In the Day's News

had estimated that in the three-day holiday 275 persons would be killed in motor mishaps alone throughout the nation. In the four-day holiday last year, there were 292 violent deaths, of which 164 were traffic fatalities. Death on the road is running behind schedule so far, but two days of the holiday still remain.

IN Oregon, one of the most moderate and sensible of the states, only one violent death has been reported so far. A woman, crossing the road near Dayton, up in the Willamette valley, was hit by a truck as she left her parked car and started across the highway to a fruit stand on the other side.

That might have happened any day of the week.

THE communists (meaning the Russians) have apparently taken over in Hungary.

There was a ruckus over there, you will remember, the other day. Nagy, the anti-communist premier, was accused by the Russians of engineering a plot to "upset democracy." Two other Hungarian anti-communists were included in the accusation. All were forced out of office.

The point to keep in mind is that according to the Russian definition anything that interferes with communism is a plot against democracy. The "plot" was nipped in the bud, and Hungary seems now to be safe in the hands of the communist faithful—all without bothering with an election.

THERE is political trouble in Italy—more of it, that is.

De Gasperi—who has tried three times already to "form a cabinet"—as they term getting some sort of government into action over there—is making a fourth try. This time he is taking the bull by the horns, tossing out all communists and all socialists and making his cabinet wholly out of Christian Democrats, who are on the conservative or "rightist" side.

He isn't expected to get very far. Even his Christian Democrat aides concede that in freezing out the leftists entirely he has placed himself in a "precarious position."

Politics in much of Western Europe these days is a good deal like an exciting and well-matched dog fight. First one dog is on top, and then the other. Meanwhile, the people get hungrier.

OVER on our side, coal negotiations hit a snag—again. John J. Lewis wants an up of 35 cents an hour for his miners. The operator—who, although they won't get their mines back from the government until July 1, have been trying to reach a contract agreement in advance—balks, asserting that such an increase would make coal too costly.

THE news isn't good. But history tells us that the news seldom is good for several years after a great war. The flames of passion that are lighted by great wars can't be extinguished like dousing a match in water.

A CHANGE OF HEART

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Only a few years ago the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, the nation's largest timber concern, was one of the most wasteful organizations in the industry. Backed by enormous capital, the Weyerhaeuser concern was able to control great areas of timber lands, a condition which, in fact, prevails today. It cut recklessly, without regard for the future. It built cities and then left them as ghost towns after it had stripped away the forest cover.

But today Weyerhaeuser is one of the strongest advocates of utilization, tree farming, selective logging, sustained yield, and other good practices in forest management, although its practices have not yet overtaken its policies.

In the light of Weyerhaeuser's past record, it is interesting to read its annual report for the calendar year of 1946, in which the lead paragraph says:

If we can accept today's markets as indicative of future trends, our experiments leading to whole crop utilization will soon progress from the pilot plant to the new plant and product stage. Basic timber products such as lumber, pulp and plywood will be augmented and perhaps supplanted to a degree by new products now poorly utilized or wasted.

Weyerhaeuser has spent millions of dollars in experimentation and research in laboratories almost as secretive and closely guarded as the atomic bomb plants. Its engineers have invented many new processes in wood utilization. Some of these inventions were military secrets and played an important part in winning the war.

The Weyerhaeuser company is hated with a great and mighty hate by independent operators. This hate is generated not only from the natural and human dislike of big and monopolistic corporations, but also from certain ruthless competitive practices, charged by operators.

Weyerhaeuser, however, by virtue of being a big corporation has money to spend, not only in the purchase of timber and manufacturing plants, but also for experimentation to learn how to make the largest possible profit from its investment.

But profits are not what the general public might be led to believe. The Weyerhaeuser report announces a profit totalling $12.9 million for the year 1946. That was a big year in the lumber industry and $12.9 million seems a lot of money for any corporation to take in profits. But in 1946, probably the biggest year in the company's history, the ratio of earnings to net assets was reported at 8.5 per cent.

Because Weyerhaeuser is a big corporation, and because it must show a profit to keep its stockholders satisfied, it is seeking new ways of increasing revenue. It is working on the program of utilization, and improvement in production per man hour. As an example, two company mills last year produced 4.6 per cent more lumber with 3 per cent less log scale wood usage. Two pulp mills maintained production at the 1945 level with 4 per cent less logs. The next step, as pointed out in the early section of the report, is that of moving from experimental to operating basis in "whole crop utilization." That means greater production than at present from the same volume of raw material.

Greater utilization means more man hours of employment per thousand feet of logs, increased payrolls, longer tenure, greater stability, and more profits with less exhaustion of raw materials. Such a program is a far cry from the earlier days of Weyerhaeuser history, but it is a program that must be adopted by the industry as a whole if maximum benefits are to be achieved by operators and the general public.

Huskies Win Track Meet; U. of Oregon Takes Third Spot

SEATTLE, June 2. (AP)—

The northern division of the Pacific Coast Conference had a new track champion and a new track dean today, and both could be trailed to the lair of the University of Washington Huskies.

The Huskies smacked down their opposition Saturday and handed Coach Hec Edmundson his 10th division crown in the meet's 21-year history by grabbing points in every event. The first places were fairly well scattered among the division's six schools, but when all the places were counted Washington had enough for 52 points and the title.

The division deanship went to Edmundson when the northwest's grand old man of track, Bill Hayward of Oregon, announced he was retiring after 44 years and this was his last meet.

His Oregon team, handicapped by the loss of two men by pre-meet injuries, tried hard to hand him the division flag as a farewell present, but had to settle for third with 33 points. Washington State took second with 35.

Oregon State, the defending champion, wound up with 20. Montana had 17 and Idaho 7.

Henthorne Gets Top Honors
Oregon's Dave Henthorne took the honors with a half-point margin when he ran on the third-place relay team, adding the fraction to the 10 counters he got for winning the 100 and 220. Washington's Don Wold, defending his mile crown and taking over the two-mile diadem, tied with Yoxite for second.

Wold turned in the top thriller of the day in coping the double mile.

Joe Nebelson of W. S. C. took over the 440-yard crown and Jack Hensley of Washington annexed the half-mile title. George Rasmussen of Oregon picked off the pole vault championship. Don Cooley of W. S. C. the javelin title, Bob Reiman of O. S. C. the shotput crown, Ray Heidenreich, Oregon, the discus championship, and Bob Laidlaw of O. S. C. the broad jump title. Bill Belfuss of Oregon was forced to share his high jump crown with Ken Elliott of O. S. C. when they tied at 6 feet 3 inches.

No records were broken, but Henthorne was just a fifth of a second off the 100-yard dash mark in 9.5 and Yoxite missed the high-jump record by the same distance, when he cruised the tall timber in 4.5.

Most of the winners and many of the other point getters will compete next month in the national collegiate A.A. meet at Salt Lake City.

LaBelle and Kiser Defeat Whiskered Duo in Team Bout

To the roar of approval from 500 fans, the whiskered "mad scientist" duo of Benny Trudell and Stocky Knelsen went down to defeat in their team combat with Jack Kiser and Pierre LaBelle at the Roseburg Armory Saturday night.

The victors, compelled by necessity to discard their customary orthodox tactics, dealt their sadistic opponents just as much rough stuff as they received. If not more—and annexed the second and third falls, in the respective periods of six and eight minutes.

In the first individual preliminary, Knelsen and LaBelle staged a 20-minute, tie-fall draw. In the following companion bout, Kiser disposed of Trudell in 12 minutes with a "bow-and-arrow" catapult from outside the ropes as Trudell dashed forward to knock Kiser back for the third time after hurting him out of the ring.

Batting of Mize, DiMaggio Boosts New York Teams

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Jubilant New York fans, envisioning the possibility of their first Giant-Yankee subway World Series since 1937, proudly pointed today to the slugging Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees and Johnny Mize of the Giants as the belting beltedimers who may lead their respective flocks into the October classic.

Mize leads all major league batsmen with a mark of .370, is first in homers with 14 and trails Boston's Earl Torgeson by one with 35 runs batted in.

Mize's superior slugging is the number one reason the Giants are leading the Chicago Cubs by one-half game, after having been almost unanimously picked to finish in seventh or eighth place.

DiMaggio banged two round trippers yesterday, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Yankees to an 11-9 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Giants, Cincy Split
Mize contributed five hits in eight times at bat as the Giants came from behind to earn a split with the Cincinnati Reds. The Reds, aided by Eddie Miller's 10th home run in the ninth inning with one on, won the opener, 5-3, but the Giants slugged out a 13-9 victory in the nightcap.

McCullough's triple after Sturgeon's error in the eighth inning broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Boston Braves advanced into third place, one game behind the Giants, by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader, 2-0 and 8-7, with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rookie Righty Harry Taylor came through with another fine pitching performance, holding the St. Louis Cardinals to five hits in hurling the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-1 win.

Home runs by Heath and Stephens, combined with the six hit pitching of Kramer, gave the St. Louis Browns an easy 7-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Rain caused the postponement of twin bills between Chicago and Boston and Washington and Detroit in the American League.

Oaks, Seals Now Tied at Top Rung Of Coast League

By BILL BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Pacific Coast League's most hectic week of the season wound up with Oakland and San Francisco sharing first place today.

Los Angeles, sometimes ruler of the roost in the topsy-turvy race, was back in third position, one game behind the leaders after dropping both ends of a doubleheader to the Seals, 11-0 and 6-1, yesterday.

The Seals took the series, five games to three, and moved up even with the Oaks, who split with Hollywood to nab a 6-2 series verdict.

The Seals' ace rookie right-hander, Chesnes, notched his 11th win against three setbacks by whipping the Angels' Chambers in the nightcap. Chesnes allowed but five hits and fanned six to gain revenge for a defeat Chambers ruf on him earlier in the series.

Swatfest Record Set
Oakland came back on the five-hit pitching of Hayes to take the afterpiece, 6-1, after the Hollywood Stars had slugged out a 7-1 win in the first game.

The Stars set a new Coast League record by banging out seven consecutive hits in the eighth inning of the opener. Fred off loser Wikkie and two more off Hafey. Woods was the winner, all so throwing a five-hitter.

The Sacramento Solons took their series with the San Diego Padres, 5-3, by sweeping a Sunday twin bill. A 16-hit assault paced by the single, double and homer enabled the Solons to squeeze out a 9-8 decision. Then they bounced back on Freditas four-hit whitewash job to win again, 5-0.

The Padres' West, loop-leading home run hitter, posted his 12th round-tripper in the first game. In Portland, the Seattle Rainiers and Portland Beavers were rained out for the third straight day.

Degree in De Molay Given Here by Corvallis Group

Second degree of DeMolay was given 26 Roseburg youths Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple at a ritual performed by 35 visiting members of the Corvallis chapter.

First reactivated DeMolay chapter of Oregon since the war, the Roseburg organization, led by Master Counsellor Ty Evans, was taken over at the meeting by the Corvallis group, which performed complete chapter work, initiation, and closed the ceremonies under the direction of C. L. Willey, district deputy advisor of the Oregon DeMolay and Bad Advisor of Corvallis.

The degree ceremonies, witnessed by 30 local Shriners, were preceded by a turkey dinner served by girls of Roseburg Job's Daughters.

Softball Games Will Be Resumed Tonight

Softball resumes tonight at 7:15 following a lapse in action Memorial Day, with the Elks meeting at 8 P. M. in the opening game and Pepsi-Cola facing the Veterans Hospital in the nightcap.

The doubleheaders, slated for Memorial Day, Mel Ingram and nounced, will be played at the end of the second round robin play in August.

Last week in the opening jam-boree, in which each club played three innings, the V. F. W. turned 13-4 winners over the Vets Hospital, the Elks won over Ward's 3-2, and Pepsi-Cola was edged out by a strong Squirt Club, 1-0.

Simmons Downs Spivey to Capture Golf Invitational

Eddie Simmons, long hitting star from Medford won the first Roseburg Invitational by defeating Glenn Spivey, University of Oregon star from The Dalles, Oregon, on the 20th hole. Spivey had trouble with his game during the first fourteen holes of the match and was three down with four to go, but evened the match on the eighteenth green with a great exhibition of clutch golfing. Simmons played steady golf all the way and won on the par 4 number 2 hole when Spivey's four iron rolled past the green.

Earnie Pearson of Roseburg defeated Neil Myers of Portland in the first flight. Van Buskirk of Medford defeated Martin of Roseburg in the second flight. West of Klamath Falls defeated Clement of Portland in the third flight. Rodgers of Roseburg defeated Brydges of Roseburg in the fourth flight, and Dr. Amiot of Roseburg defeated Geo. Quine of Roseburg in the fifth flight.

Tournament officials and guests voted the tournament a great success and are planning to make it an annual affair, with a $5,000 Roseburg-Open as a possibility for 1948.

Chiefs Again Dated With Guistina Reds

The Umpqua Chiefs, getting their first rest in two weeks as a result of yesterday's rain-out game with Hill, Calif., today beat the Guistina Reds to repeat victory over the Guistina Reds at Eugene Wednesday in a twilight contest.

Roseburg defeated the highly touted Reds on Finlay Field early in the season 4-3 in a photo-finish ninth inning and are looking forward to a full evening Wednesday at the Eugene Civic Stadium diamond.

Lovell Baker, third sacker, leads the Chiefs in hitting after two league games, with a .500. Accumulated box scores for the two league contests played thus far, with Grants Pass and Tri-City, follow:

Portland Milk Price Drop May Be Only Temporary

PORTLAND, June 2. (AP)—Home delivered milk prices today appeared due to drop to the new retail minimum in the Portland area of 17 cents a quart as distributors and wholesalers adjusted prices to a milk control board order.

The Salem Dairy Cooperative, producer of most of the bottled trade milk at the State Capitol, reduced grade A bottled milk from 18 to 17 cents, cream from 21 to 16 cents per half pint and whipping cream from 34 cents a half pint to 24 cents.

Approximately the same adjustment was expected in the Portland area, but the dairy cooperative here, producers of 65 per cent of the city's supply, expect the drop may be temporary.

W. W. Henry, manager of the cooperative, said the increased demand for grade A milk may return the price to the 18-cent price before the market levels off. Normally, the retail price adjusts at the milk control board's minimum figure, he said.

To develop an odorless marigold, a seedsmen once ordered his gardener to smell 500,000 marigold plants covering 30 acres of ground. They found a single odorless plant from which the special type was bred.
