this week's show will not pack the interest of last week's coast championship, in which Sammy Cohen upset the Gray Mask for the light-heavyweight crown, Hart and Katonen are expected to give one of the best fundamental wrestling exhibitions of the season.

Katonen, former coast titleholder who is campaigning to regain the coveted crown, will hold the advantage over Hart in experience and power. The young Canadian, however, is expected to more than match the Finn with speed and agility.

Hart's only defeat since his appearance in the northwest was a loss to Cohen in the recent light-heavyweight elimination tournament. Since that time he has established himself as a leading favorite with Portland, Salem and Eugene grappling followers.

Both possess well-founded wrestling technique, although Katonen is slightly on the villainous side, the match is expected to be largely a scientific battle of holds and breaks.

Pre-Game Rally Scheduled Tonight

"Beat Medford" will be the chant of Roseburg High School students tonight as they turn out en masse to stage a noise parade and pre-game rally through the downtown business district.

Noise, school colors, and signs will be the order of the evening. The rally will start at 7 P. M. and will be held at the intersection of Main and Commercial streets.

The event will form at the Junior High School at 7 P. M. and tour the business districts with a serpentine of hotels and theaters and sidewalks.

To be decked out in their orange and black colors, the rallying students will be led by the local high school band and bare-knuckled drill-batonists, for one of Roseburg's most colorful, spirited football rallies.
