Mrs. Grow Presents Piano Pupils In Musical Workshop Recitals

With the mothers and a few special friends as guests, the piano pupils of Mrs. Homer Grow presented the fifteenth in the annual series of "Workshop Recitals," June 3rd and 4th. The attractive residence studio was used so the numbers could be presented on the fine Steinway Grand piano, on which the students had received their instruction. A large basket of Chrysanthemum gladioli of deep fuchsia shade, and materials used in music study furnished the decorations. The students, from pre-school children to young business women, presented a varied program of numbers selected from the works of Bach, Beethoven, Rubinstein, Tschalkowsky, and Chopin—from the classic school, with Massenet, Greig, Debussy, Sarasate and Godard forming the bridge to the moderns represented by La Forge, Grunfield, Schytte and Kabelevsky. All the numbers were played from memory, with careful portrayal of tone, time and expression as indicated by the composer.

Intermission numbers were sung by Mrs. Russell T. Gwilliam, who first delighted the younger children with "The Big Brown Bear" by Mana-Zucca. She then sang "Vissi D'Arte, Vissi D'Amore" by Puccini in the original Italian, and "The Star" by Rogers for the older students. Mrs. Gwilliam is a soprano of great ability and was very gracious in adding to the pleasure of pupils and guests.

Pupils who were on the program the first day of the recital were: Judy Hebard, Myrabeth Glick, Kendelle Cairns, Patricia Elliott, Billy Weber, Joan Phillips, Mary Margaret Cobb, Janet Church, Tom Churchill, Gilda Holderman, Charlene Deets, Carolyn Burr, Mary Anne Caskey, Jeanne Miles and Robert Church. Marjorie Bowker, Carolyn Jackson, Betty Roach, David Jackson, Dianne Jacklin, Jon Pickens, Donna Henry, Jeanne Maddox, Norma Cox, Nancy Radabaugh, Larry Fisher, Sue Le Files and Anne Mellis.

On the second day the program included Delberta Simonson, Pat Riley, Phyllis Dingler, Maurine Doerner, Billy Riley, Mary Ellen Holbrook, Lonella Kelley, Joan Ware, Marie Austin, Shirley Butler, Marilyn Dixon and Lucia Mess.

Norma Nelson, Lois Hess, De Ette Glikson, Darlene Kruse, Dee Webb, Carmen Systert, Shiran Hersher, Nona Bruton and Lillian Grefsheim.

CANADAYS ENTERTAIN MEDFORD AND EAGLE POINT GUESTS OVER WEEKEND

District Attorney and Mrs. H. A. Canaday entertained eleven guests from Medford and Eagle Point over the weekend. The Sunday School Class and W. Y. C. A. girls, organized 25 years ago by Mrs. Canaday, in Medford, holds an annual meeting and this year met at the Canaday home.

The hand-made table decorations carried out the blue and gold class colors. The centerpiece was tinted with blue and gold carnations. Mrs. Canaday, assisted by Mrs. William Woods of Roseburg, served the dinner at seven o'clock. A number of letters of regret from members out of the state were read. Music, readings and visiting were enjoyed during the evening.

Following the Sunday morning breakfast, the group attended the Methodist Church services, after which a luncheon was held at the Canaday home and the visitors left for the south.

Those attending the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Putman and daughter, Louise; Mrs. Charles Hopkins, Mrs. Donald Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hukill, Mrs. George Watson, Mrs. George Russell, all of Medford, and Professor and Mrs. Glen Hale of Eagle Point. On account of illness, Mrs. Charles Thurston, was unable to be present.
