MR. AND MRS. JENKINS ENTERTAIN AT CHARMING DINNER FOR LEBEYS

In compliment to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leedy of Sacramento, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jenkins entertained at a charming seven o'clock dinner party at their lovely home in Laurelwood Thursday evening. Additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Wimberly and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wharton. Lovely mixed bouquets of spring flowers carried out the decorations. Visiting was enjoyed during the evening.

At one of the season's most beautiful weddings, Miss Geraldine Stephens, daughter of Mrs. Alfred L. Stephens, of Roseburg, and the late Mr. Stephens became the bride of Joseph Dent, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dent, of Lebanon, Ore., Sunday afternoon, June 1, at the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Morris H. Roach, pastor of the church, performed the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of 150 relatives and friends of the couple.

The altar, centered with a white archway of orange blossoms, was flanked by huge baskets filled with white gladioli, blue delphiniums and white Madonna lilies, while the altar bouquet was an arrangement of pink and white carnations and pink and white baby gladioli. The flower-arrangements were flanked by white candelabra holding tall white cathedral candles.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Homer Grow played softly on the organ, as the two candle-lighters, Miss Virginia Russell and Miss Carol Martin, gownned in pastel pink and blue dresses, lighted the tapers. Mrs. Grow accompanied Jim Smith, who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." She played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin for the bridal party to advance to the altar and at the close of the ceremony she played Mendelssohn's Wedding Reconciliation.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Milton Murphy, was very beautiful in a floor-length gown of white satin and marquisette. The bodice was fashioned of white satin with a sheer yolk embroidered with seed pearls in flower designs. The full marquisette skirt over satin was fashioned with a short train. She wore a fingertip length veil of net edged with sweetheart lace and held in place with a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a double strand of pearls, a wedding gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible topped by a large orchid encircled with stephanotis with a shower of white satin ribbons knotted with stephanotis. The Bible was a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Milton Murphy.

Miss Jean Wilcox, maid of honor, wore a gown of pale pink marquisette, fashioned with long full sleeves and princess bodice. She carried a spray of gardenias and stephanotis with a shower of pale blue ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Jane Roberts and Miss Jean Turner, wearing blue marquisette gowns, and Miss Betty Wilson and Miss Gerry Ford, wearing pink marquisette formals. They carried colonial bouquets of soft shades of perbera and mixed pastel blossoms. The attendants all wore half circlets of sweetpeas in their hair.

Little Sherrill Chapman was flower girl and was dressed in a floor-length gown of pink and blue net. She carried a basket of pastel-colored sweetpeas. The flowers for the wedding were arranged by the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stephens, florists at Reedsport.

Thomas Dent, of Lebanon, acted as best man to his brother and Robert Evans, Don Forbes, Eldon McLaughlin and Jerry Whipple were ushers.

The bride's mother was charming in a rose-colored two-piece silk dress with black picture hat and black lace gloves. Her accessories were also black and she wore an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. M. O. Ream, was attractive in a two-piece brown-colored suit with pink and brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception followed in the church parlors. The bride's table was covered by an exquisite lace cloth (a wedding present to the bride couple) and centered with a very beautiful four-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. Triple candelabra and white tapers flanked the cake. The bride and bridegroom cut the first piece of the cake, which was then cut by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Albert Kronke, assisted by Mrs. Milton Murphy. A white linen cloth covered the table used to serve punch. Pink and white carnations and baby gladioli formed the decorations. Mrs. A. M. Knudsen and Mrs. George Biddle served the punch. Miss Betty Wilson had charge of the guest book.
