culous tends to destroy its usefulness to labor. Picketing weddings certainly does just that.

THE general run of Americans, who desire above everything else to see our great industrial system made as efficient as possible because they know that only in that way can we have the prosperity we all want, will withhold judgment on the new labor bill until they have had time to see it in action long enough to draw intelligent conclusions as to its usefulness or lack of usefulness.

All sensible people know that the proof of the pudding is the eating thereof. If the new labor law proves to be (as the big labor chiefs contend) only a club to beat labor's brains out, intelligent people will vote eventually for candidates to congress who are pledged to repeal it.

But if it should prove to be useful in curbing abuses that have crept into the exercise of union power, intelligent, thoughtful people (who, in spite of all the cynics say, hold the long-pull balance of power in this country) will support candidates who can be depended upon to uphold the bill, amending it ONLY to remove such faults as may develop in practice.

That is about the way the situation will work out.

THERE is at least a temporarily interesting development in the world news—from the Dutch East Indies—where it had appeared up to Saturday morning that the new Republic of Indonesia (representing the native populations) and the Dutch colonial government were about at the point of starting to SHOOT again.

At this critical moment, the United States state department "requests" both factions to "cooperate without delay in the immediate formation of an interim federal government," and PROMISES FINANCIAL AID FROM AMERICA when such a government is established.

A dispatch from Batavia (former Dutch East Indies capital) says there are indications that our state department's "request" has at least averted the beginning of Dutch military operations on Monday. What the insurgent Republic of Indonesia will do about it has not been determined as this is written.

HERE, in a nutshell, is our proposal to the belligerent factions:

"Quit fighting. Get together without delay in the formation of an interim (temporary) government representing both sides. Begin to BUILD UP your country instead of tearing it down. If you will do that, we will provide financial aid in getting you back onto your feet."

It is substantially the proposition we are making to the countries of Western Europe. In Indonesia, as in Europe, we are anxious for people to get back to work MAKING THINGS.

WHAT we are trying to do is to get people ALL OVER THE WORLD to quit fighting and squabbling and throat-cutting and GO TO WORK. It is a farseeing and statesmanlike program. If we can put it over, it will be world leadership of the sound and constructive kind to be expected from America.

It will cost money, naturally—but good things seldom come cheap.

OVEN-READY TURKEYS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Among the many developments to ease work of the housewife is a packaged turkey completely ready to be placed in the oven, according to J. C. Leedy, former Douglas County Agricultural Agent, who visited in Roseburg recently.

The housewife who dislikes the task of plucking and drawing a turkey, and preparing it for the oven, can now obtain a choice, specially selected, government inspected, "oven-ready" fowl. It needs only to be stuffed with the desired type of dressing and shoved into the oven.

It comes frozen, wrapped in cellophane, and packaged in an attractive carton. It has been killed, dressed, drawn, pressed into package form and frozen, all within a space of a comparatively few minutes from the time it was delivered by the grower to the processing plant. Naturally the cost is somewhat higher than for birds purchased through normal channels. Only premium type turkeys are selected.

The Norbest association is a subsidiary of the Northwest Turkey Growers Association, with which the Oregon Turkey Growers cooperative is affiliated.

Processing and packaging turkeys have necessitated a great deal of experimentation, Leedy reports. A turkey is a rather ungainly fowl, and the task of getting wings and legs into a neat, compact package offered many problems. It was found through experimentation that carcasses could be subjected to light pressure without damage to the meat.

To the grower the method offers numerous advantages, chief of which is that birds may be held until fully mature. Too often, due to weather conditions, turkeys, particularly in Douglas County where the growing season is exceptionally long, do not mature in time for the Thanksgiving trade. Occasionally it is not possible to market an entire flock even by Christmas or New Year's, if the Fall season has been unusually warm and dry.

The Norbest cooperative to date has produced only a limited pack of "oven-ready" turkeys. The process, however, is attracting considerable attention from independent interests. A large-scale advertising campaign, it is believed, could quickly popularize this particular treatment for turkeys.

Mrs. Eula Roxie Gamble Of Yoncalla Passes

Mrs. Eula Roxie Gamble, 60, wife of John R. Gamble of Yoncalla, died Sunday at their home after a short illness. She was born at Decatur, Tenn., Feb. 10, 1888, and was a resident of Yoncalla for the past 10 years. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Besides the widower, Mrs. Gamble's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Powers of Sumner, Wash., survives; also two daughters, Mrs. Melvia Hall, Concrete, Wash., and Mrs. Irene Cummings, Roseburg; three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Mary Bolton, Salem; Mrs. Violet McClump, Tacoma; Mrs. Gladys Van Bebessche, Seattle, and L. M. and H. T. Powers, Sumner. Three grandchildren also survive.

Services were held today at the Methodist Church at Yoncalla, with the Rev. Fred O. Hunt officiating. Interment was in the Masonic cemetery.

It is believed that Negroes in Africa smelted iron before the process was known to white men.

'Queens for Day' Will be Elected Here Wednesday

A major portion of a lifetime dream may well be fulfilled Wednesday for two ladies of Douglas County when Radio Maestro Jack Fairley announces the two "Queens for a Day," the first from the stage of the Indian theater in the morning, and the second at 9:45 P. M. at the grand show at the fairgrounds.

Sponsored by the Roseburg Junior Chamber of Commerce, a host of unbelievably fabulous gifts will be showered upon the candidates of the two shows, to include a piano, refrigerator and a grand surprise trip, plus probably the most eventful 24 hours a woman could experience without great expense.

Approximately 650 free tickets were given out to potential candidates yesterday afternoon at KRRR for Roseburg's first live network radio show which is appearing in Oregon at Albany and here, only, and Don Forbes, local chairman, reports advance ticket sales for the main two-hour evening show at the fairgrounds today exceeded 2000.

Procedure in selecting the five candidates for "the most thrilling moment of all" is as follows: Jack Bailey, emcee-star, will explain to the audience that if they would like to be Queen for a Day, raise their hands, and explain briefly to Announcers Fort Pearson and Hugh Brundage, and Jim Morgan, producer, who will pass through the audience, their requests should they be elected. The five candidates will be selected according to their respective wishes, barring the impossible and foolish types, and will in turn present their requests to Bailey before the microphone.

Near the close of the program a grand council, selected at random from the audience, will vote on their two choices. The final winner will be determined by popular applause of the audience. This procedure will be followed for selection of both the morning and evening queen.

Following crowning and donning of her ermine and velvet robe, Her Majesty will be showered with gifts from local merchants as well as national companies, decked out with a bouquet of four dozen American Beauty roses, and escorted by a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to dinner in her honor.

Reigning over other dance orchestras of Douglas County for the coming year will be Ken Wilson's Rhythmen in the modern classification, and in the western style will be Pete Wright's Melody Mountain. The Melody Mountain aggregation was winner of last year's contest also.

Other bands competing in the contest in which each group played a 30-minute portion of the program, included Lou Franco's Happy Valley Cowboys, Bud Spaulding's Combo, Arizona Ramblers and Bill Bakely and his Rhythmatres.

Members of the winning western orchestra include Wright, leader; Don White, Shorty Ferrel, Leonard Gresky, Bill Gresky and Bob Gresky. The Wilson band was composed of Robert Wibbe, Ed Kony, Curt Winders, Woodrow Murphy, Dick Firman and Jean Himple.

City Manager of Springfield Takes Over $6,000 Post

SPRINGFIELD, Ore., July 1.—(AP)—Oregon's fastest growing industrial city underwent a change in government today when W. J. "Bill" Cloyes, Lane county satirist, took the reins as city manager.

Voters approved the change in local government from the mayor-council type to the city manager form of government in an election last November, and the council screened candidates for six months before selecting Cloyes June 9.

The city manager has the power to hire and fire all city employees, but remains answerable for all his actions to the city council. The manager plan of government does not do away with the mayor or city council, which will act in the same capacity as in the past.

Cloyes stated when interviewed that he intended to make no changes in the city personnel as long as efficiency is maintained. He also stated that he did not intend to reduce the taxes, but would attempt to make the tax dollar go farther. The salary of the city manager will be $2000.

Six lovely girls of Douglas County have entered to date as candidates in Roseburg Lions Club's "Miss Roseburg" beauty contest, and will parade before the public eye Wednesday evening, July 9, on the stage of the Indian theater.

Chairman Forrest Losee today announced 5 P. M., July 5, the deadline for entries into the contest which will determine the beauty to represent this city in the "Miss Oregon" pageant at Seaside July 25-27.

Famous Negro Singer to be Heard At Baptist Church

Elbert T. Tindley, singer, who will appear in Roseburg Wednesday evening, July 2, at the First Baptist Church, was born in Philadelphia and attended school with Marian Anderson, the celebrated concert artist.

Both Tindley and Miss Anderson received their early voice training in church choirs of Philadelphia, he in his father's famous Methodist church, and she in a Baptist church. Later, after further voice study and training, Miss Anderson went on the concert stage, while Tindley became widely known as a gospel singer.

Tindley is the son of Dr. Charles A. Tindley, who was born a Negro slave, but who, when he died at the age of 82, was pastor of the largest Methodist church in the world. The church building, seating 4,000 persons, erected in 1924, was named Tindley Methodist Temple by the presiding bishop in honor of the former slave.

Tindley, the father, learned to spell at 17 years of age, but later mastered Hebrew and Greek. He entered the ministry when 29 years old, and during his lifetime wrote about 300 songs, many of which became familiar hymns in all churches.

Wednesday night, Professor Tindley will interpret several of these hymns. He is appearing here with Dr. Willard H. Pope, who is the speaker for the evening. The meeting is at 7:45 P. M. Rev. H. P. Seance is pastor.

Three-Cent Postage Rate Retained by Congress

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—Legislation continuing the three-cent postage rate on first class mail was passed yesterday by the Senate and sent to the White House.

Senator Langer told the Senate that a return to the two-cent rate would cost the government $273,000,000 in revenue.

MAN IN WHITE

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Forty-eight years ago, Charles E. Underdonk stepped aboard a New York Central Railroad train and began shoveling coal into the engine. He was wearing a crisply laundered white shirt and white collar.

Yesterday, he ended his railroading career at the age of 69, still wearing a white shirt and collar. His fellow workers said he was the "baldy" railroader they knew who worked as fireman, steam engineer and electric engineer and reported to work each day in a clean white shirt.
