The Weather

U. S. Weather Bureau Office Roseburg, Oregon. Forecast for Roseburg and vicinity: Showers tonight and Tuesday.

FOR the great bulk of us—probably 99 and 44 one-hundredths per cent of our 140 million people—that is a simple statement of a great and simple truth.

In the Day's News

the world and friendship with every nation. The level of national legislative processes could be raised immeasurably, we believe, if it were possible for the entire personnel of our Congress, both House and Senate, to make annual tours of inspection and investigation through the 48 states.

UNFORTUNATELY, it takes two to make peace. It takes two to make friendship. Just as it takes two to make a bargain.

LIFE isn't simple. In Washington, the U. S. atomic energy commission says that half its plants and equipment are obsolete because of "startling improvements" in processes.

FROM the South Seas comes another startling statement. The New Zealand Herald hints of a new weapon that approaches the atom bomb in importance, but is CHEAPER. It is a joint development, the Herald says, of scientists from New Zealand, Great Britain and the United States.

THAT stirs a thought: If the world has to be wiped out (because men haven't learned how to get along with each other), is it better to do the wiping out cheaply or expensively?

SENATOR AUSTIN, chief U. S. delegate to United Nations, says in a commencement address at Massachusetts Institute of Technology: "The United States, with half the productive power of the world, has decisive POWER to create the conditions of permanent peace."

SENATOR AUSTIN tells the MIT graduates that apparently Russian opposition to the American plan for prevention of atomic warfare (which involves EFFECTIVE international inspection and control) is based on "fear of capitalist infiltration inside Russia." That seems to betray an inferiority complex on Russia's part.

CONGRESS NEEDS "LOOK-SEE"

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The level of national legislative processes could be raised immeasurably, we believe, if it were possible for the entire personnel of our Congress, both House and Senate, to make annual tours of inspection and investigation through the 48 states.

Take, as an example, the case of the proposed McNary dam on the Columbia River. Two representatives of commercial fish interests have returned from Washington, where they had a hard time convincing many Congressmen that the dam was not actually under construction.

Oregon's great timber industry is tremendously handicapped by congressional inaction. A congressman who knows about trees only as he has seen them in parks or on golf courses or on an occasional farm lot, has difficulty understanding why the federal government should spend millions of dollars to build access roads into national forests.

The House version of the agricultural appropriation bill eliminates "wildlife use" from National Forest Protection and Management budgets, although the activity cost only $162,813 in the entire nation.

Approximately one-half of Oregon's timber land is under federal ownership. The crying need of the industry today is cooperation between federal and private ownership in management of timber resources.

Here in Douglas County the federal government owns more than 50 billion feet of timber. At current prices that timber, even at a most conservative figure, is worth more than $400 million.

There exists an opportunity to set up here an ideal system of timber management, as the industry is new and our resource has been only lightly tapped.

Then, too, we are at present utilizing only about one-third of a tree. Two-thirds, consisting of top, branches, stump, etc., remains in the woods.

The only handicap to this program is a lack of knowledge on the part of Congressmen controlling the purse strings. If they could see conditions first hand, conducting personal investigations into issues and problems, we have firm belief that Congress would realize public expenditures on behalf of timber industry development would be sound, common sense investment, with substantial public profit assured as a result.

Karlanko Fools, Loses to LaBelle; Szasz Wins Opener

Leon Karlanko, the Russian "mad dog" of the wrestling game, scored two-out-of-three falls over "Frenchy" LaBelle in the headliner at the Roseburg Armory Saturday, but the verdict of Referee Elton Owen went to LaBelle because the Russian literally lived up to his nickname in flagrant violation of the rules.

Karlanko took the first and third falls of the brawl with a sadistic specialty in the nature of a vicious hammerlock and merciless leg stomp, after felling his foe with a hair yank. On the second occasion, Owen awarded the fall and the decision to Karlanko after LaBelle conceded, but the Russian kept right on with his punishment until Owen Maul-ed him away. Then Owen promptly reversed his decision and awarded LaBelle the winner.

White Sox Beaten By Player They Traded to Bosox

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer His name is Murrell Jones but up in Boston the fans believe it should be "Merrifell" Jones.

Playing his first game in a Red Sox uniform, the 26-year-old first baseman smashed out a home run to help defeat his former team, 7-3. He did even better in the second game, hitting a home run with the bases full with two out in the last half of the ninth inning to win for Boston, 8-4.

The Yankees had climbed into the American League's number one position by virtue of a double win over the St. Louis Browns. After coming Kramer for a 10-4 victory in the opener of the double header, the Yanks, behind Gumpert, eked out a 2-1 win against Muncie.

The battering Boston Braves blasted eight Pittsburgh pitchers for 29 hits to swamp the Pirates, 13-4 and 12-3, in both ends of their doubleheader and take over undivided possession for first place in the National League.

The Giants retained a slim two point margin over the third place Cubs by winning the second game of their doubleheader with the Reds in Cincinnati, 9-1 after dropping the opener, 4-3.

Schoolboy Rowe snapped a five-game winning streak of the Chicago Cubs in pining a 6-1 victory for the Philadelphia Phillies. Rowe did not walk a man, making it the fifth time this season that the veteran righthander has not issued a pass.

The last climbing St. Louis Cardinals moved within a half game of the fifth place Reds by taking their fourth straight from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 11-3.

After losing the opener to Cleveland, 3-2, the Philadelphia Athletics got an even break when they came from behind with 3 runs in the eighth to win the nightcap, 6-4.

Mulcahy Pitches Oakland Oaks Into Coast League Lead

(By the Associated Press)

Hugh Mulcahy, the former Philadelphia Phillies ace, pitched the Oakland Oaks into the Pacific Coast League lead yesterday with a sparkling twohit, 4-1 nightcap win over Seattle.

It was Mulcahy's finest job since joining Oakland a month ago. His mates got nine hits in the second game after losing the first one, 10-9, in 11 innings. The Oaks took the series, 5 games to 2.

The split decision ended Oakland to take a one-game lead in the tight race because the contenders, San Francisco and Los Angeles, each lost doubleheaders. Meantime Portland beat Sacramento, 4-1, in their first game and lost the nightcap, 3-2.

San Diego took the first game from San Francisco, 7-5, although they were outbit, 26 to 10. In the seven-inning second game the Padres walloped the Seals, 10-4, collecting 13 hits to San Francisco's 9. The twin win gave San Diego a 5-2 game series edge.

6-Hour Day Now State AFL Goal

BEND, Ore., June 16. (AP)—The State Federation of Labor closed its annual convention here Friday after nominating officers.

Delegates assured J. D. McDonald, Portland, of reelection as president by nominating him unopposed for the office.

Among late resolutions was one urging local unions to be vigilant against "infiltration" by Communists.

Another approved by delegates authorized the federation to begin a campaign for a six-hour work day.

Two others were defeated—one to establish a committee to work for AFL-CIO unity, and the other to create universal transfer cards to allow members free transfer from one craft union to another.

Three were nominated for the two vice-presidencies: C. W. Jones and Mildred Glanlin, Portland, and H. E. Barker, Salem, J. T. Marr, Portland, was unopposed for reelection as executive secretary.

Nominees for the executive board included: George Hann and M. E. Steele, Portland; Ed J. A. Borehringer, Salem; Ray McInnis and Mrs. Alice Bissell, Eugene; C. D. Long, Klamath Falls; Mrs. Verna Coffinberry, Pendleton; W. I. Herman, La Grande; Richard Hoover, Oregon City; Don Stansell and C. W. Cray, Medford.

W. Kelly.

Swim Campaign Planned By Red Cross Chapter

The Douglas County Chapter, American Red Cross, is endeavoring to organize a swimming campaign for the summer months, according to V. V. Harpham, chairman.

Chapter directors wish to send at least three boys or girls over 18 years of age to the Aquatic School at Benbow Lakes, Wash., from June 18 to June 28.

The chapter will pay expenses of these delegates and in turn, the delegates are requested to instruct the swimming classes in Roseburg for two weeks after their return.

Anyone interested in attending the Aquatic School may receive more information by calling at the Red Cross office in the Armory.

Practically all the good feed companies nowadays have a fieldman in each territory. But not all of them expect the same type of service from their fieldmen.

Some fieldmen are nothing more nor less than salesmen. Others are supposed to perform more or less service to the company's customers, and also sell some feed. A few feed manufacturers have no fieldman at all.

The Douglas County Flour Mill also has a fieldman, but he is a very poor salesman. His job is not to sell feed. The Boss says the only thing the fieldman needs to do is work for the interest of the people who use UMPQUA FEEDS.

In other words, we are strictly "service men." We like to suggest ways in which we think you can do your work easier, or get better returns from the work you do. We like to pass on to you some of the excellent ideas we see to other growers using UMPQUA FEEDS.

We don't like to see your animals and birds get sick. But even under the best of management, they occasionally do. Even humans do! They sometimes die. We also have to hold funerals for our relatives and friends.

When things go wrong, we like to be considered as the "turkey doctor," or the "chicken doctor." Some of our friends even call us "Doc", and that is also all right.

Importance Announcement. In our time we may not have culled a million hens, but it sure seems like we have. In the old days, we used to cull every customer's flock once a year. But there weren't so many customers in those days.

We would still love to do the same thing. But there are now SO MANY customers using UMPQUA FEEDS, we could never make it around. Besides, in our old age we are becoming allergic to the dust and dandruff from chickens, and every time we cull a flock have to go to bed with our eyes bandaged.

So what we want to do is to show you all we know about it, so you can do it yourself. Every flock should be culled two or three times a year. It is about the best spent time of a poultryman. Keep the star boarders out of your feed bin.

The busy business man had just taken the secretary onto his lap when his wife burst into the office. Without glancing up he began dictating the following letter: "Mile High Furniture Company, Denver, Colo. Gentlemen, Rationing or no rationing, I simply can't continue running my office with only one chair."

The Best Ventilation. The weather has been either good or bad, whichever way it happened to affect you. If your wife was down, it was bad weather. If you had just planted your late grain it was swell. Either way, the big rain did heaps of good, and we guess everybody was glad it came. But it has been responsible for keeping turkey poulters inside the brooder houses that should have been out. It is almost impossible to ventilate a brooder house properly after poulters get seven weeks old. The only proper ventilation from them on is right out doors. We urge you to get your poulters outside to roost before their seventh birthday.
