revolt against the master and man relationship. In India, in Egypt—where United Nations is called upon to "free us from the orbit of British power."

HUMAN freedom is on the march. BUT—alas!—it has a long, hard road to travel.

Until men can see FULLY the basic soundness, the live-and-let-live and prosper wisdom of the Golden Rule as a principle for the governing of human relationships, there will be many disappointments, many setbacks, much blood and suffering.

At present, we can see the Golden Rule only as a beautiful but VISIONARY dream. Before we can adopt it and live by it, we must be able to accept it wholeheartedly as a sound and PROFITABLE rule of human conduct.

Visions are wonderful. But human beings must have bread. AND PEACE—for only in peace can men have the opportunity to work and earn bread.

A time will come when men will see that only by doing unto others as they would that others shall do unto them can the opportunity be given to all to work and earn and have.

MARXISTS (and their dupes) claim that communism is a substitute for the Golden Rule.

Listen to this: Russia delivers to Czechoslovakia the first of 200,000 tons of wheat she has promised to barter to the Czechs in return for various products of Czech industry.

Where did Russia get the wheat? She TOOK it, dispatches from Prague tell us, as REPARATIONS from the Hungarians, who had grown the wheat and who are as hungry as anybody else.

IN Detroit, CIO auto workers win from the Ford Motor Company a "year of grace" in which Ford agrees NOT to invoke the anti-strike damage suit penalties of the new labor law.

Well, it could be if both employer and union spend the year of grace in learning how they can get along together in peace and mutual profit.

If the year is spent in tightening the lines and strengthening the defenses for further industrial warfare, only harm can come of it.

Portland Business Area Jarred by Explosion PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Power service was back nearly to normal in downtown Portland today after a series of explosions that jarred S.W. Sixth Avenue business buildings and knocked out electrical connections.

One after another 11 manhole covers sailed into the air from the explosions yesterday. A few pedestrians fell flat on the crowded sidewalks. The rest ran for cover. Only four suffered injuries, all of minor nature.

A short-circuit in an underground line was blamed for the explosions, which cut three power lines and knocked out an underground substation. Firemen battled underground flames for an hour after.

Some building elevators stopped. Theaters went black. Two radio stations were off the air for a while. Publication of the Oregonian and Journal editions was delayed.

Cardinals Shave Brooklyn's Lead To Five Games

By JOE REICHLER (Associated Press Sports Writer) The frantic Brooklyn citizenry was wondering today whether the coroner would supply an affidavit to the effect that the current Dodger "corpus delicti," which has dropped five of its last six games, is the same very much alive body which boasted a 10-game lead only a week ago.

Last night the Boston Braves made it two out of three with the 7-3 victory over the Brooks, the very same bunch who entered St. Louis last week with a seven game lead and walloped the runner-up Cards three straight times to apparently sew up the National League flag.

While Brooklyn has been getting booted three straight times in Chicago and twice in three starts in Boston, the Redbirds have reared back with six straight victories including last night's 6-3 win over Cincinnati, to trail by five games. The Dodgers definitely are in a tough spot now despite the fact that they come home tomorrow following the series finale with Boston.

With Larry Jansen, the Pacific Coast League rookie righthander continuing his excellent mound work, the New York Giants knocked off the last place Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2, Jansen scattered eight hits for his 12th victory against four defeats.

The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped a 2-2 tie with a three-run rally in the sixth and added two more in the ninth to defeat the Cubs, 7-2. Wolff, former American League winner, won his first National League victory.

Newsom, the much travelled veteran righthander, suffered his first setback as a member of the New York Yankees when the Athletics nipped the Bronx Bombers, 3-2. Newsom blew up in the sixth after yielding only one hit in five innings as the A's batted around for four runs. Bobo has won four in a Yankee uniform. McCahan went the route for the A's to register his third win.

The Detroit Tigers moved into second place in Washington, beat the American League leading Yankees by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 13-6 and 7-5.

The Boston Red Sox dropped into third place one game behind the Tigers when Washington beat them for the second straight night, 1-0. Haefner limited the Red Sox to six hits for his eighth triumph, four by shutouts. The Senators got only two infield singles off starter Earl Johnson and Harris, but placed them together in the opening inning and added by an error by Doerr, scored an unearned run.

The Chicago White Sox bunched five of their 10 hits in the second inning to score five runs and defeat the St. Louis Browns, 7-3.

And then, of course, there is the "Sunday driver," the fellow who just goes out for a spin, rolling along at about 20 m.p.h., and who gives no thought to the impatient traffic he causes to pile up behind him for several miles.

We did run across one Sunday driver—a woman driver at that—who, after holding back a long line of cars on a particularly crooked stretch of road, pulled off when she came to a wide spot apparently to let blocked traffic pass. After lighting a cigaret, she pulled back on without a signal, telescoping the oncoming traffic with an accompaniment of banging bumpers and fenders.

These observations are based on experiences encountered in a recent trip over a section of the Oregon Coast highway and back by way of the Pacific highway.

A few of the tourists were definitely en route to some particular point and were in a hurry to get there. For the most part, however, they were taking their time and observing the sights. It was not at all unusual to see a car swerving all over the highway while the driver and other occupants transferred their interest from the roadway to some gorgeous piece of scenery.

One factor reducing tourist speed apparently is found in the crowded condition of resorts. Accommodations must be obtained by advance reservation or procured by an early afternoon hour. Consequently, many families, having wired ahead for cabins, have only a comparatively short distance to go and are in no rush.

That is as it should be. There is so much to be seen along the Oregon Coast highway that no one should ever be in a hurry when viewing land and seascapes for the first or even the 100th time.

But slow-moving cars on narrow, crooked roads lead to trouble. Someone always is in a hurry. After traveling for a few miles behind a long string of vehicles, bunched up by a slow leader, some driver becomes impatient and starts down the line on the wrong side of the road, hoping he will meet no one, or that he can crowd into line in case he meets an oncoming car. When a highway carries traffic in both directions almost as heavy as a continuous parade, as is the present condition on both the coast and inland routes, such tactics take all the pleasure out of driving.

Three Top Teams Of Coast League Lose 2nd Straight

(By the Associated Press) The three top teams in the Pacific Coast League—Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco—were having their troubles this week.

All three lost games last night for the second day running. Los Angeles, still ahead of second-place Oakland by a six-game margin, took its second consecutive 11-inning beating at the hands of the Seattle Rainiers. Rocco was the Rainier hero, accounting for all his team's tallies with two homers as Seattle won 3 to 1. The win boosted the Rainiers to sixth.

San Diego's Seats kept seven hits well scattered and allowed no walks as he pitched his 12th win of the season and his Padres won their second straight over Oakland, 5 to 1.

The four-place Portland Beavers climbed up a game on the league by registering their second straight win over San Francisco, 5 to 3. The Beavers coasted along on three hits for eight innings and were trailing 1 to 3. In the final frame Portland opened up a four-run spree with a single by Storey, Wernher homered Storey and Reich home and Silvera followed with another circuit clout. Liska, the Beavers' underhand hurler, pitched a six-hitter.

Per Diem Rental Hike Set To Ease Rail Car Shortage

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7. (AP)—An eventual easing of the freight car shortage was indicated today following Interstate Commerce Commission action order.

ing per diem rentals increased to $2 effective Oct. 1. The "per diem" is paid between railroads and does not affect charges paid by the public for freight services. The increase was ordered on the theory that it will promote faster circulation of cars.

MAMMOTH TURKEYS (Portland Oregonian) Now they are talking about growing turkeys as large as ostriches. For some few years there have been reports of ostriches in the turkey industry—ostriches in the turkey should be about the size of a large roasting chicken, the other that it ought to be even larger than it is.

The maximum weight of turkeys today is approximately fifty pounds, although a forty-pounder is rated an unusually heavy bird. Heavy turkey hens weigh from eighteen to twenty pounds; light turkey hens, nine to twelve lbs. light tom turkeys, twelve to fifteen pounds. It is apparent that an investment in such fowls is, to most families, a financial adventure. Often the caliber of the turkey dismays the small family. Heavy chickens weigh from six to eight pounds, lighter hens five to six pounds. A turkey of these weights would be the realized dream of multitudes of American pocketbooks. But why not have both the midget and the rambunctious turkeys? We are naturally bound to admit that the ambition to achieve a turkey as large as an ostrich is a noble fancy and should not be discouraged.

Under old Roman law, the testimony of many persons was not acceptable unless obtained through torture.

Chiefs, Ashland Scheduled Sunday

League Standings. Grants Pass 8 L. 3. 727. Hill 7 3 709. Central Point 6 4 600. Tri-City 5 4 555. Roseburg 5 5 545. Ashland 3 7 300. Medford 2 7 222. Medford 2 7 222.

Umpqua Chiefs play Ashland on Finlay Field Sunday in their last home-field appearance of the season and will attempt to crawl back up the league ladder to place among the top four for the final Shaughnessy playoffs the last of August.

South Douglas County's high-flying Tri-City club, which turns in a team hitting average of .342 in defeating Medford's Rockies last Sunday, plays host to the Hill Cats today.

In their first-half contest at the Lithia city, the Chiefs rapped Ashland to a 5-3 victory in a tightly played game.

Krell Rated High On O.S.C. Squad

Bob Krell, two-letter veteran of Oregon State's football team, is rated as the player most likely to fill All-American Bill Gray's position at center on this year's Beaver grid team.

Krell, three-year letterman athlete and graduate of Roseburg High School, was Gray's alternate last fall and first string play of man as a freshman in 1945.

A troublesome cartilage removed from his knee last winter, kept the 195-lb., 20-year-old center from taking part in spring drills. However, Stiner's review states, "he is a smart player and a good line backer and may fill the hole."

Oregon State expects to field a strong team this fall the book reports, although the Beavers lost more first string players from last fall than any other Pacific Coast conference school.

The suggested program schedule opens September 27 against Utah at Salt Lake City and runs uninterrupted until the final contest on November 29 against Nebraska at Lincoln.

J.V.-R., Squirts Win Ball Games

TONIGHT'S GAMES Vets Hosp. vs. Wards. Sutherland vs. V.F.W. In dual opposition hitting feats last night on Finlay Field the Ernie Alstrom-powered J.V.-R. nine trounced the Elks, 7-1, and Schermer's Squirts pounded Pepsi-Cola, 11-2.

J.V.-R. twirler Alstrom, displaying no signs of fatigue following Tuesday night's outstanding performance against Squirt, struck out 11 Elk batters and went to the plate to account for two solid hits.

A double by Stanstead, J.V.-R. infielder, opened the march in the first inning, scoring Travis. In the second frame Shaprow was driven home on Benson's grounder. Glenz scored on Krevson's long fly for the third run. Shaprow was routed to the plate by Alstrom's single in the fourth and in the fifth Cummings' bouncer scored Travis.

Travis led off a two-run, fourth assault in the seventh with a single and Cummings slammed out his second homer of the week to score Travis, Shaprow
