Marry at Impressive Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley Irving Freeman.

At one of the most beautiful weddings of the summer season, Miss Patricia Ann Savage, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Savage of Roseburg, became the bride of Berkeley Irving Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Freeman, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Saturday, July 12, at the First Presbyterian Church in Roseburg. Rev. Benjamin E. Bollman performed the impressive nuptials at four o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of 150 relatives and close friends of the couple.

The altar, centered with an arrangement of white carnations and white snapdragons was flanked by huge baskets of ivory gladioli with deep yellow throats and tall candelabra holding white cathedral candles. White satin ribbons marked the aisle pews. The decorations were in charge of The Fern Florists.

As the guests assembled Mrs. Homer Grow played softly on the organ and Miss Yvonne Hatt, gowned in a pale green sheer formal and wearing a wristlet of white carnations, lighted the altar candles.

Leroy Hiatt, accompanied by Mrs. Grow, sang, "Still as the Night" by Carl Bohm and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. Mrs. Grow also played the traditional wedding march, the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was exquisitely beautiful in a floor-length wedding gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a full train, long sleeves and jacket waist with tiny satin covered buttons down the front. Her finger-tips lace-edged veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap outlined with seed pearls. She carried a round bouquet of white carnations centered with Ophelia roses and with a shower of white satin ribbons noted with rosebuds.

Mrs. C. Stewart Roberts, of Myrtle Creek, was matron of honor for her sister and was charming in a deep delphinium blue taffeta gown fashioned with tiny shirred ruffles of self material outlining the neck and short puffed sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of lime-yellow carnations with loops of matching net ribbon. Mrs. Glen R. Miller, wearing a canary yellow chiffon princess style gown and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations tied with pink net loops, were bridesmaids.

C. Stewart Roberts of Myrtle Creek, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man and Del McKay and Thomas Jacobson were ushers.

The bride's mother was charming in an afternoon dress of brown and white print crepe. Her hat was a large straw of beige color with a brown band and her accessories were white. She wore a corsage of gardenias.

At the close of the ceremony, Mrs. Grow played Mendelssohn's Wedding Reconciliation.

A reception followed at the beautiful home of the bride's parents on Claire street. An all-white motif was carried out in the decorations by the use of lilies, daisies and hydrangeas gracing the fireplace mantle and forming the living room bouquets, while the lace-covered bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white sweetpeas and tall tapers. The three-tiered decorated wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, was cut by the bride couple and served by members of the bridal party. Miss Betty Jane Roberts, Mrs. Roy Cummins, Mrs. David Bagby and Mrs. J. E. Slattery. Mrs. H. N. Jacobson was in charge of the punch bowl and was assisted by David Bagby, J. E. Slattery and Douglas Gremmel. Mrs. J. R. Wharton had charge of the guest book.

For traveling the bride chose a suit of rose-biege color with brown accessories. Her corsage was of roses and carnations. Her wedding bouquet was caught by Miss Fredricka Hamilton. Following a honeymoon at Timberline Lodge, the couple will make their home at Haines, Oregon, where the bridegroom owns a large ranch.

The bride was graduated from Roseburg Senior High School and is a former employee of KRN radio station staff. She attended Oregon State College and is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. The bridegroom was graduated from University of Cincinnati and during the war served as a lieutenant commander in the U. S. Navy submarine service.
