with ten thousand men and marched right down again. And maybe the other one: "Oh, she walked right in and she turned around and she walked right out again."

The government has talked tough before.

MOLOTOV rather unexpectedly announces that Russia is ready to accept a United States proposal that ALL members of United Nations submit complete figures on all troops, both at home and abroad.

Jump to no conclusions. It is another move on the chessboard. Later moves will make it clearer.

THE voting in Romania's election heavily favors the communists—who ran the election.

Our state department is pained, and protests—but probably isn't surprised.

Knowing that the secret police are watching him and keeping notes, he thinks twice before tipping himself off as anti-social.

Oddly enough, the Russians seem to be sincere in thinking that this is "democracy."

DEMOCRACY, you see, is a word that has almost as many definitions as "liberal."

SIGN of the times: A Washington dispatch apprises us that booklets (government-printed) on baby care have replaced free garden seeds as the favorite congressional handout.

In winning baseball's most coveted prize for the second time in his four-year major league career, the Denver, Pa., clownster who only yesterday celebrated his 26th birthday, received the highest total of points ever accorded any player since the present rating was adopted in 1938.

Musial, who also was voted most valuable in 1943 with 267 hits, posted 314 points in the balloting by a 25-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Three writers from each league city voted.

The previous high received by any player was 305 by Jimmy Foxx in 1938 while a member of the Boston Red Sox.

Second place went to Brooklyn's Dickie Walker, the "People's Choice," whose 159 points made him the poorest runner up in the last nine years.

THE trouble with the predictors (many of them, at least)—is that they "know so many things that ain't so."

Warren to Officiate in Medford-Hood River Tilt

Paul (Pill) Warren, formerly a Roseburg High School coach, was announced by the Oregon State High School Activities Association yesterday as selected referee for the Medford-Hood River semi-final contest for the state football championship at Hood River today.

Warren, who left Roseburg Senior High School faculty in 1938 to take over as track coach at Grant High School in Portland, mentored a local basketball team in the state hoop tournament in 1935. Since leaving Roseburg he has officiated at numerous Pacific Coast collegiate games.

Treasury records show that Washington overrode his first term's salary by $1,042.69 and left office without drawing $3,908 that was still due him.

MUNICIPAL PROBLEMS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The City of Myrtle Creek, being in the throes of growing pains, is facing some tough municipal problems. It has a water system suitable for a community of only about one-half Myrtle Creek's present population.

Reconstruction of the city's municipal water system will be one of the first requirements, and Councilman Henry Shtrteiff reports that a complete new plant probably will be necessary.

Myrtle Creek had an excellent water system, adequate for a population of about 500 people. But Myrtle Creek is no longer a town of 500. It is growing so rapidly that no one can even make a reasonable guess as to present population, but a municipal water system at least six times the size of the original will be necessary by the time the city can get its installation completed.

From time to time the city has added to its water supply. In one instance it built a new intake only to have the federal government come along and install a housing project which polluted the water and forced another move.

Recently the city has been pumping water out of South Myrtle Creek to supplement its supply, but this source will not long be adequate.

While plans are going forward for a new water system, with residents wondering where the money is to come from, reconstruction of the city's entire power system also is under study. Recent growth has rendered obsolete and even dangerous the present system, which is heavily overloaded.

Each meeting of city officials is given over to planning, but the trouble is that by the time a plan is formulated the city has surged so far ahead in population growth that the program is inadequate. The Fir Manufacturing Company is rapidly completing its huge plywood plant, which is expected to be in full production early next year, bringing in perhaps 800 to 1000 more residents.

Approximately 20 acres of land have been acquired and priorities secured for 80 homes as the first of several units proposed to be constructed. These will be two and three-bedroom houses, well constructed and furnished, and will be sold to employees at actual cost.

Here is a program which offers exceptional value in maintaining stable employees. Men who own their homes and have good jobs with a large concern are not apt to be radical in labor demands. They will take an interest in civic affairs, in schools and in local activities.

The problems experienced in Myrtle Creek are no different than in nearly any other Douglas County community. The names of Reedsport, Glendale, Sutherlin, Oakland, Riddle, Yoncalla, Drain, etc., could be substituted without change except in minor detail.

We take great pleasure in seeing our communities growing so rapidly, but we must not overlook the fact that the changes in conditions create many difficult problems which require the whole-hearted cooperation of all citizens for solution.

'Most Valuable' Player Vote Again Goes to Musial

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Stanley Musial, stellar first baseman of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals and his league's batting king with a .365 average, today was named the National League's most valuable player in 1946.

In winning baseball's most coveted prize for the second time in his four-year major league career, the Denver, Pa., clownster who only yesterday celebrated his 26th birthday, received the highest total of points ever accorded any player since the present rating was adopted in 1938.

Musial, who also was voted most valuable in 1943 with 267 hits, posted 314 points in the balloting by a 25-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. Three writers from each league city voted.

The previous high received by any player was 305 by Jimmy Foxx in 1938 while a member of the Boston Red Sox.

Second place went to Brooklyn's Dickie Walker, the "People's Choice," whose 159 points made him the poorest runner up in the last nine years. The Dodgers' popular veteran rightfielder, whose .323 batting average and 116 runs batted in almost brought Brooklyn its first pennant since 1941, did not receive a first place vote.

Goeltz Wins Over Cohen; Tony Ross Defeats Cazzell

Billy Goeltz, ex-GI from Tennessee, making his first Roseburg appearance in the Oregon wrestling wars, split two falls with Sammy Cohen in the main event at the Armory Thursday night and won in the third round without a referee's decision because of the Hebrew's flagrant foul tactics.

Cohen garnered the first fall with a surfboard hold in 12:25. Goeltz evened the score in the second stanza in 6:50 with a prone back stretch. The over-all time limit of 30 minutes was finished in the third round without either grappler gaining a fall. Twice during this period, Referee Elton Owen offered the verdict to the Southerner when Cohen persisted in violating the rules, but Goeltz refused to accept it. When the going ended the battle at the end of 9 minutes, Sammy appeared on the verge of defeat after being heavily slammed by two successive whiplashes.

There was a roar of acclaim from the 500 spectators when, at the end of the bout, Owen raised Goeltz' hand as a signal of victory that carried the top prize money of the night's card. Cohen's nasty methods throughout the battle seemed to have erased much of the prestige he gained two weeks ago when he wrestled the coast light-heavy weight championship from the equally mouthfoxy Grey Mack. His title was not at stake in his bout with Goeltz.

Ross Defeats Cazzell In the semi-final Thursday night, Tony Ross defeated "Big Injun" Ike Cazzell in 12:25 in a combat that must have fully satisfied all fans present who like their wrestling rough to the nth degree. The argument ended when the 185-pound Tony picked up his 205-pound opponent and whammed him across one knee in a back-breaker.

The card opened with a nothing-barred battle royal that furnished plenty of excitement. First of the six entrants eliminated was Billy McElin, who was disposed of in 4 minutes. He was followed two minutes later by Carl Grey. In another minute, Cazzell was ousted and Ross followed him by 5 minutes, leaving Cohen and Goeltz as the finalists.

This was announced as the last wrestling card at the Armory until Saturday, November 30.

The right is hereby reserved to waive technical defects in this advertisement; to reject all bids, or to award the timber for the amount of the highest bid to other than the highest bidder when necessary, pursuant to the Act of August 28, 1937 (50 Stat. 874), in order to provide a continued supply of timber to local industry so as to assure the permanence of the community which is dependent upon such industry. Dated at Portland, Oregon, this 15th day of November, 1946. W. H. Horning, Chief Forester, O. & C. Administration.

DIAL LOG

Our weather eye tells us that the fellows sitting around their radios listening to the Oregon-Oregon State game are going to be the lucky ones. Anybody want to buy a couple of tickets? Broadcast starts at 1:45. This is an anything-can-happen-here game, so don't miss it.

Almost any radio program produces its quota of stories about listener reaction. Let George Do It had a show a short time ago in which the script was built around the housing situation. Result... a phone call from a conscientious landlady who wanted to tell George she had an apartment for rent.

Let George Do It goes on tonight at 8:00 o'clock... It's good listening for the entire family.

Remember, too, that Burl Ives brings you his songs to-night at 8:30. This show draws a four-star rating, too.

We're sorry to say that Spotlight Bands bows out tonight... Blame it on the sugar shortage.
