Ex-Premier, Aides Jailed In Bloody Burmese Revolt

RANGOON, Burma, July 21.—(AP)—Burmese police held former Premier U Saw and 19 of his lieutenants today after killing three of the opposition leader's followers in a gun fight at his home yesterday when they arrested the group in connection with the Saturday massacre of seven council ministers.

U Saw—leader of the Myochit party—was held under heavy guard in jail while authorities imposed a dusk to dawn curfew on the city.

Officials said a search of U Saw's house revealed a cache of arms and ammunition. The Burmese press said nearly 50 persons all told had been arrested as a result of the assassinations of Maj. Gen. U Aung San and six fellow ministers who were cut down by machinegun fire during a meeting of the nine-man executive council in Government House Saturday morning.

Good-neighbor policy party-line style

To provide telephone service to more people, there are more party lines in use these days than ever before...and most telephones are busier than ever before. When you share a line with one or more parties, you'll all get the most from your telephone service if you'll remember...

Five Golden Rules for party-line neighbors

- Space your calls instead of making an extended series of them...and talk only as long as necessary.
- If yours is an emergency call, and the line is in use, explain the circumstances to the person using the line.
- If you are calling from a dial telephone, always make certain the line is clear before you dial.
- Ask your youngsters not to monopolize the telephone.
- Replace the receiver properly when you finish your call.

Thank you!

20 Engineers Here Affected by S. P.

strike to force compliance with 20 demands of the highest tribunal under the United States law passed upon in 1945.

"Such a strike would work great hardship on the public served by our railroad. Every one of these demands must be granted. The Brotherhood insists, with the threat of the strike. This attitude is the bar to fair and orderly settlement in the public interest."

Following is a brief review of what has happened, according to the Southern Pacific president:

1. Officers of the engineers' brotherhood demanded 27 changes in working rules.

2. Because the proposed changes were unjustified and in some cases would have created unsafe operating conditions and interfered with prompt handling of traffic contrary to public interest, Southern Pacific could not grant the demand.

3. Finally, in keeping with provisions of the railroad labor act, a special emergency board was created by the late President Roosevelt, at the request of the Brotherhood, to settle the dispute.

4. The board went into all phases of the controversy and submitted its recommendations to the president, who made the report public.

5. Southern Pacific accepted the board's recommendations in their entirety although we did not agree by any means with the board on all points.

6. The engineers' brotherhood rejected the report. They subsequently placed 20 of the same 27 issues on a strike ballot. As a result the Brotherhood has now called a strike unless all of these 20 demands are granted in full and before any of the other demands on the strike ballot are considered.

intervene in the dispute, was expected momentarily to name its members.

Truman was asked by Rep. Jack Z. Anderson (R-Calif.) to "take whatever action is needed" to avert the strike and to turn to Congress if legislation was needed.

The strike, Anderson said,

"threatens to cost the country millions of dollars worth of highly perishable food commodities. All of this food is urgently needed for domestic consumption and feeding starving peoples abroad."

The California Farm Bureau and Chambers of Commerce at Salinas and Fairfield, speaking in behalf of other organizations and farm groups, also asked that steps be taken to avert the strike.

The Brotherhood has said it would give the president's board "full respect," but said the strike would go on as scheduled on the ground that a similar board considered the same issues in 1945.

The company asserted it offered to accept the 1945 board's findings in their entirety but that the Brotherhood contended the company failed to put the board's findings into effect.

PORTLAND, July 21.—(AP)—Food and produce shippers and wholesalers, normally dependent on the Southern Pacific, today were prepared to ship via an alternate route, and Western Oregon lumbermen warned of pending shutdowns by many mills.

A group of Portland snippers reported they had arranged with five other railroads to route produce around the SP lines involved. Several lumber industry spokesmen said mills would be forced to pile lumber and logs and eventually shut down.

Plywood mills in Eugene, Sweet Home, Lebanon, Willamina and in Southern Oregon would be affected before logging and mill operations.
