Killer's Parents Offer to Adopt Victim's Children

VANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 13. (AP)—Paul Green, whose 16-year-old adopted son is accused of killing Ralph Porritt, 49, for $12, has offered to adopt the slain man's four homeless children.

D. M. Gilpin, chief Clark County probation officer, said Mr. and Mrs. Paul Green, Lake Grove, Ore., had telephoned him to offer a home or financial assistance to the four Porritt youngsters. The Greens, a childless couple who always wanted a son, 10 years ago took a small boy named Albert. Today Albert is held in Hillsboro, Ore., where District Attorney Morgan said he confessed shooting Porritt on a lonely road to rob him of $12.

The Greens said young Albert had always been rather "hard to manage."

Their offer to adopt the slain man's children probably will not be accepted, the probation officer said. Mrs. Lloyd Lewis Porritt's ex-wife and mother of the children, came here from Salt Lake City to ask custody of them. She told the probation officer her second husband was willing to take the youngsters, aged 15, 14, 11, and 10.
