HAT is the idea, in a nutshell.

It was sprung cautiously, as a sort of trial balloon, by Secretary State Marshall in a speech at Harvard University a couple of weeks ago.

WE aren't shutting Russia out of the program.

In fact, we are beckoning her. We're saying to her: "Come in and get your feet wet in a hot cause. Help us to rebuild these countries and these people that have been so nearly wrecked by war."

IF she should COME ALONG WITH US, helping honestly to the best of her ability to do this so and humane job that needs to be done if modern civilization is to be saved.

It is larger, better adapted to natural propagation, has a wider diversity, and considerably lower water temperatures. But whereas the Rogue River was protected from commercial fishing before its migratory species were eliminated, the Umpqua has been permitted to become almost totally depleted of its spring and summer species.

UNFORTUNATELY, we suspect Russia of trying to communicate with the world—including us.

It seems to us, from the evidence that has been accumulating ever since the shooting stopped in Europe, that Russia is deliberately trying to PROMOTE CHAOS throughout the world, especially Europe, with the idea that Communism grows lushly in the soil of hunger and hopelessness and desperation.

WE are coming up in the shape of this new program—the one for Russia to work with and with the other peoples of the world who feel as we do.

It is a chance to work in a great and glorious cause. There can be no greater or more glorious in saving hundreds of millions of people from starvation and death.

FILMS AND PUBLICITY

Szasz, Carter Will Battle on Weekly Card at Armory

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The Roseburg Kiwanis club enjoyed a rare treat Tuesday when it was permitted to enjoy a premiere showing of The Standard Oil Company's newly released film, "This is Oregon".

Not only is the picture exclusively of Oregon scenes, but every individual who participated in photography, editing, and narration was a native Oregonian.

Divided into four distinct parts, the film provides travelogues along the Oregon Coast highway, the Pacific Highway, The Dalles-California highway, and the extreme eastern section.

To avoid conflict with civic prides, editors reduced names of places to an absolute minimum, but we doubt if criticism can be avoided, despite the obvious intent to portray Oregon impartially as a whole.

In fact, Kiwanians at Tuesday's showing promptly began questioning the lack of Umpqua River scenery.

The Standard Oil Company sponsored more than 10,000 feet of colored film in making this picture.

Completed early this month, the film had its first showing last week before the Oregon Advertising Club in Portland. It has been seen by very few people prior to being brought to Roseburg for use this week.

It was interesting to observe, following the showing of this superb film at the meeting of the Kiwanis club, the frequency of the question from spectators, "Why do some communities receive attention in almost every picture of this kind, while others, with equal resources, are seldom mentioned."

We heard a Rogue River Valley resident complaining a few days ago that the Rogue River had been tremendously overadvertised. Because the Rogue River communities recognized years ago the value of their scenic and recreational resource and the possibility of financial benefits from advertising and promotion, a high-powered program was systematically planned, organized and executed.

In sharp contrast we have the Umpqua River. The Umpqua potentially is a finer recreation stream than the Rogue. It is larger, better adapted to natural propagation, has a wider diversity, and considerably lower water temperatures.

We have pitifully few accommodations for tourist visitors anywhere along the full length of the river. We have had no organized promotion. We not only don't invite the public to enjoy our recreational resource, but we couldn't take care of them if they came.

Until the river recovers from years of destructive practices, we cannot offer tourists any inducement in the form of spring and summer fishing.

Until the river recovers from years of destructive practices, we cannot offer tourists any inducement in the form of spring and summer fishing. But we have an opportunity to make the Umpqua River the Pacific Coast's first and foremost fall and winter fishing stream.

Bosox Lead In American; Cards Climb in National

By JACK HAND (Associated Press Sports Writer) Baseball's dizzy pennant races are reverting to form as the clubs approach the one-third mark with another Boston Red Sox-St. Louis Cardinals world series a district possibility.

Mention of such a pairing would have prompted loud hoots and a hurra-cry call for the booby wagon two weeks ago. Now the Red Sox are in first place with an unbroken eight-game winning streak and the Cards have surged from last to fifth, only 4 1/2 games out of first, by winning their last seven straight.

The Red Sox moved into the American League lead yesterday, while enjoying an open date, on the strength of Chicago's 6-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

Boston's Braves became the new National League pace setter, while watching the rain wash out their scheduled game in Cincinnati, because New York beat Pittsburgh, 12-2.

Ty Cobb, Baseball Great, Files Suit for Divorce

RENO, Nev., June 20.—Ty Cobb, one of the greatest baseball players of all time, yesterday filed suit for divorce from Charlie Lombard, Cobb after 39 years of marriage.

The wealthy "Georgia Peach" of diamond fame, who lives at Atherton, Calif., near San Francisco, sued on grounds he and his wife had been separated at least three years.

The complaint said a property settlement had been reached. Cobb signed a waiver subjecting the case to jurisdiction of the Nevada court.

She sued for divorce in March at Redwood City, Calif., asking $5,000 monthly alimony and division of community property valued at $7,000,000, but the action was later withdrawn.

Seals Regain Top In Coast League

By BILL BECKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Eight big runs in the fifth inning last night boomed the San Francisco Seals back into the Pacific Coast League lead.

The barrage gave the Seals their third straight over the Sacramento Solons, 9-5, and a margin of one percentage point over Los Angeles Angels, who also moved up as Oakland dropped down on the Pacific Coast League.

Seal Twirler Covey contributed two singles to the large frame, concocted entirely at the expense of Mann. Before the assault subsided, Mann had suffered the indignity of eight ringing hits.

While the Seals were thus thriving, the Angels edged San Diego, for the third consecutive game, 1-0; Portland tripped the Oaks, 3-2; and tail-end Seattle came to life to halt Hollywood, 5-0.

Four Oakland errors contributed to Gassaway's downfall as the Portlanders, who knocked the Angels out of the lead a fortnight ago, did it all over again.

Salveson held the Oaks to six hits—and scoreless until the ninth inning when Lillard homered with a man on.

The Beavers took the series lead, two games to one.

Softball Games Billed Tonight

Tonight's double bill of softball at Finlay Field brings Pepsi-Cola against the Elks at 7:15, and J. V. R. meets Squirt in the closer.

Both contests are expected to be close as each set of clubs are considered of a fairly even par in strength.

Pepsi-Cola's teen-agers and the Elks each hold a win and a loss on their record, the Pepis having knocked off J. V. R., 9-1, and lost to Squirt, 10-9, while the Elks tromped Wards, 17-4, and were blanked by Squirt, 11-0.

J. V. R., potentially strong, having a veteran lineup, will be out to upset the soaring Squirt club in the night's second fray.

Squirt won, 14-3, over Wards and shutout the Elks. The Elks single win was over Wards.

Next Monday evening's action sees Elks against J. V. R., and Squirt takes on Pepsi-Cola.
