Insurance Phases Discussed by Berg, Back From Meet

Complete readjustment in loan values, as result of increased appraisals of property, is apparent throughout the country, says Charles V. Berg, president of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce, who returned this week from a meeting of Prudential Life Insurance Co. agents at Atlantic City, N. J.

Appraisals have increased 28 per cent in the New England states. Highest increase in the nation is shown at Los Angeles, where property values have jumped 150 per cent, Berg said.

At the insurance meet, Berg attended a seminar on the investment features of insurance. A change was noted here, too, he said. There has been an increase in annuity payments. In some instances, insurance companies have had to dip into reserve funds to meet the conservative trend toward annuity investments.

Building Slows Down: In a general review of conditions, Berg said that building construction is tapering off in the East for lack of materials.

Berg was caught in New York City on the first day of the coal strike. In his hotel, notices were posted that rail services from the city would be curtailed 25 per cent. Since he had reservations to depart on the New York Central, he hurried to Grand Central terminal to verify his reservations.

There were 119,000 ahead of me with the same idea, he said. Berg, however, contrived to leave the city in a drawing room section. During his trip, he was also snowbound for several hours in Idaho and Montana.

Berg Franks Also Speaks: The Rotary program also included a "five-minute" talk by Bob Franks, who told of his "trip west" from his birthplace in England in 1905. He was brought by his parents from a small town on the English coast, over the Atlantic to Canada, into the United States through Detroit.

Franks received his schooling in Iowa, where the family settled, and he came to Oregon after 26 years. He has been in Roseburg ever since. His first job was as a store manager, then with a grocery store of his own.

Committee for the Rotary student loan fund was named at the meeting. Frank Denton and Hans F. Hansen will serve one year; Charles Emery and Morris H. Roach, two years; Paul S. Elliott and J. V. Long, three years. Temporary loans to deserving college students will be made from the fund.

Completion of re-planting of the new Juniper Gift Shop at 230 N. Stephens Street was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Ruseel A. Kiefer, Jr., owners and operators.

The shop now has an attractive display of all types of practical gifts of banded Juniper wood, a new product finished with a hard, acid resistant lacquer and mirror finish. This type of Juniper is found only in the Lava beds near Bend, Ore., and in the Holy Land, and according to the Oregon State Forestry Department, is the oldest wood in the world.

FOOTBALL LESSONS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The Lions Club held its annual banquet for the Roseburg High School football team Thursday night. Each year, following the close of the football season, the Lions Club prepares a banquet to which it invites the members of the squad, fathers and various guests. It always is an enjoyable occasion and is a tribute the players well deserve.

As a feature of the banquet, trophies were awarded to players voted to be outstanding in the several departments of play.

This practice of voting all-star teams, selecting players for special honors, etc., is doubtless an essential part of the follow-up in athletic competition, because of inspirational effect. It is only human nature to work a little harder, give a little more energy, fight a little more, if that effort will win recognition, honor and reward. Such prizes and accolades are indeed merited, but too often we place emphasis upon individuality rather than teamwork.

The man who carries the ball gets his name in headlines but quite frequently the fellow who opened the hole for the ball carrier gets his name only in the small type of the summary.

Usually, when you see a sensational gain in football, it results, not so much from the ability of the ball carrier, but rather, from the fact that his teammates efficiently executed their blocking assignments and thus cleared the path for his gain.

When a football team goes as far as did the Roseburg Indians in the past season it is because the men composing that squad worked as a TEAM. Naturally, some players have better coordination, greater strength, superior timing, more competitive spirit than others. They are the players who receive special awards and honorable mention. But even with their physical advantages they would not be so spectacular were it not for teamwork.

There is a nasty little rumor afloat in the sports fraternity that the reason for Army's poor showing against Navy resulted from the publicity given the Army's crack backfield men, Blanchard and Davis, and that the Cadets purposely muffed blocking assignments and left the ball carriers on their own. Probably the rumor is not true and the close score more plausibly resulted from overconfidence. But results of that game show what can happen, even to All-Americans, when the spirit of teamwork is absent.

It was Sir Walter Scott who said: "And life is itself but a game of football." And the saying "The battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton," is attributed to the Duke of Wellington.

How much simpler and easier life would be today if we but put into practice the lessons learned upon the gridiron. We applied those lessons in the emergency of war, when we demonstrated to the world a miracle of production, resulting from the greatest mass exhibition of teamwork in the world's history. But with the passing of the emergency it appears that every player insists upon being a star. No one is willing to be a blocker, or take punishment in the center of the line. As a result, our championship team is taking a drubbing from an opponent which could be beaten by the second string.

trees are so rare that only one in a thousand are reported as usable, being exceptionally slow in growth. They live on thin air and snow, with roots taking hold in the fissures and crevices of the lava beds, granite domes and rocky ridges.

Began by Leroy F. Roebuck, the Bend manufacturing plant includes its own logging equipment, finishing facilities and wholesale business. The banded Juniper requires no curing.

7 Here Will Take Scholarship Test

Seven students of Roseburg High school were chosen by the senior class to take the Pepsi-Cola scholarship test to be given in February. These tests are open to all seniors in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

The candidates, chosen locally are: John Ulrich, Pat Lamm, Dorothy Thompson, Georgene Shanklin, Agnes Wilson, Charles Laurie and Keith Henson.

The examination, written and approximately two hours in length, is patterned after the general scholastic aptitude tests and college entrance examinations. Winners will be announced in April with two scholarships being awarded in Oregon, which will consist of payment of full tuition for four college years at any accredited institution. All other fees will also be paid.

The five runners-up for each scholarship will receive certificates of merit. These certificates are accompanied by a cash award of 50 dollars which is given, provided the winner enters an accredited college by the fall of 1947.

Tickets on Sale for Tuesday Hoop Battle: Reserve tickets for the Roseburg-Myrtle Creek basketball game Tuesday night at the local Senior High court went on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office this morning.

Orchestra Again Dated: The orchestra will have their second appearance in Roseburg Sunday night, December 8, at Kennedy's Dutch Mill. This famous dance band was well received by dancers at the Elks ballroom last week.

RHS Quint Loses To Myrtle Creek; Warriors Triumph

An over-confident Roseburg Indian squad dropped its season's opening basketball game last night, 23-21, to a well-drilled Myrtle Creek club before a packed house at the Village court.

The Roseburg Warriors, junior varsity squad to the Indians, beat the Viking Bees in the night's preliminary 32-17.

Both contests were coaching duels, John Newby's Indians and Warriors attempting a fast-break attack, but hampered by the small court, and Vikings' Forrest Loghry employing a slower but similar attack based around screening plays and coordinated blocks.

Newby and Loghry, both serving their first year at the helm of the two teams, spent four years together as schoolmates and teammates while attending Pacific University.

An all-night Myrtle Creek shifting defense proved very effective in bottling up the Indians' fast-breaking on the inside floor, but was crumbled several times by the aggressiveness of Gary Piper and Bill Benson in the forward court area, and the keyhole tactics of Darrel Blank, promising lanky sophomore center.

Roseburg's ball-handling and failing to take advantage of numerous chances at open shots, the Indians appeared over-confident throughout the main event. They attempted only 36 shots in the contest.

New at all distressed by the squad's loss, Coach Newby stated that they would try to get over the opening five-game hurdle as experimental contests, seeking real wins once they enter tri-county league play which opens here against St. Mary's January 10.

With the Indians' second team starting the game, the Vikings kept up point for point until midway in the third period, when they surged ahead with Hanna dropping in two in a row to pull the Warriors into a lead which they held to the end.

Trailing 14-18 at the fourth period, the Indians began a futile drive, spurred by Piper, only to see Myrtle Creek also rally and hold its lead of 23-21.

Myrtle Creek's attack was led by Hanna, who scored 12 points during the evening. The defensive spotlight for the Vikings shined off Weaver, who proved invaluable in staying off numerous Indian attempts at the hoop.

Warriors Win Easily: The Warriors' 32-17 win over the Bees was inevitable from the initial tip-off in spite of their ragged ball-handling.

Made up of sophomores and juniors, and prospective material for the varsity team this season, the Warriors proved themselves more adept at sinking the ball than their rivals, with Bees successfully penetrating the Roseburg defense only to miss the bucket.

Dave Piper, guard, proved outstanding in the ball-hawking department, feeding Feldkamp, rugged center, and forward Coen breakaway.

The Myrtle Creek aggregation will run into a more formidable foe in the return match on the Indians' maples with the return to the line-up of Lester Baird, sharp-shooting forward of last year's squad. Baird's scholastic eligibility will be regained Monday.

'Fighting Littles' Billed Dec. 12 By Junior Class Cast: "The Fighting Littles," this year's Roseburg junior class play, based on a story by Booth Tarkington, will be presented at the local school auditorium at 8:00 P. M., December 12.

The three-act comedy of the troubles of the Little family is certain of being a success, Mrs. Grier, instructor and play director, states in that the casting surprised the usual night school presentation character portrayals.

The play is built around the fact that each member of the Little family has his own idea of the way life should be lived and all of them see, except Mother, who is too busy trying to keep the peace.

DRAMA MYSTERY COMEDY

Meet The Press, 6:30 tonight; Love Story Theatre at 8:00; Juvenile Jury at 8:30. This is the Jury's last appearance at this time. News at 9:00; wrestling matches at the Army at 9:30 and pop tunes (mostly sweet) at 10:30. That's your line-up for tonight's listening.

Your attention, please! President Truman will speak at 6:30 this Sunday evening. Subject: His appeal to the coal miners. Talk is scheduled to last for twenty minutes but may run longer. Double or Nothing will be canceled for this one time only.

"The Shadow" tops all Sunday afternoon shows according to latest Hooper survey. This week's story is a gruesome little concoction that includes a swamp, a power-mad woman, terror, madness and death, and is titled "The Devil Takes a Wife." If you like 'em good and gory... tune in at 2:00.

Recommended family listening for Sunday: Exploring the Unknown at 6:00 tells the story of control of "drone" planes by radar and radio, and the latest in television remote-control aircraft. Name That Song and Twenty Questions... Always good entertainment for all ages.
