One imagines that Marshall's feeling, as he wings his way homeward over the foggy north Atlantic, is that while the Moscow conference wasn't very good it could have been worse.

Time will tell us a lot of things we don't know now.

PORTLAND dispatches Inform us that the Oregon highway commission is "readying an attack" on acts of the recent legislature that increase the amount of money diverted from the uses of the state highway program to the uses of the cities and counties.

The form the "attack" may take isn't yet known. The highway commission's lawyers will look into the situation and make a report at the next meeting.

THE trouble is that EVERYBODY needs more money these days. The highway commission says it needs all it can lay hands on for dollar-for-dollar matching of federal highway funds.

The cities and the counties make no bones about their needs. They've got to have everything they can get to make their budgets come out anywhere near even. They made such a good case along this line before the legislature that they were given a considerably larger split out of the highway revenues.

THIS situation arises out of the simple fact that we all want more FROM GOVERNMENT than we are willing to put back INTO GOVERNMENT.

That is the inevitable backwash of the "leave it to Papa" era when we spent like drunken sailors without knowing where Papa was going to get the money. During this era, we were taught that it wouldn't cost US anything.

We know now where Papa got it. He went to the bank and borrowed it. It is up to us to pay off the debt.

Labor Official's Ouster

Protested by CIO-IWA

PORTLAND, Ore., April 28—(AP)—Dismissal of Labor Commissioner George Brewer by the Federal Conciliation Service has resulted in a protest by the CIO International Woodworkers of America.

James E. Fadling, IWA president, said the lay-off of Brewer, the result of personnel reduction by the service, would disrupt negotiations between the union and the fir industry now in progress.

Brewer, who is scheduled to go off the payroll tomorrow, was called into the negotiations when the union and employer groups became deadlocked.

Fadling said Brewer had averted a strike so far, but noted the union has taken a strike vote which will mean men will come out of the woods when discussions fail. He said the employers were to answer union demands Wednesday.

THE LEGION'S PROGRAM

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The American Legion is engaged in an all-out campaign in support of universal military training bills it is sponsoring in Congress. The Legion's plan would require four months of basic training with the National Security Training Corps at some period between the candidate's 18th and 20th birthdays.

We can anticipate a great deal of public discussion of the American Legion's program during the ensuing months, but we predict Congress will be more inclined to listen to the voice of the Legion now than in 1919-20, when ex-doughboys of the First World War came home with demands for "adequate defense."

The American Legion was a new and untried organization when it began plugging for a system of military training and preparations for military defense 28 years ago. Because it was new, and because its membership was composed of young men, supposedly lacking in maturity of judgment, national leaders chose to snub and ignore the young upstarts who insisted that this country take steps to defend itself against another war.

Pacifists stumped the country preaching against "sadist veterans" who in their "thirst for blood" would create a nation of "killers." The American Legion was pictured as an organization striving to promote war. Thousands upon thousands of young people were prevailed upon to take a solemn pledge "never to bear arms" in a shooting war. Today many of the young men who idealistically signed that pledge lie dead in graves on foreign soil, murdered by the well-inclined but sadly mistaken pacifists who denied to them the training which would have given many of the nation's World War II dead an opportunity for survival.

War statistics furnish ample proof that the adequately trained soldier has far better chance to escape death or serious injury than the hurriedly prepared combatant. The 41st division, the Pacific Northwest's heroic National Guard organization, for instance, bore one of the hardest assignments of the war. It made more amphibious landings, stayed in continuous combat longer, fought more crucial battles, than almost any other division in the late war. It holds a record number of citations, yet, despite the hardships of jungle warfare, its casualty list was extremely low. This achievement was the result of extensive training in the art of survival and in physical conditioning. To send hastily trained men into warfare means increasing the proportion of casualties.

It is to be sincerely hoped we do not have another war, but present portents are not favorable. Yet, even though we may escape an immediate war, we still have ahead the crucial period, for history shows great struggles to be spaced at approximately 25-year intervals.

Had we followed the advice given by the American Legion after the First World War, we very probably would have escaped the last war. Because we were caught without adequate military force, we were forced to sit idly by while aggressors seized Manchuria and Ethiopia, and openly tested their war machines in hapless Spain. Had we been prepared to stop aggression at its inception, World War II doubtless could have been averted.

But the American Legion did not fight for its program 28 years ago. It allowed the "older" and more "mature" minds to lull us into false confidence. Today, however, there are old heads in the Legion and there also is the aggressiveness of youth. Furthermore, there is the strength of numbers. The Legion apparently is prepared this time to fight for its program. In a world which appears to have respect only for force, it is time we became realistic and recognized that a program of universal military training is vital to our hopes of national security—at least until a more practical formula for world peace than now is apparent has been offered and accepted.

Twin Bill Splits In All Games Put Portland at Top

(By the Associated Press)

They split the Sunday double headers up and down the Pacific Coast League yesterday.

The day's firing in the tight race left the Portland Beavers on top of the heap by a shade over Los Angeles Angels, with San Diego and Sacramento in hot pursuit.

Los Angeles, winning the opener, 6 to 3, from the Portland club had the Beavers' Tommy Bridges, who hurled a no-hitter last week, in trouble virtually all the way until he was replaced in the eighth inning. Portland took the second game, 4 to 3, stopping an Angel uprising in the sixth. Garriott of Los Angeles had four hits during the day, including a homer off Bridges in the first game.

Oakland copped the first game from San Diego, 4 to 3, on Buxton's four-hit pitching but the Padres came back to take the nightcap, 2 to 1, with some fancy pitching of their own. Salvo's five-hit job.

In Seattle Novikoff, the Rainiers' clouting outfielder, had a big day for himself with five hits, including a home run and two doubles. Seattle won the opener, 6 to 4, from San Francisco but the Beavers grabbed the

Cardinals, Bosox Off Titular Form At Season's Start

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

What has happened to the Cards and Red Sox? It is still a bit early for too much concern but already calamity hooters are peering at the lowly position occupied by the defending champions in the current major league pennant races.

Instead of at least duplicating last year's early showing when they won nine of their first 11 games, the corresponding days of the Red Sox, completely about wave, have dropped seven of their first nine starts against their western rivals to find themselves sharing a cellar berth with the New York Giants, five full games behind the first place Brooklyn Dodgers.

For instance, in absorbing a 3-0 shutout at the hands of the Cubs in Chicago yesterday, the Redbirds climaxed a nine-game stretch during which they made only 58 hits on 290 times at bat for the Red Sox who were average. No. 1 single St. Louis player is hitting .300.

The Cubs moved into second place, one game behind the Dodgers.

Red Sox Also Waver

Although not disappointing as the Cards, Boston's Red Sox have not looked at all like the club which swept aside all opposition in easy fashion last year. Playing a majority of their 11 games against the jowly Philadelphia Athletics, the Sox have won only five and tied one.

As they head west for their first extended road trip, they are only a game and a half behind the first place New York Yankees, but on the gloomier side, are the same distance away from last place.

The Sox had to come from behind to earn a standoff yesterday as rain halted the first game of a scheduled doubleheader with the Red Sox and A's deadlocked, 6-6, at the end of nine innings. The game was washed out.

Trailing 6-5, the Sox tied the score in the last of the eighth.

Yanks Gain Top Spot

Although they spoiled Babe Ruth day for the fans at the Yankee Stadium by losing to Hudson against the Yankees, the Sox have not lost a game since. The Yankees had the satisfaction of taking over first place from the Chicago White Sox, who dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Browns at St. Louis, 4-2 and 3-2.

The Dodgers, who lost only once in their last 13 meetings with the New York Giants at Ebbets Field, climaxed an uphill battle with a run in the ninth to win, 9-8.

The Cincinnati Reds took two from Pittsburgh by virtually the same margin for the third place. Walters, veteran Redleg right-hander, gave up six hits to win the opener, 6-1, and Helti won a twelve inning, 2-1 hurling duel from Ostermuller in the finale.

Two former American League pitchers, Dutch Leonard and Schoolboy Rowe, pitched the Philadelphia Phils to identical 3-4 triumphs over the Boston Braves in Shibe Park. Ex-American leaguer Jim Tabor's ninth inning home run broke up the second game.

Rain forced the postponement of the scheduled Detroit-Cleveland contest.

Hess, Southpaw Hurler, Signed by Tri-County

Jim Hess, southpaw hurler with the Portland Beavers and Salem Senators prior to Marine Corps service, was signed last week by Tri-County's semi-pro club for mound duty this season in the Southern Oregon Baseball League. Tri-County (Myrtle Creek, Canyonville and Riddle), opens its season at the home diamond at Canyonville May 18 against Roseburg's Umpqua Chiefs.

Managing this year's club will be newly signed "Dutch" Leiber, who has had 10 years of Pacific Coast League experience and four years in the Major Leagues.

Umpqua Chiefs Swamp Myrtle Point, 29 to 3

Coach Howard "Hoi" Turner's Umpqua Chiefs observed Babe Ruth Day yesterday at Myrtle Point by trouncing a Merchant nine, 29 to 3, in both clubs' initial non-conference game of the season. The Pointers play a return contest in Roseburg Sunday, May 4.

With one of the fastest infields in the history of Roseburg's diamond products, the Chiefs were given little opposition as pre-season practice and a roughly graded field took its toll over the Myrtle Point club.

Roseburg's hitting power reached its pre-season climax as they sustained 27 hits out of 56 times at the plate. Myrtle Point was out of the game in the first inning.

LaBelle Defeats Trudell; Cortez Downed by Ross

Returning to the local mat was after several months' absence, Pierre LaBelle turned in a triumph in Saturday night's headliner at the Armory by taking the second and third falls of a 3-fall bout over Benny Trudell, rough and tough Canadian ex-lumberjack. LaBelle looked like a winner in the first round, when he met the Canadian "meanie" at his own game and knocked him over the ropes onto the floor. Trudell rallied, however, and eventually pinned LaBelle with a prone back stretch in 12-54.

In the second stanza, LaBelle subdued Trudell with a series of drop kicks in 8-24, after twice fastening flying head scissors holds on the Canadian that yanked him over the ropes and back onto the mat from a refuge stance outside the ring. LaBelle won the third and deciding fall in 6-05, catching Trudell on a backward rebound from the ropes and doubling him up in a jack-knife hold.

Ross Defeats Cortez

In the supporting bout of the card, Tony Ross won two straight falls from Pedro Cortez, a Brazilian, making his first appearance here. The newcomer proved to be fast and clever, but he was outwitted 13 pounds. At that, he forced Tony to take refuge in the ropes several times to stave off apparent defeat. The first round saw each man belted through the ropes, and Tony added a kick-back into the ring. For this flagrant foul, Referee Elton Owen offered the fall to Cortez. The Brazilian declined the verdict, only to succumb later to a jack-knife hold; time, 19-33. Tony's luck broke, he decided the bout in 12-04 of the second round. Boos and epithets followed him from the mat, while the cheers of the crowd went to the loser.
