capacity of older elevators has been increased. Most of the country's grain elevators are now EMPTY and waiting for the new crop.

It looks all around as if these billion bushels of winter wheat can be handled with a minimum of delay.

PERHAPS more encouraging than anything else is this demonstration that America's farms are still capable of RECORD-BREAKING PRODUCTION. In a world whose greatest need is production and still more production, the American farmer has done his part.

ONE big problem remains. This huge crop of winter wheat and the spring wheat crop that will follow it must be got to hungry people. Most of the world's hungry people lie beyond the borders of the United States.

In general, these hungry people have little enough with which to PAY for the food they need. American wheat must be paid for with American dollars—for we decline to accept foreign currencies. Dollars with which to pay for American food can be obtained in only three ways:

1. By buying them with gold.
2. By exchanging THINGS for them.
3. By BORROWING them.

THERE is only so much gold in the world (what has been produced in the past and what is being mined from day to day) and we have most of it. The nations that are hungriest have already disposed of the bulk of their gold. Before THINGS can be exchanged for American dollars (with which to buy American food and other products) the things must be PRODUCED. Production has broken down throughout a large part of the world—particularly in the countries that are hungriest.

So, if hungry people are to obtain our food and other products which they sorely need, we must LEND THEM THE DOLLARS. Either that or we will be unable to sell our surplus because our customers will be unable to buy.

THAT raises another question: If we lend the dollars, how can they be repaid?

TO that question, there is only one answer. They must be repaid with THINGS produced by other peoples and traded to us for what we have to sell. If we refuse to accept THINGS in return for the dollars we have lent (as we did after the last war) the loans will never be repaid. We learned that lesson after World War I.

Annual Poppy Sale Opens Tomorrow

"Honor the war dead and aid the war's living victims" will be the theme of the annual observance of Poppy Day tomorrow and Saturday. Every person in Roseburg will be asked to wear a memorial poppy tomorrow and to make a contribution for the welfare of the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

Preparations for Poppy Day were being completed today by a large committee of American Legion Auxiliary women, headed by Mrs. Betty Moore, poppy chairman of Umpqua Post, No. 16.

Volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and cooperating groups will be on the streets at an early hour tomorrow and Saturday distributing the poppies and receiving the contributions.

The poppies to be distributed here have been made by disabled veterans at the Roseburg Veterans Hospital. Auxiliary workers will all be unpaid volunteers, permitting the full amount of all contributions to go into the Aus-

ENCOURAGING FISHING

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Dale Vincent, who resides on the beautiful Rogue river, writes a feature, "Beside The Rogue," which appears daily in several Southern Oregon newspapers. It is a clever feature, containing much homely philosophy, interesting comment and pertinent news. In a recent report he said:

While at Roseburg we went to the seat of authority and asked about fishing on the Umpqua this year.

We learned some startling facts: Roseburg now has a boom from sawmills—the same as we—so—

She is discouraging fishing and building up her salmon and steelhead—in order that, when her timber is gone, she will have a surplus of fish for the sportsmen, who will flock to that valley with millions of dollars.

At the present time, sportsmen inquiring at Roseburg about fishing are being directed to the Rogue, which throws an additional strain on our rivers—at a time when we, too, should be building up our fish resources.

It is estimated that sports fishermen spend $2 in our valley for every pound of fish they catch. A half million more fish in the Rogue River would mean twenty million more tourist dollars.

Sport fishing is an important industry—a self sustaining one—that will endure long after the trees, that now feed the sawmills, are gone.

Vincent's conclusions with regard to the sports fishery show an insight into an opportunity which all too few people realize. Proper stream management in Oregon can furnish us an industry which will rank with timber and agriculture in importance, and continue its importance long after the timber industry has stripped away our virgin forest cover.

If the people of our state only realized the importance of our recreational resources, they would not permit for one minute the wasteful and destructive practices now prevailing.

Roseburg is not discouraging fishing exclusively to build for the future. Restoration of the river's fish population, critically depleted in late years, is, of course, the primary objective. But another factor lies in truthful advertising. We do not believe it advantageous, even though we might profit thereby, to attract tourists here for fishing when the river does not afford a reasonable opportunity to catch fish. Consequently we cannot ethically invite sports fishermen to the Umpqua for spring and summer fishing, when we know full well they would go away disappointed.

This, naturally, increases fishing intensity on neighboring streams during spring and summer months.

The Umpqua, however, will reciprocate by carrying the load during the fall season. Smart fishermen already are looking to the Umpqua for their fall fishing excursions. The river has a substantial run of silverside salmon. Available this year will be 20,000 or more fish which under ordinary circumstances would be taken in nets. If sports fishermen take even one half that number, the fame of the Umpqua will be heralded from coast to coast. The Umpqua, in the tidewater section, will be the mecca of fishermen from all parts of the country within a few years, if the silverside run continues at a normal level.

Figure it out: If the nets took 20,000 fish, weighing 10 pounds each, on an average, which is approximately last year's catch, that means 200,000 pounds, which, at $2 per pound—the experience of the Rogue River Valley with revenue from the sports fishery—would provide $400,000 in income for only one season of the year, providing the sports fishermen took fish in equal numbers to the nets. Sports fishermen will not take that many fish. On the other hand, they will spend more than $2 per pound, because salmon trolling is expensive. The majority of fishermen will be non-residents. This means they must travel to the tidewater area by car, hire a boat, purchase automobile and outboard motor fuels, buy two or three meals, possibly rent a cabin for a few days, etc. If the cost is less than $5 per pound of fish taken, we'll be greatly surprised.

We agree with Vincent that sport fishing is an important industry.

illary's rehabilitation and child welfare work. Poppy Day in Roseburg will be part of a national observance in which an estimated 125,000 Auxiliary women will issue approximately 25,000,000 poppies.

Cubs Recapture Top Position in National League

By the Associated Press.
The Chicago Cubs recaptured first place in the National League yesterday by shading the Philadelphia Phils, 2-1. They lead the New York Giants by nine percentage points, marked the Cubs' fifth straight win over Philadelphia, all by one run.

Brooklyn submerged the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 10 innings. Left-handed Joe Hatten opened up for Brooklyn and was replaced by Hugh Casey, who went on to gain his third victory of the season.

Lavagetto, veteran Dodger third sacker, broke up the game with a run-scoring single in the 10th off starting and losing pitcher Brecheen.

Rookie Blanks Tigers. Frank Shen, rookie right-hander of the New York Yankees, gained his first major league shutout and his fourth triumph by outpitching the mighty lefty, Hal Newhouser, of the Detroit Tigers, 5-0.

Handcuffed for seven innings, the Philadelphia Athletics came to life in the eighth with a five-run rally against rookie Pete Griban and two successors to defeat the Chicago White Sox 5-2. It was Chicago's first loss in the last five games.

Bobo Newsom gained his first win of the season and his 195th of his big league career when he pitched the Washington Senators to a 7-3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

The Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates were not scheduled while the only day game in the American League between Cleveland and the Red Sox at Boston was postponed by rain. Rain also washed out the scheduled game between the New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds at Cincinnati.

Oaks Shove Seals Down Into Tie With Angelinos

By the Associated Press.
The San Francisco Seals were suffering from Oaks-poisoning today.

It's because the Oakland Oaks smacked down the Pacific Coast League leaders, 8-2, showing them back into a tie with the Los Angeles Angels who busted Sacramento, 8-3.

Oakland's Tom Hefey, allowing eight hits, bested a quartet of Seals pitchers, Melton, whose string of 32 scoreless innings snapped Liem, Russo and Jensen. The Oaks slapped the apple around for 15 hits.

They acquired a tie for third place with Portland, as the Beavers lost to Hollywood, 3-0, in the first shutout of the last-place Stars have manufactured this season in 50 games.

Orphan handed the Hollywood pitching chore, allowing Portland seven scattered hits. The Stars got 10 off Di Biasi who stayed the whole game.

Seattle swiped a close one from San Diego, 3-2, on the seven-hit pitching of Cecil, formerly with the Padres.

Clem Howard Doubie Winner at Golf Tourney

Clem Howard won the men's golf tournament at the Country Club May 21, shooting a 39 for the nine holes, and also annexed the title in a five-way tie with Rolystyn Bridges, Bob Kelley, Pat Collier, Bill Courter and Bob Harris deadlocked with net 35's. Special prizes went to Joe Perault for blind bogey and Bob Harris for long drive.

The Roseburg team will play the Eugene Country Club team at Roseburg on Sunday, May 25.

Apostoli Beats Turner In Comeback Campaign

OAKLAND, Calif., May 22.—(P)—Fred Apostoli, the former middleweight champion who is well along on a comeback campaign at 33, marked off tough Earl Turner of Richmond, Calif., as another victim and set his sights today on a return to big time boxing.

The onetime San Francisco bellboy scored a 10-round decision over Turner, California welterweight champion, in a slam-bang fight here last night. Apostoli weighed 157 to Turner's 151.

'GRADS' OMIT CEREMONY
SUTHERLIN — Eighth grade students at Sutherlin have decided to hold no graduation or promotion ceremony this year, due to a change in school attendance requirements brought about by the state legislature. Superintendent of Schools Ivan C. Parker reported.

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh.
When Ed's Crops Failed
Three years ago Ed Smith's luck went bad. His crops failed, and it wasn't long before Ed's home and furnishings were up for auction.

Half the town turned out, and Ed must have thought his neighbors were a bunch of hungry vultures—buying up all his precious possessions for a song.

When it was over, and the auctioneer had left, Sam Abernathy turns to the crowd and says: "All right, folks, let's take time out for a glass of beer, and then put this stuff back where it belongs!"

Two hours later, Ed was in possession of his home and furnishings; and the folks who'd paid for them were sitting around Ed's fire enjoying a neighborly glass of beer—to show their friendship and their confidence in Ed.

Today, Ed's back on his feet—another constructive member of the community. And from where I sit, we've all been well repaid—a good investment in a good man.
